Businessmen who plan to rebuild in the Broadway East Urban Renewal Project Area will "have no dollar limit on the amount of money they want to borrow from the Small Business Administration, a spokesman for that agency told The Freeman this morning.

The spokesman was asked if a businessman could borrow, say, a million dollars if he needed it. The answer, "Certainly, if he qualifies."

Up to 20 Year Loans
The loans would be for up to 20 years at three per cent interest. The SBA is the same agency that announced early this week that loans of up to $50,000 would be available to businessmen that had to rehabilitate their properties to meet urban renewal standards.

The action stemmed from a meeting last night in which the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency moved to advertise for bids for development of a sector in Broadway East bounded by Broadway and Hasbrouck Avenue and Meadow Street and the Strand. Presiding at the meeting was Frank A. Reis, agency chairman.

This area has been earmarked for retail commercial businesses with former businessmen from Downtown having first option to rebuild. There were two areas under discussion, a parcel from St. Mary's to Meadow Street and the section bordered by Broadway and Hasbrouck Avenue.

The latter area is where Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan wants a new city hall.

Land Set Aside
According to agency Executive Director Eric Hemphill, land has been set aside for the mayor's city hall but no action can be taken on it until official word has been received from the Common Council.

The mayor submitted his city hall proposals to the council almost four months ago. No action has been taken by the aldermen who have chosen to "study the proposal thoroughly."

The new city hall, if built, would cover some 2½ acres of the five-acre parcel. The other parcel, from St. Mary's Church to Meadow Street, also is five acres.

One Parcel Advertised
The Hasbrouck - Broadway parcel is the only one being advertised right now by KURA and will be primarily retail commercial businesses.

Reaction downtown, was, as expected, favorable. James F. Gilpatrick, chairman of the Mayor's Downtown Economic Advisory Committee, told The Freeman this morning, "Redevelopment can't come soon enough for the people Downtown. It's a step in the right direction."

Bids on the building of residences on the St. Mary's to Meadow Street parcel will be advertised for "in a few months," according to Hemphill.

The executive director outlined some of the mandates for bidders. He said each bidder had to submit a $1,000 good faith deposit in order to have a bid considered.

Bids Due Sept. 29
All bids must be in the Urban Renewal Office at 436 Broadway no later than 2 p. m. on September 29. No proposal will be acted on before that date.

It is also required that all proposals contain a list of all participants or sponsors and the name of the proposed architect or engineer. Also, a statement of experience, background and financial condition of the principals.

Any bidder must include the proposed method of financing the development and indications of the ability of the participants or sponsors to procure construction financing based upon the proposal submitted.

Finally, a proposal must be full and complete and shall, as a minimum, contain information regarding the site plan, a landscape plan, parking plan and elevation drawings of street facades, plus information as to the type of exterior building materials.

Several Interested
Hemphill said he had had several "large contractors" interested in developing Broadway East in its entirety but said today, "This is our land and we're going to have it developed the way we want. We're not going to be pressured."

Hemphill emphasized that the development of the land must be in accordance with regulations and controls set forth in the Urban Renewal Plan.

GI War Casualties Drop As Ground Fights Ebb

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — American combat casualties in the Vietnam war last week dropped to their lowest number since last January, reflecting a lull in major, sustained ground fighting, the U.S. Command announced today.

It said 82 Americans were killed and 748 wounded.

Fight Developing

But a new series of small, fierce scattered skirmishes that could develop into something bigger was reported by U.S. Marines rooting out Communist troops in hills west of the coastal plain of Tam Ky, about 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

In the air war over North Vietnam, bad weather limited U.S. pilots to a below average 111 missions Wednesday.

Heavy clouds hung over the Hanoi-Haiphong area and air strikes were concentrated in the southern panhandle stretching from south of Hanoi to the 17th parallel that divides North and South Vietnam.

The command said 1,043 Communist soldiers were killed last week, the lowest figure this year.

The toll of American dead last week was the lowest since the week ending Jan. 7 when 67 U.S. soldiers were killed. The wounded toll was the lowest since the 716 in the week ending Jan. 21. The over-all toll of 830 killed and wounded last week was the lowest since Jan. 7 when 546 casualties were reported.

Last week's toll compares with 146 Americans killed and 1,064 wounded the previous week, slightly below this year's weekly average.

12,497 Dead

Records showed 12,497 Americans have died in combat in Vietnam from Jan. 1, 1961, through Saturday, while another 76,630 U.S. troops have been wounded.

The U.S. Command said that with the exception of one significant engagement, contacts last week were generally light and scattered and on a small unit level throughout South Vietnam last week.

The lull in major sustained ground fighting has been evident since early last month. There have been exceptions, when Communist forces ambushed U.S. units, inflicted heavy casualties, then pulled out quickly. Some military strategists believe the Communists are resupplying and regrouping during the lull.

The South Vietnamese armed forces announced losses of 283 dead and 683 wounded last week, above their average. Their high casualties stemmed largely from isolated actions.

The South Vietnamese also announced 6 men missing. Their casualties were up from the previous week's 220 dead, 545 wounded and 40 missing.

In ground fighting near Tam Ky, U.S. Marines reported killing 67 Communist troops in four fierce clashes all within one-half mile of each other since Wednesday.

The four clashes were part of the Marine's Operation Cochise, launched last week. A U.S. spokesman said over-all Marine casualties for three of the four clashes since Wednesday were five dead and 23 wounded.

Other U.S. troops reported uncovering two large enemy weapons caches Wednesday. Units of the 1st Brigade of the 101st Airborne Division, operating to the east and southwest of Tam Ky, uncovered one cache containing 35 weapons including four AK47 automatic weapons, four submachine guns and light and heavy mortars. The paratroopers also reported 33 enemy soldiers were killed in scattered fighting, including 10 in an air strike. American casualties were not reported.

A company from the 9th Marine Regiment located a small enemy equipment and munitions cache in a fortified area 1.8 miles southwest of the Marine outpost of Con Thien, just below the demilitarized zone. The complex said to be about a month old, included 40 to 50 bunkers along a trenchline. Marines said it contained an assortment of ammunition, including recoilless rifle shells and 102mm rockets. Eleven enemy bodies were reported found in graves.

Child Victim
Police conducting a house-to-house search earlier reported three deaths including that of a young child.

The victims were not identified and the cause of death was not given.

About 95 per cent of Fairbanks' buildings were affected by the flood, but an insurance executive estimated just two per cent of the community's property owners had flood insurance. The situation prompted calls for immediate federal rehabilitation funds and low cost loans to businessmen and homeowners.

"It's much more than I expected it to be," said Creath Tooley, western regional director of the President's Office of Emergency Planning, who toured the city of 30,000 by boat and helicopter Wednesday. "You just don't expect to see a town inundated such as this."

Damage was placed at about $200 million.

Disaster Area
Gov. Walter Hickel, calling for Fairbanks to be designated a federal disaster area, said he thought Saturday would be the earliest time residents could return to their homes—if rain holds off.

Cloudy skies settled above the city today and the Weather Bureau forecast a few light showers. "If those clouds drop more rain we could be right back in trouble," said Mayor H. A. Boucher.

The danger of uncontrolled fire, which had officials on edge Wednesday after five buildings burned in the downtown area, tapered off with no additional fires reported today.

The Chena, sent on a rampage by more than 5½ inches of rain during four days, was down about six inches from Tuesday's high point when up to nine feet of muddy water rushed into the business district.

At peak flow, Geological Survey engineers said, the river was pouring through Fairbanks at a rate of 15-billion gallons a day—enough to supply the city of New York with water for about two weeks.

Police, conducting a house-to-house check, reported three confirmed deaths, including that of a young child. The dead were not identified and there was no official word as to whether they drowned or died from other causes.

Financial Limits
Hickel, with Tooley at his side, told newsmen that state and local governments were nearing the limits of their financial ability to cope with the disaster.

"I would think," Hickel said, "that under the circumstances it would be only natural for federal aid to be forthcoming."

Hickel and Boucher both stressed the need for a quick and massive effort to complete reconstruction and repair before the arrival of winter weather. In which temperatures of 60 below zero have been recorded here.

Hickel said he had given some consideration to a special session of the legislature to meet problems of the disaster, but he said no decision had been made as yet.

"If we find it necessary to call the legislature into special session to meet the situation here, we wouldn't hesitate to call one," Hickel said.

One of the hardest-hit areas embraced the site of the Alaska-67 exposition, showplace of Alaska's purchase centennial this year.

A-67, deep in debt from higher than expected construction costs and lagging attendance, was virtually covered by flood waters. Only a few high spots on the 42-acre exposition grounds escaped the torrents of dirty water.

Jewelry Burglary In City

Several thousand dollars worth of jewelry was reported stolen Wednesday night from the Browning Terrace residence of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rice, Kingston's Detective Division disclosed today.

The burglary occurred while the Rices were away from their ranch style home for several hours, the division said. Police reported entrance was gained by forcing the back door. The house was locked at the time of the theft.

According to the division, the Rices notified headquarters as soon as the jewels were discovered missing.

Police said the couple left their home around 8 o'clock. Approximately two hours later they returned and within minutes, police said, the Rices learned they had been robbed.

There are presently no suspects in the case, police said but added a full investigation is in progress.

'It's Wonderful:' Lottery Winner

Good fortune is hovering over four Ulster County residents whose names were among 990 drawn yesterday in the New York State Lottery.

They are: Mrs. Leo Wojciechowski Sr., 241 Third Avenue, Kingston.

Margaret Vulpani, 2 Crescent Avenue, Highland.

William W. Hornung, Box 286, Kerhonkson.

Kathleen Lawrence, 45 Ponckhockie Street, Kingston.

None of the lucky four will know the amount they will win until Monday when a final drawing is held in New York City. At that time big money prizes ranging from $5,000 to $100,000 will go to 60 fortunate persons and consolation prizes will range between $150 and $1,000 for 930 others.

One of the local winners, reached by the Freeman this morning was Mrs. Wojciechowski who said her hopes weren't too high but regardless, my husband and I are thankful.

"Just think I thought something was wrong when the telephone rang late last night," she said and then added jubilantly, "Everyone's been calling ever since, it's wonderful."

State Police Lt. A. F. Van Blaricum at Ferndale said today that the 1966 car found with the motor running on the west end of the river span after 8 a. m. Tuesday, was registered to Alan Wetterau, 48, of Woodstock. He has been missing since Aug. 15, the lieutenant said.

No Comparable Figures
Since no comparable figures are available for the years prior to 1960, for states other than New York, the senator doesn't know what the "norms" are.

What is significant, however, is that he does think further exploration is called for and he is reported to believe that public hearings must be expanded on the vital issues.

County PPR Off to Slow Start

Ulster County's Permanent Personal Registration program instituted this year is getting off to a slow start with only 13,404 residents of the county having been registered up until Wednesday. The potential is 60,000.

Voters must register personally this year to vote in November whether a resident of the county or city.

Central Signing Now

Central Personal Registration is now going on at the office of the Ulster County Board of Elections, sixth floor of the Ulster County Office Building, Fair and Main Street.

Voters may register up until September 2 during regular office hours at the Board of Elections office. At the same time of registration voters may also enroll in one of the major political parties. This opportunity to enroll in a political party at the same time as registering will enroll voters permanently in that party unless voters wish to change, it was pointed out at the Board of Elections office.

Special Days Arranged
In many of the towns of the county where personal registration was not before required, special registration days in addition to those in October are being arranged to give residents of those areas an opportunity to register without making the trip to the Board of Elections.

After the conclusion of central registration at the Board of Elections office, Sept. 2, the regular registration dates at local polls will be Oct. 3, 7, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14. The hours will be from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. except on the two Saturdays, Oct. 7 and 14 when the polling places will be open from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Assured of Vote
Registering during central registration is urged in order that all voters may be eligible to vote at the General Election in November. By registering during central registration voters will be assured of the right to vote in November though something interferes with registration on the regular days in October.

The Board of Elections urges early registration to be assured of a vote in November.

In past years, personal registration was required each year in the City of Kingston, while in the county election districts registrations were carried over from year to year and it was not necessary to appear each year to register.

All Must Register
Under permanent personal registration it is necessary this year for all voters to register personally.

After registering this year residents are permanently registered in both the city and county as long as they reside at the present address and vote at least once in every two years at a general election. If a resident moves or fails to vote at a general election once in each period of two successive years re-registration is required.

One prominent Kingston attorney told The Freeman that, "The DA (Torreca) and the Judge (Mino) will be hard put to explain these alarming figures," remarks that indicate the findings of the important probe will have a strong impact in the law enforcement and political market places.

The Report Itself
One of the factors that the Hughes committee explored was the "bargaining table" operation involving defendants, district attorneys and judges.

The operation exists when a person is arrested for a serious crime and is permitted to "cop out" by pleading guilty to a lesser one, thereby having the defendant escape more serious punishment while at the same time allowing the law-enforcement machinery to by-pass a time-consuming trial.

The County Judge may also share a part of the burden of the small number of convictions, for it is he who may determine whether a charge

he received his figures from the records of the Ulster County District Attorney's office and the office of the Ulster County Clerk.

The District Attorney's office will be releasing more figures in the next few days.

DA's, Judge Involved
The figures may bear heavily on the District Attorneys during the years 1960 and onward. They would include Raymond J. Mino (1958-1961), present County Judge; David W. Corwin (1961-1964) and present District Attorney Joseph J. Torreca (elected in 1964).

Torreca was the assistant District Attorney from 1956 to the time of his election to the top spot.

County Felony Conviction Ratio Lowest in State for 1960-65

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

Ulster County's ratio of felony convictions to indictments stood at 12.5 per cent in the years between 1960 through 1965, according to a State legislative committee, and this figure is, by far, the lowest in the State.

Of the 11-month period, between January and November of 1966, the District Attorney's office had 112 felony indictments to only 15 convictions, figures given to The Freeman by Alexander Barraco, director of research for the State Department of Corrections. This is a 13.4 per cent ratio, or a little under one per cent better than the five-year period.

The fact that Dutchess County, to the west of Ulster, had a 50 per cent rating, Sullivan, to the east, had a 21.4 per cent, and Orange, bordering Ulster on the south, had a 37 per cent ratio during the five-year study period, places the Ulster record in a particularly glaring light.

The five-year figures came out of the Joint Legislative Committee on Crime, Its Causes, Control, and Effect on Society, chaired by State Senator John H. Hughes, a Syracuse Republican.

The five-year study period puts the State average at 29.5 per cent, with Broome County having the highest rate—77 per cent. Ulster follows Niagara County with the second lowest conviction-indictment ratio of 19 per cent.

Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Vogt showed The Freeman a report, prepared by the State's Judicial Conference, which stated that between June 30, 1965 to June 30,

1966, Ulster County led all the counties in the Third Judicial District "in the number of criminal cases disposed of by pleas of guilty and by criminal trials to a verdict."

The Third Judicial District includes Albany, Greene, Rensselaer, Schoharie, Sullivan, and Columbia Counties along with Ulster.

Disagrees With State
Vogt also disagreed with the 1966 figures for Ulster's conviction-indictment ratio, thereby coming at odds with figures given The Freeman by the director of the State Department of Corrections.

Vogt claimed that there were 21 felony convictions to 134 felony indictments in 1966, which would raise the 11-month average to 15.6 per cent.

What is confusing, however, is that Barraco, of the Department of Corrections, said that should be lessened or dropped altogether.

One prominent Kingston attorney told The Freeman that, "The DA (Torreca) and the Judge (Mino) will be hard put to explain these alarming figures," remarks that indicate the findings of the important probe will have a strong impact in the law enforcement and political market places.

Senator Hughes admits that although the situation is legal it is so widespread that his committee has met with police and prosecuting officials across the state in an effort to line up legislative controls.

"What else is involved we don't know yet" the Senator observed, claiming that "all this is being done with no specific ground rules that hold state-wide."

Search for the person who authorities presume fell or jumped from the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge Tuesday, went into the third day this morning as state troopers and deputy sheriff's combed the water along the west shore.

State Police Lt. A. F. Van Blaricum at Ferndale said today that the 1966 car found with the motor running on the west end of the river span after 8 a. m. Tuesday, was registered to Alan Wetterau, 48, of Woodstock. He has been missing since Aug. 15, the lieutenant said.

The report also computed the number of indictments per judge handling felonies—a number that ranged between 400 and 700 in the big New York City boroughs. Ulster had 139 to Dutchess' 225 and Orange's 259.

10 to 1 Chance
The committee report also demonstrated that during the five years studied, there were 63,605 felony arrests in the State. Of these, 20,590 resulted in indictments, but only 6,077 were actually convicted of a felony.

What this means is that a man arrested for a felony has almost a 10 to 1 chance of escaping a felony conviction.

GI War Casualties Drop As Ground Fights Ebb

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — American combat casualties in the Vietnam war last week dropped to their lowest number since last January, reflecting a lull in major, sustained ground fighting, the U.S. Command announced today.

It said 82 Americans were killed and 748 wounded.

Fight Developing
But a new series of small, fierce scattered skirmishes that could develop into something bigger was reported by U.S. Marines rooting out Communist troops in hills west of the coastal plain of Tam Ky, about 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

In the air war over North Vietnam, bad weather limited U.S. pilots to a below average 111 missions Wednesday.

Heavy clouds hung over the Hanoi-Haiphong area and air strikes were concentrated in the southern panhandle stretching from south of Hanoi to the 17th parallel that divides North and South Vietnam.

The command said 1,043 Communist soldiers were killed last week, the lowest figure this year.

The toll of American dead last week was the lowest since the week ending Jan. 7 when 67 U.S. soldiers were killed. The wounded toll was the lowest since the 716 in the week ending Jan. 21. The over-all toll of 830 killed and wounded last week was the lowest since Jan. 7 when 546 casualties were reported.

Last week's toll compares with 146 Americans killed and 1,064 wounded the previous week, slightly below this year's weekly average.

12,497 Dead
Records showed 12,497 Americans had died in combat in Vietnam from Jan. 1, 1961, through Saturday, while another 76,650 U.S. troops have been wounded.

The U.S. Command said that with the exception of one significant engagement, contacts last week were generally light and scattered and on a small unit level throughout South Vietnam last week.

The lull in major sustained ground fighting has been evident since early last month. There have been exceptions, when Communist forces ambushed U.S. units, inflicted heavy casualties, then pulled out quickly. Some military strategists believe the Communists are resupplying and regrouping during the lull.

The South Vietnamese armed forces announced losses of 283 dead and 683 wounded last week, above their average. Their high casualties stemmed largely from isolated actions.

The South Vietnamese also announced 6 men missing. Their casualties were up from the previous week's 220 dead, 545 wounded and 40 missing.

In ground fighting near Tam Ky, U.S. Marines reported killing 67 Communist troops in four fierce clashes all within one-half mile of each other since Wednesday.

The four clashes were part of the Marine's Operation Cochise, launched last week. A U.S. spokesman said over-all Marine casualties for three of the four clashes since Wednesday were five dead and 23 wounded.

Other U.S. troops reported uncovering two large enemy weapons caches Wednesday. Units of the 1st Brigade of the 101st Airborne Division, operating to the east and southwest of Tam Ky, uncovered one cache containing 35 weapons including four AK47 automatic weapons, four submachine guns and light and heavy mortars. The paratroopers also reported 33 enemy soldiers were killed in scattered fighting, including 10 in an air strike. American casualties were not reported.

A company from the 9th Marine Regiment located a small enemy equipment and munitions cache in a fortified area 1.8 miles southwest of the Marine outpost of Con Thien, just below the demilitarized zone.

The complex said to be about a month old, included 40 to 50 bunkers along a trenchline. Marines said it contained an assortment of ammunition, including recoilless rifle shells and 102mm rockets. Eleven enemy bodies were reported found in graves.

Disaster Area
Gov. Walter Hickel, calling for Fairbanks to be designated a federal disaster area, said he thought Saturday would be the earliest time residents could return to their homes—if rain holds off.

Cloudy skies settled above the city today and the Weather Bureau forecast a few light showers. "If those clouds drop more rain we could be right back in trouble," said Mayor H. A. Boucher.

The danger of uncontrolled fire, which had officials on edge Wednesday after five buildings burned in the downtown area, tapered off with no additional fires reported today.

The Chena, sent on a rampage by more than 5½ inches of rain during four days, was down about six inches from Tuesday's high point when up to nine feet of muddy water rushed into the business district.

At peak flow, Geological Survey engineers said, the river was pouring through Fairbanks at a rate of 15-billion gallons a day—enough to supply the city of New York with water for about two weeks.

Police, conducting a house-to-house check, reported three confirmed deaths, including that of a young child. The dead were not identified and there was no official word as to whether they drowned or died from other causes.

Financial Limits
Hickel, with Tooley at his side, told newsmen that state and local governments were nearing the limits of their financial ability to cope with the disaster.

"I would think," Hickel said, "that under the circumstances it would be only natural for federal aid to be forthcoming."

Hickel and Boucher both stressed the need for a quick and massive effort to complete reconstruction and repair before the arrival of winter weather in which temperatures of 60 below zero have been recorded here.

Hickel said he had given some consideration to a special session of the legislature to meet problems of the disaster, but he said no decision had been made as yet.

"If we find it necessary to call the legislature into special session to meet the situation here, we wouldn't hesitate to call one," Hickel said.

One of the hardest-hit areas embraced the site of the Alaska-67 exposition, showplace of Alaska's purchase centennial this year.

A-67, deep in debt from higher than expected construction costs and lagging attendance, was virtually covered by flood waters. Only a few high spots on the 42-acre exposition grounds escaped the torrents of dirty water.

$200 Million Damage

Flood Claims Seven

By WARD SIMS

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — The brown flood waters of the Chena River receded today, but at a pace so slow that the city's 15,000 evacuees were not expected to begin returning to their damaged homes and businesses before Saturday. Only a tiny fraction of them carried flood insurance, officials said.

The bodies of four more victims were found Wednesday, disaster headquarters and state police reported, bringing Alaska's flood death total to seven. Two bodies were discovered in the city and two more in Tok, a river community on the Alaska Highway.

Child Victim
Police conducting a house-to-house search earlier reported three deaths including that of a young child.

The victims were not identified and the cause of death was not given.

About 96 per cent of Fairbanks' buildings were affected by the flood, but an insurance executive estimated just two per cent of the community's property owners had flood insurance. The situation prompted calls for immediate federal rehabilitation funds and low cost loans to businessmen and homeowners.

"It's much more than I expected it to be," said Creath Tooley, western regional director of the President's Office of Emergency Planning, who toured the city of 30,000 by boat and helicopter Wednesday. "You just don't expect to see a town inundated such as this."

Damage was placed at about $200 million.

County PPR Off to Slow Start

Ulster County's Permanent Personal Registration program instituted this year is getting off to a slow start with only 13,404 residents of the county having been registered up until Wednesday. The potential is 60,000.

Voters must register personally this year to vote in November whether a resident of the county or city.

Central Signing Now
Central Personal Registration is now going on at the office of the Ulster County Board of Elections, sixth floor of the Ulster County Office Building, Fair and Main Street.

Voters may register up until September 2 during regular office hours at the Board of Elections office. At the same time of registration voters may also enroll in one of the major political parties. This opportunity to enroll in a political party at the same time as registering will enroll voters permanently in that party unless voters wish to change, it was pointed out at the Board of Elections office.

Special Days Arranged
In many of the towns of the county where personal registration was not before required, special registration days in addition to those in October are being arranged to give residents of those areas an opportunity to register without making the trip to the Board of Elections.

After the conclusion of central registration at the Board of Elections office, Sept. 2, the regular registration dates at local polls will be Oct. 3, 7, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14. The hours will be from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. except on the two Saturdays, Oct. 7 and 14 when the polling places will be open from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Assured of Vote
Registering during central registration is urged in order that all voters may be eligible to vote at the General Election in November. By registering during central registration voters will be assured of the right to vote in November though something interferes with registration on the regular days in October.

The Board of Elections urges early registration to be assured of a vote in November.

he received his figures from the records of the Ulster County District Attorney's office and the office of the Ulster County Clerk.

The District Attorney's office will be releasing more figures in the next few days.

DA's, Judge Involved
The figures may bear heavily on the District Attorneys during the years 1960 and onward. They would include Raymond J. Mino (1958-1961), present County Judge; David W. Corwin (1961-1964) and present District Attorney Joseph J. Torraca (elected in 1964).

Torraca was the assistant District Attorney from 1956 to the time of his election to the top spot.

The County Judge may also share a part of the burden of the small number of convictions, for it is he who may determine whether a charge should be lessened or dropped altogether.

One prominent Kingston attorney told The Freeman that, "The DA (Torraca) and the Judge (Mino) will be hard put to explain these alarming figures," remarks that indicate the findings of the important probe will have a strong impact in the law enforcement and political market places.

The Report Itself
One of the factors that the Hughes committee explored was the "bargaining table" operation involving defendants, district attorneys and judges. The operation exists when a person is arrested for a serious crime and is permitted to "cop out" by pleading guilty to a lesser one, thereby having the defendant escape more serious punishment while at the same time allowing the law-enforcement machinery to by-pass a time-consuming trial.

No Comparable Figures
Since no comparable figures are available for the years prior to 1960, or for states other than New York, the senator doesn't know what the "norms" are.

What is significant, however, is that he does think further exploration is called for and he is reported to believe that public hearings must be expanded on the vital issues.

State-wide, from the standpoint of more presumed "bargaining," the percentage figures in the indictment conviction ratio is becoming worse instead of better, and the State's 1965 figures was 21 per cent less than in 1960.

The report also computed the number of indictments per judge handling felonies—a number that ranged between 400 and 700 in the big New York City boroughs. Ulster had 139 to Dutchess' 225 and Orange's 239.

10 to 1 Chance
The committee report also demonstrated that during the five years studied, there were 63,605 felony arrests in the State. Of these, 20,590 resulted in indictments, but only 6,077 were actually convicted of a felony.

What this means is that a man arrested for a felony has almost a 10 to 1 chance of escaping a felony conviction.

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

Ulster County's ratio of felony convictions to indictments stood at 12.5 per cent in the years between 1960 through 1965, according to a State legislative committee, and this figure is, by far, the lowest in the State.

Of the 11-month period, between January and November of 1966, the District Attorney's office had 112 felony indictments to only 15 convictions, figures given to The Freeman by Alexander Barraco, director of research for the State Department of Corrections. This is a 13.4 per cent ratio, or a little under one per cent better than the five-year period.

The fact that Dutchess County, to the west of Ulster, had a 50 per cent rating, Sullivan, to the east, had a 21.4 per cent, and Orange, bordering Ulster on the south, had a 37 per cent ratio during the five-year study period, places the Ulster record in a particularly glaring light.

The five-year figures came out of the Joint Legislative Committee on Crime, Its Causes, Control, and Effect on Society, chaired by State Senator John H. Hughes, a Syracuse Republican.

The five-year study period puts the State average at 29.5 per cent, with Broome County having the highest rate—77 per cent. Ulster follows Niagara County with the second lowest conviction-indictment ratio of 19 per cent.

Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Vogt showed The Freeman a report, prepared by the State's Judicial Conference, which stated that between June 30, 1965 to June 30,

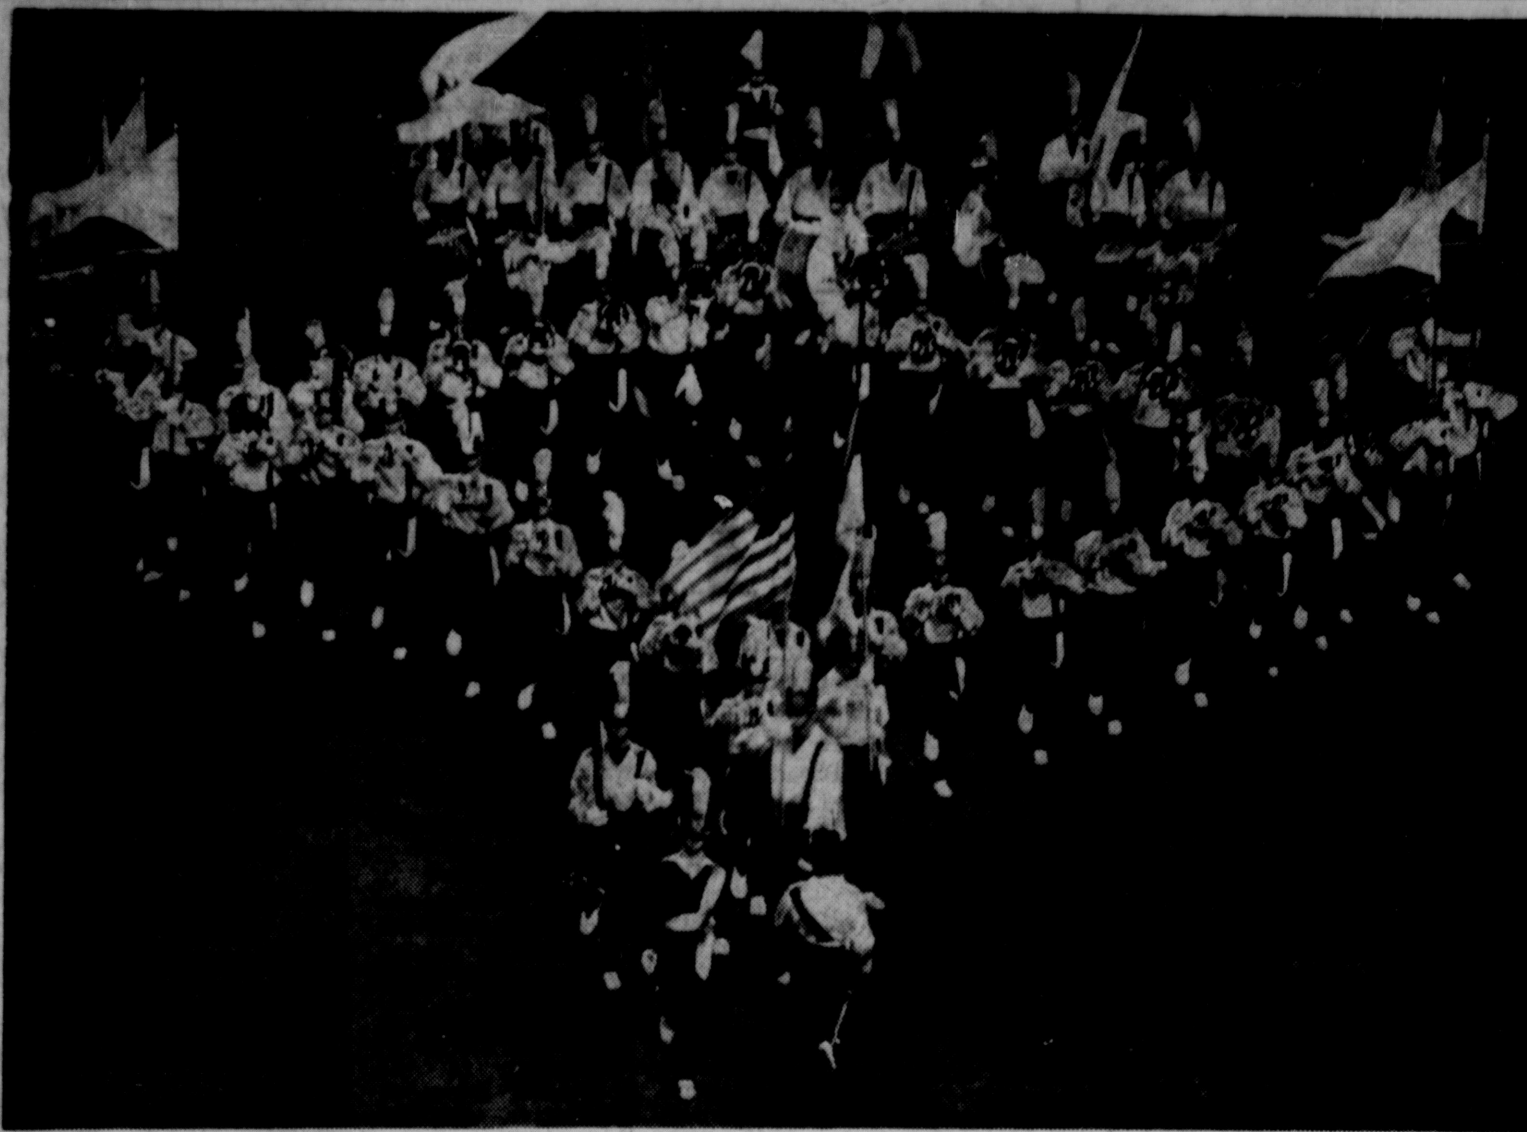

1966, Ulster County led all the counties in the Third Judicial District "in the number of criminal cases disposed of by pleas of guilty and by criminal trials to a verdict."

The Third Judicial District includes Albany, Greene, Rensselaer, Schoharie, Sullivan, and Columbia Counties along with Ulster.

Disagrees With State
Vogt also disagreed with the 1966 figures for Ulster's conviction - indictment ratio, thereby coming at odds with figures given The Freeman by the director of the State Department of Corrections.

Vogt claimed that there were 21 felony convictions to 134 felony indictments in 1966, which would raise the 11-month average to 15.6 per cent.

What is confusing, however, is that Barraco, of the Department of Corrections, said that

ALLABEN NEWS

ALLABEN—The Misses Diane Munch of New York City and sister, Kathryn Munch of Lake Mohonk, spent the weekend at the home of their mother, Mrs. Dorothea Munch.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Gulnick Jr. of Floral Park were callers at the home of Miss Marjorie Gulnick Saturday.

Mrs. Harold Downey is visiting at the home of her son, George Downey, Lakewood, N. J.

The Rev. Irving Persons of Arkville was guest speaker at the Free Methodist Church service Sunday.

Mrs. John F. Hollenbeck and Miss Marjorie Gulnick were Windham callers Monday.

Mrs. Stanley Richardson and daughter, Mrs. Allen R. Snow of Massachusetts were callers at the home of the Misses Esther and Anna B. Riseley Thursday. Mrs. Stanley Richardson was the former Mrs. Lowell Patch of this place.

Mrs. Edward Ellsworth and daughter of Port Ewen visited Mrs. Charles E. Frasier Sr. Wednesday.

Sydney G. Baskin of Middletown was a caller here Wednesday.

William E. Riseley Jr. of Tenafly, N. J. was a recent caller here.

Mr. and Mrs. Mervale C. Jones of Phoenicia were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Gulnick Wednesday.

natural rivalry unmatched in the Drum Corps World.

This keenly competitive Corps has been American Legion National Junior Champions on six separate occasions and V.F.W. National Junior Champions on three separate occasions. In a period of 15 years, they won 150 out of 209 contests, in competition with some of the top corps in the country. In June, 1967, they won their ninth New Jersey V.F.W. title.

The Golden Knights, whose colors are Gold, Black, and White, compete with a corps of about 74 and have an organization of about 130 boys between the ages of 10 to 20. Their 1967 musical repertoire consists of the National Emblem, The Eyes of a Woman in Love, Phantom Regiment, Old Devil Moon, Oye Negra and Who Can I Turn To?

Both reserve section and general admission tickets are still available for this year's musical extravaganza at the V.F.W. Building at 552 Delaware Avenue, Shapiro's, 63 North Front Street, and any member of the Indians in Kingston, and at Grace's Drive Inn next to the Tropical and Lew's Delicatessen in Port Ewen.

Japanese Counselor Leaves Tri-Mount Site

The sixth camping period at Camp Tri-Mount owned and operated by the Rip Van Winkle Council, BSA, saw approximately 100 Scouts encamped in five of the six campsites. Troops camping under their own leadership were Troop 11 of Kingston, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Robert Reynolds assisted by several Troop Committeemen; Troop 70 of Highland, with Scoutmaster Edmund Dapp and Assistant Scoutmaster Nicholas Tiberio; Troop 140 of New Baltimore, under the direction of Assistant Scoutmaster John Dallas, and Troop 167 of Brentwood, Long Island, with Scoutmaster John L. Sullivan and Assistant Scoutmaster Ed Woods. Thirty-two Scouts from a variety of troops were in the Provisional Troop with Scoutmaster John Mullaney.

A sad note was injected on Wednesday, with the departure from camp of Koichi Saito, the Japanese Counselor. Saito was a popular and well-liked member of the staff, and campers and staff alike were sorry to see him go. He had to join the rest of his group in Cleveland on Sunday to begin the return trip to Japan.

A great deal of hiking and over-night camping was done by the troops in the sixth week, with a troop or patrol out of camp almost every day. Many merit badges and rank advancements were earned, as announced at the Saturday night awards campfire. The weekly waterfront contest or Aquamaneuvers was won by the Provisional Troop in Cayuga.

Saturday of the sixth period was probably the biggest day of the whole season — certainly the busiest day as Camp Tri-Mount played host to the annual Family Cub-O-Ree at for the festivities. This event was under the chairmanship of Robert Tremper of Kingston, assisted by Richard Waltman, also of Kingston; Robert Bechwatermelon hunt. An even larger number of leaders, parents and friends were on hand and camp staff members.

Vandalism and Fires In Syracuse, Nab 28

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Bands of Negro youths in automobiles roamed through widely scattered sections of the city Wednesday night and early today, smashing windows and looting stores.

Quickly Checked
Police moved in quickly and declared the situation under control within a half hour, although incidents of vandalism continued virtually unabated for several hours.

Police reported "all quiet" at 4:30 a.m. A cordon of police, however, remained at the corner of East Genesee Street and Irving Avenue, where most of the trouble took place.

Five fires were reported during the outburst, including a dry cleaning store and a two-story frame home that were wrecked by fire bombs. An automobile was set afire and two other fires of suspicious origin did minor damage to a lumber yard and a vacant five-story building.

Patrolman Patrick Ahern, who was struck on the head by a thrown object, was the only person reported injured during the out-break.

He was not hurt seriously, police said.

Police said 28 persons have been arrested, including two young men charged with inciting to riot.

Police said the vandalism erupted about 10 p.m. Wednesday when about 50 young Negroes crowded into a liquor store in the 800 block of East Genesee Street, near the Syracuse University campus, and pulled bottles from shelves and smashed them on the floor.

A youth in a soiled undershirt reportedly hurled a rock through the store's window as they left and others joined in, pelting windows of other stores along the street as they fled.

Police said that when they arrived at the scene about 200 people were milling about the area. Despite sporadic taunts most of them were dispersed peacefully.

Other incidents of window smashing and looting at widely scattered points throughout the city soon followed and continued through the hours of darkness.

Mayor William F. Walsh, in Alexandria Bay on a brief holiday, said he had been advised there was no reason for him to return to the city.

Mayor in Contact

"I have been in constant contact with the authorities and from what I am told the situation is well under control."

About 125 police and sheriff's deputies rushed from spot to spot as new reports of vandalism flooded police headquarters.

Police reported the looting was minor although more than a score of stores were broken into. They said reports of gun shots being fired "with without basis in fact."

"They seemed mostly interested in breaking windows," a policeman said.

Most of the damage during the outbreak was concentrated on East Genesee Street between South Crouse Avenue and Irving Avenue just east of the business district and a few blocks from the Syracuse University campus.

Frank Render, a Negro, field director of the Onondaga County Human Rights Commission, said "people who are actually involved in the destruction represented a very small number."

Render, who was in the area for more than two hours, said "the police acted with the highest restraint and carried out their functions in an admirable manner."

PARADE OF PARKS—Kingston City Recreation Department Parade of Parks Wednesday saw a stream of happy children wend their way up Broadway from the municipal auditorium to Dietz Stadium where their costumes were judged and they participated in field events sponsored by the Lions Club. Pictured are Cherry Van Dyke dressed as a queen, Marianne McCloskey as maid of honor and Michael Woimer and Floyd Williams garbed as horses. Top winners in the costume contest were: funniest, Cindy Wenzel, age 9; Most unusual, Philip Timbrouck, 11 and Keith Jones, 11; most original, Mark Van Dyke, 4, all representing Hasbrouck Park; prettiest, Maria Jubie, Loughran Park. Mt. Etna Erupts Again

MESSINA, Sicily (AP) — Mt. Etna burst into a new eruption today 24 hours after 37 earth shocks were registered in this nearby city which was destroyed in 1908 by an earthquake.

Molten rock was fired hundreds of feet into the air in the new eruption. Lava began pouring from a vent on the volcano's northeast slope where there have been frequent eruptions during the past two years.

Lurleen Fine
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. Lurleen Wallace is deeply tanned and feeling fine now after her battle with cancer. But she plans more X-ray therapy in September to guard against a recurrence.
Most of the time these days, Mrs. Wallace relaxes on the sands of the Gulf Coast. She hasn't been at her office since shortly before she spent three weeks in July in a Houston, Tex. cancer clinic for the removal of a malignant growth.
But she carries on the state's business from an office in the mansion when she is in Montgomery and by telephone when she is away, and she plans to make a speech or two before returning to Houston.
Mrs. Wallace says she hasn't decided yet when she will return full time to running the state.

What Price Auto Safety?

The 1968 automobile models, soon to be on the market, will be the first that incorporate the 20 safety features and devices the National Highway Bureau has required. The question agitating federal legislators, who made auto safety a matter of law, and the consumers who will buy new models, is: what price will auto safety cost?

Senators Warren G. Magnuson of Washington and Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota, both Democrats tried to get a breakdown from the American auto makers of the additional cost attributable to the new requirements, model by model. The auto makers cited a number of complicated and imprecise factors—the cost of plans, materials and assembly, the expected sales volume and the prices charged by competitors for similar models—that made it difficult if not impossible to give cost breakdowns.

New model information traditionally is kept secret until the last moment for competitive reasons. The only information so far known about the safety costs was a remark of Henry Ford 2nd, chairman of the Ford Motor Company, who told stockholders last spring the price increases due to safety improvements would be substantial. Other sources have placed the increases between $150 and $250.

It won't be long now before the auto industry will have to drop the other shoe. Whatever it proves to be, the most important item is safety itself. If that is actually improved, consumers will be amenable to a reasonable upgrading in cost.

Public Assistance

The House Ways and Means Committee, which is raising Social Security benefits for the aged, in the same action is making changes in public assistance which are expected to cut the relief rolls and benefits drastically for millions of those on relief.

The action would cut off relief for any parent or child over 16 who refused to accept work or training in new programs to be established by the states; reduce the number of illegitimate children on the rolls by freezing the total number of children on relief in each state at the number receiving benefits at the start of this year; and make other changes with the avowed purpose of reducing the welfare load, forcing more people on the rolls to work, and improving welfare for the remainder.

The sweeping changes are part of the determination of Congress to cut down on unnecessary spending. They are expected to sail through the House without difficulty. In the Senate, however, liberals may try to introduce amendments, but they will have to deal with a House that has decided to lower the boom on indiscriminate relief.

This may seem to be contrary to the Administration drive to reduce poverty, but in fact it is not. It substitutes work and training for handouts. If successful, it should not only cut down on the cost of relief, but help millions to become self-supporting citizens.

Farmer Bargaining

The last several months has seen farm protests sweep the Middle West, as falling prices and increased production costs have spread. The resulting price squeeze has led the Department of Agriculture to predict that farm income this year will drop 10 per cent from last year's record of $16.4 billion.

As a result, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has been on the hustings a good part of the year, listening to farmers and trying to reassure them, with little success.

Now, Freeman has turned to collective bargaining. He advised farmers at the 22nd annual meeting of the Soil Conservation Society of America in Des Moines that collective bargaining machinery would give them more "muscle in the market place."

More and more farmers are getting disillusioned with political solutions to their problem. The largest number of them, through their farm federation, support more freedom in their operation. They want to rely on the law of supply and demand, as they had done from time immemorial, before the wartime farm supports and quotas and soil banks and all the other politically-inspired trimmings were foisted on them.

Free them of these hobbles and farmers will find their own way to deal with the market place. Collective bargaining is a red flag to farmers, who are self-reliant and want no part of the organized labor formula.

Nearly 500,000 more civilians are employed by the Federal government now than when President Johnson took office, to raise the roll to over three million. Johnson's "cut, tax and borrow" plan is making no dent in the burgeoning bureaucracy. In fact, it grows despite his boasted economy.

Better Way Than War

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—It's costing 26 billion dollars a year to carry on the war in Vietnam. There's a better way to use the money. The funds could be applied constructively instead of destructively—and both Red China and North Vietnam also could benefit from the change from war to peace.

The time has come for the United States government to propose a "Marshall Plan" for Asia that would transcend anything which has been suggested heretofore. Up to now, the proposals for aid outlined by President Johnson in his speeches have dealt with relatively small sums and only in general terms with the development of Southeast Asia. There has been no comprehensive program devised as yet to enlist the co-operation of the North Vietnamese and their allies.

What is needed, first of all, is a pledge by the United States that, if the war is ended, the equivalent of a substantial part of the amounts expended at present in the Vietnam war—possibly half—will be contributed to a general fund which would be used to reconstruct the whole of Vietnam under an independent government. To assure confidence in the sincerity and disinterestedness of the United States, the plan could be administered by an alliance of nations consisting primarily of the United States, Great Britain, Japan, Australia, The Soviet Union and representatives of the Red China and Nationalist China.

Such a commission could

disburse the money on the condition that North and South Vietnam would lay down their arms and concentrate on self-development, so that facilities for education, agriculture and industrial production, as well as the distribution of food to the poverty-stricken, would be provided and a start made toward the attainment of economic stability.

President Johnson, in a speech at Johns Hopkins University on April 7, 1965, said: "For most of history men have hated and killed one another in battle. But we dream of an end to war. And we will try to make it so."

"For all existence most men have lived in poverty, threatened by hunger. But we dream of a world where all are fed and charged with hope. And we will help to make it so."

"The ordinary men and women of North Vietnam and South Vietnam, of China and India, of Russia and America, are brave people. They are filled with the same proportion of hate and fear, of love and hope. Most of them want the same things for themselves and their families. Most of them do not want their sons to ever die in battle, or to see their homes, or the homes of others destroyed."

Well, this can be their world yet. Man now has the knowledge—always before denied—to make this planet serve the real needs of the people who live on it."

Since the foregoing speech was made, Mr. Johnson helped to establish the Asian Development Bank in Manila, with Japan and 31 nation's sharing the leadership in making low-cost loans for capital improvements throughout the area. The United States offered a billion-dollar contribution for the building of a system of dams in the Mekong Delta to provide electric power. But no plan yet has penetrated the minds of the North Vietnamese. While comments occasionally have been made about reconstructing Asia, the idea has not been pursued through the channels of diplomacy as a prize to be won by making of a peace agreement that would end the war in Vietnam.

The United States has in the last 75 years shown a friendship for the Chinese people in many ways and, indeed, helped to protect China against aggression in World War II. Unfortunately, the political ambitions of Asian countries have been the ruling factor in the many crises that have arisen. Never has an economic plan of mammoth proportions been outlined to attract the peoples of Asia and especially the inhabitants of the entire Vietnamese region.

Development schemes have been suggested for Thailand, Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam, but there will not be peace until a far-reaching program of financial and economic help is formulated and all factions of the Vietnamese people join together behind the project. Billions of dollars now being spent on war, if put into such a plan, could some day achieve an enduring peace in Vietnam and the rest of Asia. It would really be turning "swords into plowshares."

August 14, 1967

Editor, The Freeman

Probably the worst cruelty to animals in America is caused ironically, by animal lovers. These people are breeding more kittens and puppies than can ever be given homes.

A survey by a national humane organization states that 10,000 puppies and kittens are born hourly in the U.S. The majority of these friendly, innocent little creatures are abandoned to die in suffering in our streets and back alleys. Millions are destroyed annually in pounds and animal shelters.

A safe, humane and economical solution to this depressing problem is to stop unnecessary births at the source and have dogs and cats spayed by competent veterinarians. The operation is simple and painless and does not make the animal lazy nor otherwise affect its personality and physical condition. Most seeing-eye dogs are spayed females.

The humane society, Friends of Animals, Inc., is a non-profit organization prepared to give financial assistance to those who need help in having their pets spayed or altered.

Ambulance Fund

Editor, The Freeman:

I recently read a story in the local paper how the Rondout Valley First Aid & Rescue Squad aided in saving the life of a Stone Ridge man Sunday, August 6.

After reading the story, I wondered how many other people read it too. How many know how much trouble the Rondout Valley Rescue Squad goes through to save the lives of many people each year?

To me it is a shame that the people in the Marble-town and Rosendale Townships do not donate enough to keep their ambulance and squad building furnished with the necessary funds they need to operate on. I noted that a while back that the Squad members were and still are in need of a new and more reliable ambulance, and because of the lack of donations it is impossible to purchase one.

After what happened Sunday, I would be willing to give a few dollars any time to save the life of a friend, relative or neighbor.

Don't the people of these townships think a few dollars is worth the saving of a life? Why is everyone always so sure nothing can happen to them?

Sincerely,
RUTH E. COGSWELL

Finally, President Houphouet-Boigny's visit is important because at a time of Negro unrest in our big cities, when some American Negroes are looking to Africa for leadership, the Ivory Coast's experience with Chinese communist activities is most revealing.

I visited the president of the Ivory Coast two years ago, I visited him at his summer home, and we talked at length regarding the problems of the United States and Africa. Flanking the double doors of his living room were two of the largest elephant tusks I have ever seen, and in the outer hall was a small golden elephant.

"President Johnson wouldn't approve of that," remarked President Houphouet-Boigny, "but tell him we will soon acquire a donkey."

France Vs. Red China

The President of the Ivory Coast is a Negro of quiet dignity, who was taken to Paris as a small boy, educated in French schools and universities, obtained a doctor's degree, and for many years practiced medicine.

He explained how the new republics of West Africa were being pulled in two different directions: 1, toward France, with which they have cultural and economic ties; 2, toward Red China, which is staging a political and propaganda drive to take them over. On the other hand, he told me, many Africans see their future with the United States, if they can develop more trade and obtain technical help in developing their economy.

To the east of the Ivory Coast is Ghana, which at the time I was in Africa was virtually a satellite of Red China under the totalitarian rule of Nkrumah. Some months later, while Nkrumah was in Peking, his people kicked him out and established a new pro-West government, leaving Nkrumah to take refuge in Guinea to the west of the Ivory Coast.

President Sekou Toure of Guinea once used as many as 1,200 communist advisers, and in 1965 got a promise from Moscow to build a huge hydroelectric dam on the Konkoure River. Generally speaking, President Sekou Toure follows the Russian line of communism, believing in violent revolution. He has been preaching this to some of the young American Negroes who have gone to see him.

These include John Lewis of SNCC, James Farmer of CORE, and Stokely Carmichael, former SNCC head, who while in Cuba recently urged Negro guerrilla war in the big U.S. cities.

Carmichael brought back from Guinea a long white flowing robe, the gift of President Sekou Toure, which he displays proudly.

Vote for Tax Surcharge If Loopholes Are Closed

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — The specter of a lobby of 60,000,000 or more embattled taxpayers manning the barricades against the Johnson 10 per cent surcharge is being conjured up to haunt the White House. Liberal Democrats in the House with Henry Reuss of Wisconsin in the lead are the conjurers.

They are saying they will vote for the 10 per cent tax bite only if it is temporary, for, more important, conditional. The condition is that the Administration put forward and push hard a tax reform program closing the more notorious loopholes. With the adoption of the reforms the surcharge would end.

One of the more conscientious members of the Joint Economic Committee, Reuss has put his proposed reforms before the President in nine separate steps. Since they would cause many of Johnson's best friends and allies, particularly in the oil-rich Southwest, pain and anguish the chances of their being passed by the White House are close to zero.

The number of taxpayers who would be hit by the reforms is a small fraction of the 100,000,000 who file returns. They would apply chiefly to those in the bracket with gross adjusted income of $20,000 a year or more. In 1965 they were 2.2 per cent of the total—roughly 1,400,000. Hardest hit would be those in the $100,000 and above category—0.1 per cent, or 37,000 taxpayers.

The loophole most often singled out is the 10 per cent depletion allowance for oil and minerals. This is the bonanza the oil millionaires are most fiercely attached to. Rather than abolishing it Reuss would ease the pain with a transitional cut to 15 per cent, bringing in $800,000,000.

Closing another loophole would touch off even more anguished cries, since it benefits a larger number of taxpayers in the upper bracket. Under present law if a taxpayer dies his estate does not pay the 25 per cent capital gains on stock accumulated over the years. For example, a taxpayer with $100,000 in securities representing a net gain of $40,000 would if he sold his stocks during his lifetime pay up to $10,000 in capital gains. His heirs would pay no tax. Closing that one would bring in 2.5 billion.

One of the most-publicized loopholes lets a handful of taxpayers with incomes of over a million dollars a year get off with no tax at all. This is the provision that a taxpayer who has given for charitable and educational purposes more than the top allowance of 30 per cent of income for eight of the preceding 10 years can take unlimited deductions. In 1964 482 taxpayers made a million or more of this, number 19 paid no tax. The estimate for 1967 is that 24 million-dollar incomes will get home free.

All these matters are extremely complicated and anyone who writes about them is guilty of oversimplification. The very rich have battalions of lawyers who devote their entire time to scouting a path through the incredible complexities of the tax law as it has grown up and thrown down roots like a giant banyan tree.

One of Reuss' proposals is simplicity itself. He would do away with the $100 which every taxpayer receiving dividends from securities can deduct automatically. Return to the Treasury: $100,000,000.

The Reuss list does not include, except in one minor aspect, what is the biggest one for those with enough income to take advantage of it. The revenue from state and municipal bonds is exempt from Federal taxation.

Among my mail received interesting letter from Mrs. Earl E. Smith of Hurley Avenue, Kingston. She writes in part, that she enjoys this column and recently bought a set of those early 1900 Kingston views for her collection of which I have a few. She writes also that she is always buying books at library sales and auctions and recently bought a box of old scrap book of news clippings in it, mentioning pictures of early Kingston. It was not dated.

This item explained that "picture postal cards depicting scenes during the early days of Kingston were received by Messrs. John H. Gregory, Charles Winter, William O'Reilly, and A. J. Murphy, the committee having in charge all printing connected with the celebration of the 250th Anniversary of the founding of Kingston." I take it the above are stationary stores who sold these "Wherever the Chinese go you find trouble," said the President of the Ivory Coast, "whether in Guinea, Uganda, Somalia or Cuba. Don't let them influence your people in Harlem. Mao Tse-tung doesn't have time to wait. Time is working on the side of the Russians. But not the Chinese. They are looking for opportunities of revolution all over the world. They would like to overthrow the liberal government of the United States."

"This is why I think President Johnson's firm position in Vietnam is so wise," he concluded.

Partially confirming Houphouet-Boigny, FBI reports have shown that the most dangerous conspirators in the Negro ghettos have been members of the pro-Chinese wing of the Communist party.

Need for Price Stabilization

Most significant aspect of the Ivory Coast's economic progress is that it has been achieved by welcoming foreign capital with no foreign aid from the United States. Some aid has been received from France, however.

The Ivory Coast has now become the third largest coffee-producer in the world (ranking behind Brazil and Colombia), the second largest cocoa producer, and ranks high in bananas and tropical lumber.

The one thing it needs is stable prices. Like other African countries and our Latin neighbors, the Ivory Coast suffers from the ups and downs of commodity prices. In six years it received $50 million of foreign aid from France. But in the same period prices on tropical products dropped $200 million.

In the United States, the American farmer gets the benefit of price supports for wheat, corn, other staple commodities, with subsidies for sugar. If Sen. Allen Ellender and Rep. Otto Passman, the two Louisiana Democrats who are such bitter foes of foreign aid and such indefatigable champions of sugar subsidies, would permit price stabilization for the sugar, coffee, cocoa and bananas of Africa and Latin America, their countries wouldn't need aid from the United States and would become prosperous, free enterprise neighbors.

The theory is that only by issuing such tax-exempt bonds can the states and the cities get the money they so urgently need.

Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking and Currency Committee would abolish this tax-exempt privilege in the future, thereby bringing in from $2 billion to $3 billion a year in Federal revenue. Reuss proposes to deny exemption to a new wrinkle—the tax-exempt field that is rapidly catching on. It works as follows: Industry Y comes to a town or a county and guarantees the underwriting of a bond issue to build a new plant. Because the bond issue is tax exempt the company gets its capital at a much lower rate than it would on the open market. Reuss calls this state socialism loaded for private capital.

He estimates that closing the loopholes would bring in $4 billion the first year and $5 billion to $6 billion thereafter, which is what the 10 per cent surcharge would produce. But it is in the realm of theory. Despite the inequities built into the tax structure and the corrosive cynicism they generate, the Treasury invariably answers that there is no time for reform, that Congress would never agree in any event or that it is just plain impossible to write it into law.

postal cards and they were. I would say of the Hudson-Fulton celebration in 1908-09. These cards are today considered rare. Robert M. Matthews has a number of them. Mrs. Smith describes four of them in her letter. Each card has historical information on it, pertaining to old Kingston. From my Hudson-Fulton Celebration book they described the official postal cards as 72 in number, representing the historical and carnival floats, Henry Hudson, the Half Moon, Robert Fulton, the Clermont and the official poster design; printed in 10 colors. Price at the time in 1908, to the trade was $25 per thousand; royalty to commission $1.75 per thousand on all cards sold over 150,000 in number. There was also a 9 by 12 Official Program, 32 pages, which sold for 25 cents. I have one of those. There were other historical pageant souvenirs, all collector items today.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 17, 1967

What Price Auto Safety?

The 1968 automobile models, soon to be on the market, will be the first that incorporate the 20 safety features and devices the National Highway Bureau has required. The question agitating federal legislators, who made auto safety a matter of law, and the consumers who will buy new models, is: what price will auto safety cost?

Senators Warren G. Magnuson of Washington and Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota, both Democrats tried to get a breakdown from the American auto makers of the additional cost attributable to the new requirements, model by model. The auto makers cited a number of complicated and imprecise factors—the cost of plans, materials and assembly, the expected sales volume and the prices charged by competitors for similar models—that made it difficult if not impossible to give cost breakdowns.

New model information traditionally is kept secret until the last moment for competitive reasons. The only information so far known about the safety costs was a remark of Henry Ford 2nd, chairman of the Ford Motor Company, who told stockholders last spring the price increases due to safety improvements would be substantial. Other sources have placed the increases between $150 and $250.

It won't be long now before the auto industry will have to drop the other shoe. Whatever it proves to be, the most important item is safety itself. If that is actually improved, consumers will be amenable to a reasonable upgrading in cost.

Public Assistance

The House Ways and Means Committee, which is raising Social Security benefits for the aged, in the same action is making changes in public assistance which are expected to cut the relief rolls and benefits drastically for millions of those on relief.

The action would cut off relief for any parent or child over 16 who refused to accept work or training in new programs to be established by the states; reduce the number of illegitimate children on the rolls by freezing the total number of children on relief in each state at the number receiving benefits at the start of this year; and make other changes with the avowed purpose of reducing the welfare load, forcing more people on the rolls to work, and improving welfare for the remainder.

The sweeping changes are part of the determination of Congress to cut down on unnecessary spending. They are expected to sail through the House without difficulty. In the Senate, however, liberals may try to introduce amendments, but they will have to deal with a House that has decided to lower the boom on indiscriminate relief.

This may seem to be contrary to the Administration drive to reduce poverty, but in fact it is not. It substitutes work and training for handouts. If successful, it should not only cut down on the cost of relief, but help millions to become self-supporting citizens.

Farmer Bargaining

The last several months has seen farm protests sweep the Middle West, as falling prices and increased production costs have spread. The resulting price squeeze has led the Department of Agriculture to predict that farm income this year will drop 10 per cent from last year's record of $16.4 billion.

As a result, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has been on the hustings a good part of the year, listening to farmers and trying to reassure them, with little success.

Now, Freeman has turned to collective bargaining. He advised farmers at the 22nd annual meeting of the Soil Conservation Society of America in Des Moines that collective bargaining machinery would give them more "muscle in the market place."

More and more farmers are getting disillusioned with political solutions to their problem. The largest number of them, through their farm federation, support more freedom in their operation. They want to rely on the law of supply and demand, as they had done from time immemorial, before the wartime farm supports and quotas and soil banks and all the other politically-inspired trimmings were foisted on them.

Free them of these hobbles and farmers will find their own way to deal with the market place. Collective bargaining is a red flag to farmers, who are self-reliant and want no part of the organized labor formula.

Nearly 500,000 more civilians are employed by the Federal government now than when President Johnson took office, to raise the roll to over three million. Johnson's "cut, tax and borrow" plan is making no dent in the burgeoning bureaucracy. In fact, it grows despite his boasted economy.

Better Way Than War

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—It's costing 26 billion dollars a year to carry on the war in Vietnam. There's a better way to use the money. The funds could be applied constructively instead of destructively—and both Red China and North Vietnam also could benefit from the change from war to peace.

The time has come for the United States government to propose a "Marshall Plan" for Asia that would transcend anything which has been suggested heretofore. Up to now, the proposals for aid outlined by President Johnson in his speeches have dealt with relatively small sums and only in general terms with the development of Southeast Asia. There has been no comprehensive program devised as yet to enlist the co-operation of the North Vietnamese and their allies.

What is needed, first of all, is a pledge by the United States that, if the war is ended, the equivalent of a substantial part of the amounts expended at present in the Vietnam war—possibly half—will be contributed to a general fund which would be used to reconstruct the whole of Vietnam under an independent government. To assure confidence in the sincerity and disinterestedness of the United States, the plan could be administered by an alliance of nations consisting primarily of the United States, Great Britain, Japan, Australia, The Soviet Union and representatives of the Red China and Nationalist China.

Such a commission could

disburse the money on the condition that North and South Vietnam would lay down their arms and concentrate on self-development, so that facilities for education, agriculture and industrial production, as well as the distribution of food to the poverty-stricken, would be provided and a start made toward the attainment of economic stability.

President Johnson, in a speech at Johns Hopkins University on April 7, 1965, said: "For most of history man have hated and killed one another in battle. But we dream of an end to war. And we will try to make it so."

"For all existence most men have lived in poverty, threatened by hunger. But we dream of a world where all are fed and charged with hope. And we will help to make it so."

"The ordinary men and women of North Vietnam and South Vietnam, of China and India, of Russia and America, are brave people. They are filled with the same proportion of hate and fear, of love and hope. Most of them want the same things for themselves and their families. Most of them do not want their sons to ever die in battle, or to see their homes, or the homes of others destroyed."

"Well, this can be their world yet. Man now has the knowledge—always before denied—to make this planet serve the real needs of the people who live on it."

Since the foregoing speech was made, Mr. Johnson helped to establish the Asian Development Bank in Manila, with Japan and 31 nation's sharing the leadership in making low-cost loans for capital improvements throughout the area. The United States offered a billion-dollar contribution for the building of a system of dams in the Mekong Delta to provide electric power.

But no plan yet has penetrated the minds of the North Vietnamese. While comments occasionally have been made about reconstructing Asia, the idea has not been pushed through the channels of diplomacy as a prize to be won by making of a peace agreement that would end the war in Vietnam.

The United States has in the last 75 years shown a friendship for the Chinese people in many ways and, indeed, helped to protect China against aggression in World War II. Unfortunately, the political ambitions of Asian countries have been the ruling factor in the many crises that have arisen. Never has an economic plan of mammoth proportions been outlined to attract the peoples of Asia and especially the inhabitants of the entire Vietnam region.

Development schemes have been suggested for Thailand, Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam, but there will be no peace until a far-reaching program of financial and economic help is formulated and all factions of the Vietnamese people join together behind the project. Billions of dollars now being spent on war, if put into such a plan, could some day achieve an enduring peace in Vietnam and the rest of Asia. It would really be turning "swords into plowshares."

Editor, The Freeman

Probably the worst cruelty to animals in America is caused ironically, by animal lovers. These people are breeding more kittens and puppies than can ever be given homes.

A survey by a national humane organization states that 10,000 puppies and kittens are born hourly in the U.S. The majority of these friendly, innocent little creatures are abandoned to die in suffering in our streets and back alleys. Millions are destroyed annually in pounds and animal shelters.

A safe, humane and economical solution to this depressing problem is to stop unnecessary births at the source and have dogs and cats spayed by competent veterinarians. The operation is simple and painless and does not make the animal lazy nor otherwise affect its personality and physical condition. Most seeing-eye dogs are spayed females.

The humane society, Friends of Animals, Inc., is a non-profit organization prepared to give financial assistance to those who need help in having their pets spayed or altered. For anyone who desires further information about this organization, I may be contacted at the following

August 12, 1967

Editor, The Freeman
I recently read a story in the local paper how the Rondout Valley First Aid & Rescue Squad aided in saving the life of a Stone Ridge man Sunday, August 6.

After reading the story, I wondered how many other people read it too. How many know how much trouble the Rondout Valley Rescue Squad goes through to save the lives of many people each year?

To me it is a shame that the people in the Marble-town and Rosendale Townships do not donate enough to keep their ambulance and squad building furnished with the necessary funds they need to operate on. I noted that a while back that the Squad members were and still are in need of a new and more reliable ambulance, and because of the lack of donations it is impossible to purchase one.

After what happened Sunday, I would be willing to give a few dollars any time to save the life of a friend, relative or neighbor.

Don't the people of these townships think a few dollars is worth the saving of a life? Why is everyone always so sure nothing can happen to them?

Sincerely,
RUTH E. COGSWELL

The Ivory Coast has now become the third largest coffee-producer in the world (ranking behind Brazil and Colombia), the second largest cocoa producer, and ranks high in bananas and tropical lumber.

The one thing it needs is stable prices. Like other African countries and our Latin neighbors, the Ivory Coast suffers from the ups and downs of commodity prices. In six years it received $50 million of foreign aid from France. But in the same period prices on tropical products dropped $200 million.

In the United States, the American farmer gets the benefit of price supports for wheat, corn, other staple commodities, with subsidies for sugar. If Sen. Allen Ellender and Rep. Otto Passman, the two Louisiana Democrats who are such bitter foes of foreign aid and such indefatigable champions of sugar subsidies, would permit price stabilization for the sugar, coffee, cocoa and bananas of Africa and Latin America, their countries wouldn't need aid from the United States and would become prosperous, free enterprise neighbors.

The theory is that only by issuing such tax-exempt bonds can the states and the cities get the money they so urgently need.

Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking and Currency Committee would abolish this tax-exempt privilege in the future, thereby bringing in from $2 billion to $3 billion a year in Federal revenue. Reuss proposes to deny exemption to a new wrinkle in the tax-exempt field that is rapidly catching on. It works as follows: Industry Y comes to a town or a county and guarantees the underwriting of a bond issue to build a new plant. Because the bond issue is tax exempt the company gets its capital at a much lower rate than it would on the open market. Reuss calls this state socialism loaded for private capital.

He estimates that closing the loopholes would bring in $4 billion the first year and $5 billion to $6 billion thereafter, which is what the 10 per cent surcharge would produce. But it is all in the realm of theory. Despite the inequities built into the tax structure and the corrosive cynicism they generate, the Treasury invariably answers that there is no time for reform, that Congress would never agree in any event or that it is just plain impossible to write it into law.

I would say of the Hudson-Fulton celebration in 1908-09. These cards are today considered rare. Robert M. Matthews has a number of them. Mrs. Smith describes four of them in her letter. Each card has historical information on it, pertaining to old Kingston. From my Hudson-Fulton Celebration book they described the official postal cards as 72 in number, representing the historical and carnival floats, Henry Hudson, the Half Moon, Robert Fulton, the Clermont and the official poster design; printed in 10 colors. Price at the time in 1908, to the trade was $25 per thousand; royalty to commission $1.75 per thousand on all cards sold over 150,000 in number. There was also a 9 by 12 Official Program, 32 pages, which sold for 25 cents. I have one of those. There were other historical pageant souvenirs, all collector items today.

LBJ's Vietnam Policy Becoming Less Popular

WASHINGTON—Back home over a weekend, Sen. Thruston Morton (R-Ky.) was set upon by a bitter group of small town school teachers. "After all these years we finally got a pay raise," they told him, "and now you're going to take it all in taxes for the Vietnam war."

An experienced politician who knows the voice of the people when he hears it, Morton was deeply impressed by this and other straws in the wind. "These are the same people who were all for the war two or three years ago," he says. Now they are switching to the opposition—and so is their senator.

"I was an all-out hawk," says Morton. "I thought once we started, the war would be over in six months. I was wrong. Our country has been painted into a corner over there. There's going to have to be a change."

The saga of Thruston Morton is being repeated, with many variations, throughout broad segments of the 90th Congress. A strong shift in sentiment about the war is underway. Those affected include Republicans and Democrats; Conservatives and Liberals; "hawks," "doves" and "eagles" (the law being the Washington bird-name for lawmakers who kept quiet on Vietnam, and just supported the war).

President Johnson proposed 10 per cent tax surcharge, which brings the war home to the pocketbooks of people previously unaffected by it, has something to do with the shift in sentiment.

So does: —The trouble in the big city ghettos, which has urgently raised the question of "priorities."

—The continuing sour notes in the election news from Saigon.

—Lack of dramatic progress on the military fronts.

—The new installment of at least 45,000 more American ground troops to Vietnam.

Home Front Anguish
The result, as lawmakers tell it in interviews and in public and private statements, is a home front anguish about Vietnam which is developing into a major problem for President Johnson.

Some of the "hawks" in Congress—men with close ties and unshakable faith in the U.S. military—are saying, "Win it or get out." Other lawmakers are urging Mr. Johnson to de-escalate, to pull back to protected "enclaves" or other diminish the scope and intensity of the war. Still others are for the first time beginning to say, "Get out."

The immediate legislative impact of all this is not expected to be great. President Johnson appears to have all the authority he needs to pursue the war, and most lawmakers would not think of voting against bills to buy weapons or ammunition for the men at the front.

Nonetheless, Congressional disaffection is a factor no president can ignore—least of all this Congress-conscious chief executive. The legislators tend to reflect and often reinforce the views of the voting public.

Among the recent signs of change:

—House Republican leader Gerald Ford (Mich.) came out against more U.S. troops commitments to Vietnam unless better bomb targets are hit in North Vietnam.

—Sen. Frank Lausche (D-Ohio), after "painful soul-searching," called for an unconditional halt to the bombing in an attempt to find peace.

—Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), increasingly critical of the war, called for a bombing step-up—or an offer to halt the fighting all over Vietnam "and start negotiations from there."

—Rep. Claude Pepper (D-Fla.) declared the war "is no longer worth the heavy burden in money and lives" and suggested drastic reductions in the U.S. troop commitment.

"There is tremendous unrest in Congress," says Rep. Lucien Nedzi (D-Mich.), a member of the House Armed Services Committee and a previously reliable supporter of the administration position on Vietnam. "There is considerable doubt about the war. This is coming from the people. They are losing confidence in the government's ability to solve the problem."

Nedzi says it is time for a reassessment. Like many lawmakers, there is little passion or ideology involved in his new thinking. His view is more practical—he's just not sure the Vietnam policy is going to work.

Last week Nedzi joined 56 other House Democrats, including many dependable administration supporters, in blasting "arbitrary and selfish action" by the Saigon military government in the Vietnam elections—and suggesting the threat of a "serious reappraisal" of U.S. policy if the ruling generals refuse to change their ways.

Also last week 21 House Republicans—most of them conservatives who have expressed little dissatisfaction about the war—asked committee hearings to review and revise the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin Resolution authorizing "all necessary measures" in Vietnam.

Hostile Attitude

Now these Republicans would change the Tonkin Resolution isn't clear, but their attitude toward the war is unmistakably hostile.

Their statement said, among other things, that "the South Vietnamese army has been largely ineffective . . . this war has become increasingly an American war . . . There is no indication that the military and political activities of the United States since 1964 have in any way brought a settlement closer, either by negotiation or military power, but instead have resulted in death and casualties to many Americans and a drain on our budget of over $20 billion per year . . ."

Less publicized but equally revealing are the comments of lawmakers to White House officials and other visitors.

"Americans love a repentant sinner," a western Democrat counseled an emissary from the chief executive. "I urged that the President go on television and announce that he's tried everything he can but that this kind of war is unsuccessful," says the lawmaker. "We could protect the cities of Vietnam with our power, and let the Vietnamese do the fighting in the jungles. We should pursue a phased de-escalation of the war, and an eventual pull-out."

This Congressman says that two years ago he was staunchly supporting the President — "I was using Tye Munich Analogy" — but that his doubts and disillusion have grown constantly until recently he has said nothing out loud. Right now he's working on a speech that will mark his public break with administration policy.

A big-city eastern Democrat, previously an unwavering supporter of presidential policy, showed a visitor samples of his replies to critical constituent mail about the Vietnam bombing:

His first standard reply, dating back over a year ago, declared the necessity for a "limited amount" of bombing in the interest of the nation and its fighting men.

His second standard reply, written a few months ago, repeated the Dean Rusk phrase that continued bombing is necessary because "you can't stop half the war."

French Poles Not Happy Over DeGaulle Visit

PARIS—Two stops on the itinerary of Gen. Charles de Gaulle's visit to Poland next month are giving everyone the jitters, including the West Germans.

De Gaulle will meet briefly—an official function—with Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, the strongly anti-Communist Catholic primate of Poland, and will stop a few hours in a disputed former German territory.

Both instances could be political dynamite, an act that has escaped neither France nor Poland.

Months of diplomatic negotiations between Paris and Warsaw were needed to establish a program which would satisfy the requirements of both Poland and de Gaulle.

For one thing, the Poles had hoped to take their guest on a full-dress tour of the former German territories bordering the Oder and Neisse Rivers which the Poles now consider as part of their homeland. As early as 1959, De Gaulle recognized the Oder-Neisse line as the final border between Poland and Germany, a gesture which France's West German allies resented as an insult at the time.

With De Gaulle conveniently in their country, the Polish authorities had hoped that, while visiting the former German territory, he would make one of his hair-raising speeches and once more recognize the rights of Poland to this land.

The French saw the trap, however, and put up a discreet opposition to any trip by their president to the Oder-Neisse line.

But either they were not sufficiently firm or the Poles were too insistent, because a brief visit to the former German land could not be avoided. According to the official program, De Gaulle will spend a few hours in Zabrze (one-time Hindenburg), in what was German upper Silesia.

The French had asked whether De Gaulle could not attend a mass on Sept. 10 celebrated by the Cardinal in the Warsaw Cathedral, after which he would have liked to confer with the prelate.

The Polish authorities gave a firm and harsh refusal to this project, which they pointed out, might be the occasion of public demonstrations by opponents to the regime.

Finally, a compromise was reached. The Polish government would not drag De Gaulle off to the former German territories, except for the brief and purely folklore visit to Zabrze. In exchange, De Gaulle would give up the idea of attending mass in Warsaw but would meet Cardinal Wyszynski during some official function in the Polish capital.

It looks as if neither the French nor the Poles are particularly happy about having to yield.

a few days ago, is quiet different. It deplores "the limited course of widening the war," suggests "and end to escalation" and says the United Nations should try to solve the Vietnam problem.

In his rock-ribbed Democratic district, he says, support for Mr. Johnson is down from its normal 85 per cent to about 65 per cent—and the trend of thinking is unfavorable.

President in Trouble
"The President is in trouble," says a third Democrat, this one from an eastern urban-suburban district. "If he doesn't do something about Vietnam, my impression is he is going to get swamped next year. None of the Republicans will be for him, on other grounds; Democrats may be split down the middle."

This lawmaker, like other Democrats, takes comfort in the hope that the Republicans may "do something stupid" and blow their chances. In the meantime, the congressman is working with several colleagues on a complicated scheme to have neutral nations sponsor a Vietnam peace conference — which would be the forum for substantial American concessions in order to achieve a Vietnam settlement.

Within the week, these and most other House Democrats have been face-to-face with L.B.J. in private White House powwows, designed by the President to sell the proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge. At several of these sessions—held in groups of about 50 Congressmen, usually over coffee in the State Dining Room—the subject of Vietnam policy was raised.

According to attendees, the President reiterated his previous statements, strongly defending the bombing policy, the ground war policy and repeating that he will go anywhere in the search for peace. Despite reports of new administration "peace feelers" around the world, the President gave these listeners no reason for new hope about an early solution to the war.

To the men from Capitol Hill who are deeply concerned about the conflict and its impact at home, the word at the White House was depressingly familiar. "He told us the kill rate was up, that Gen. (William C.) Westmoreland reports progress," explained one lawmaker who is in the process of shifting his position on the war. "For a minute it was impressive and I was heartened—until I realized we've been hearing the same thing for almost three years now."

Two Party Bickering Hurts Here: Liberals

Frank Fuscardo told Ulster County Liberal Party officials Wednesday night that the constant political bickering between the two major parties has definitely been an obstacle to progress in Ulster County.

"The Republicans and Democrats have been voting along strict party lines for far too many years," Fuscardo said, adding, "Major steps toward improvement suggested by one party will be blocked by the other, and vice versa."

Fuscardo, an enrolled Democrat, is the Liberal candidate for county legislator in Kingston.

He spoke at the home of Donald Short, 207 Washington Avenue, at a meeting attended by the executive committee of the party.

Fuscardo believed that a number of issues should be explored by the current Board of Supervisors, or the upcoming County Legislators, among them being: planning for new infirmaries; the preservation of the Perrine Bridge; the absence of certain properties from the tax rolls, along with unfair, unjust and discriminatory assessments; on existing taxed properties; the construction, with state and federal aid, of an alternate seat of government; an end of the neglect of the John and Crown Streets County Building.

The Liberal Party candidate also called attention to the crowded conditions of the new office building, and said that plans should be made for the housing of county departments in the near future; the committee of businessmen who made a study of a county airport; the need for a public hearing on the county budget and a comprehensive study of air pollution in Ulster.

Fuscardo cited what he believed was the need for a county executive and a county ombudsman. He also said that there should be an end to the long recesses at county meetings.

The Liberal candidate served as a Democratic committeeman in Kingston's 4th Ward for several years.

Paul Bedford

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Paul Bedford, 92, trustee emeritus of Princeton University and one of Wilkes-Barre's leading corporate attorneys for 60 years, died Wednesday.

Savago: Must Change County Job Titles

Many Ulster County employees are performing duties that are beyond and outside of their present assigned classifications according to Peter J. Savago, chairman, Ulster County Board of Supervisors. He explained that this condition was revealed by the detailed analysis of employee duties now going on as a part of the County-wide survey of departmental operations and salaries.

"At the present time there are many instances where the work actually performed by our employees does not conform to the classifications set up by the New York State Civil Service and to which these employees are assigned," Savago declared. "In order to bring our salary classification system into conformity with State standards, we must make a considerable number of changes in the job titles and classifications under which individual employees work."

These changes will be made as a part of the survey being carried out by Hanawalt Associates, management consultants to local government. The project is being conducted under the guidance of the Salary Study Committee of the Board of Supervisors which meet periodically to receive progress reports. The study was started in March and the final report is expected before the end of the year.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Marian A. Kirchhof — Funeral services for Mrs. Marian A. Kirchhof of 109 Washington Avenue, who died Saturday evening, were held Wednesday afternoon from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, Inc., 26 Fair Street, with the Rev. Glenn Sattelmair of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Oak Hill, officiating. Tuesday evening employees of the Kingston Postal Department, led by Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk, visited the funeral home. Burial was in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

William Praet — Funeral services for William Praet of 8 Center Street who died Sunday evening, were held at the Jensen and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs Street, Wednesday, 2 p. m. The Rev. John F. Frenssen, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Evangelical Church officiated. Many called at the funeral home and numerous floral tributes were received. Burial was in North Marletown Cemetery, with the Rev. Mr. Frenssen conducting the committal service.

Should Try Stokely for Treason: Barry

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Barry Goldwater says Black Power advocate Stokely Carmichael should be tried for treason.

The former Arizona senator, at his summer home, told newsmen Wednesday Carmichael should be arrested when he returns to the United States from Cuba.

While saying he doesn't know that Communists are inciting riots in U.S. cities, Goldwater said, "If I were a Communist, I certainly would be working right in there with the Carmichaels and the H. Rap Brown."

He said, "They should be treated as traitors and the penalty should be given to them."

Goldwater, who says he will challenge Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., for the Senate next year, said he views former Vice President Richard M. Nixon as the frontrunning GOP candidate for the 1968 presidential nomination. But, he added, by next summer California Gov. Ronald Reagan might be a stronger contender.

Two Party Bickering Hurts Here: Liberals

Frank Fuscardo told Ulster County Liberal Party officials Wednesday night that the constant political bickering between the two major parties has definitely been an obstacle to progress in Ulster County.

"The Republicans and Democrats have been voting along strict party lines for far too many years," Fuscardo said, adding, "Major steps toward improvement suggested by one party will be blocked by the other, and vice versa."

Fuscardo, an enrolled Democrat, is the Liberal candidate for county legislator in Kingston.

He spoke at the home of Donald Short, 207 Washington Avenue, at a meeting attended by the executive committee of the party.

Fuscardo believed that a number of issues should be explored by the current Board of Supervisors, or the upcoming County Legislators, among them being: planning for new infirmity facilities; the preservation of the Perrine Bridge; the absence of certain properties from the tax rolls, along with unfair, unjust and discriminatory assessments; on existing taxed properties; the construction, with state and federal aid, of an alternate seat of government; an end of the neglect of the John and Crown Streets County Building.

The Liberal Party candidate also called attention to the crowded conditions of the new office building, and said that plans should be made for the housing of county departments in the near future; the committee of businessmen who made a study of a county airport; the need for a public hearing on the county budget and a comprehensive study of air pollution in Ulster.

Fuscardo cited what he believed was the need for a county executive and a county ombudsman. He also said that there should be an end to the long recesses at county meetings.

The Liberal candidate served as a Democratic committeeman in Kingston's 4th Ward for several years.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Paul Bedford, 92, trustee emeritus of Princeton University and one of Wilkes-Barre's leading corporate attorneys for 60 years, died Wednesday.

Savago: Must Change County Job Titles

Many Ulster County employees are performing duties that are beyond and outside of their present assigned classifications according to Peter J. Savago, chairman, Ulster County Board of Supervisors. He explained that this condition was revealed by the detailed analysis of employee duties now going on as a part of the County-wide survey of departmental operations and salaries.

"At the present time there are many instances where the work actually performed by our employees does not conform to the classifications set up by the New York State Civil Service and to which these employees are assigned," Savago declared. "In order to bring our salary classification system into conformity with State standards, we must make a considerable number of changes in the job titles and classifications under which individual employees work."

These changes will be made as a part of the survey being carried out by Hanswalt Associates, management consultants to local government. The project is being conducted under the guidance of the Salary Study Committee of the Board of Supervisors which meet periodically to receive progress reports. The study was stated in March and the final report is expected before the end of the year.

Local Scouts Return From World Meet

"A fun-filled lesson in international understanding" is the description of the 12th World Jamboree given by five Scouts of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, upon their arrival home recently.

Members of the Rip Van Winkle Council contingent told of the many activities that the Scouts had to get better acquainted with other Scouts from 100 countries. Exchange meals, evening campfires, a wide game, and earning of the adventure award provided many opportunities for Scouts to practice brotherhood and friendship.

This World Jamboree was the first to be hosted by the Boy Scouts of America and brought together 13,000 Scouts. It was held at Farragut State Park, Idaho, from Aug. 1 to 9.

Scouts from the Rip Van Winkle Council who attended the 12th World Jamboree include: Christopher Dapp, 15, an Eagle Scout of Troop 70 Highland; Thomas Benson, 15, an Eagle Scout of Explorer Post 28, Ellenville; Anthony Appa, 15, an Eagle Scout of Troop 45, Cokesackie; Henry Wagner, 14, a Star Scout of Troop 141, Catskill; and John C. Karkheck, 14, an Eagle Scout of Troop 101, Durham.

Jamboree Chairman Sherwood Lasher, Kingston, said today that these Scouts are available to tell of their experiences before any community group.

Requests may be made by calling the Boy Scout Service Center in Kingston or writing to the Rip Van Winkle Council, 260 Fair Street, Kingston.

As part of the World Jamboree trip the Scouts also visited Niagara Falls; Spokane, Washington; and San Francisco.

Like Throwing Darts? Try Stocks as Target

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) Those who seek to get under the skin of the mutual fund industry are now throwing darts at lists of corporate stocks and claiming a better investment record than the funds' highly paid managers.

The latest to make his point was Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., who claimed his dart picked a list of stocks that have risen in a 10-year period from $10,000 to $25,300. No fund can match this record.

Backed by Reputation
Earlier this year some highly respected economists said about the same thing, and at least one university study came to the same conclusion after a long investigation that involved billions of electronic calculations.

The dart theory, therefore, is backed by the reputations of scholars and universities, but it is not their discovery. The dart theory has long been used by bettors at race tracks all over the country. The only variation is that a needle instead of a dart is plunged into the racing program.

If the method has developed a following at race tracks, where the running stock sometimes includes some real dogs, why shouldn't it develop a following on the stock market, where the entries generally are of high quality?

Whatever their faults, the stocks listed on major exchanges generally represent the soundest corporations in America. The fact is that stocks must be winners to begin with in order to be listed on reputable exchanges. Strict requirements concerning profitability must be met. If they are not, the stock may be delisted.

On the New York Stock Exchange, the nation's largest, listing requirements include a degree of national interest in the stock, wide distribution of shares, earning power of more than $2 million a year before taxes, one million shares minimum outstanding, and at least 2,000 shareholders.

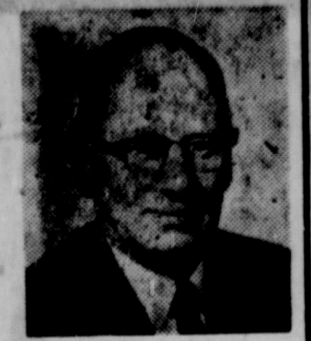

There are other reasons also for the success of the dart theory, the primary one being the expansion of the American economy. An expanding economy means expansion also for the corporations doing the work.

Back in 1956 the nation's Gross National Product, the total of all its goods and services produced, was just a bit more than $400 billion. Sometime next year it will achieve a rate of about $800 billion a year.

This growth in output means that many of the companies that existed back in 1956, when McIntyre's theoretical list was compiled, have grown tremendously.

But beware of the dart theory; it belongs at the race track or in a game of chance. For a person seriously to use the random or dart approach to picking stocks would be to deny his own intelligence.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING.... by ROGER E. SPEAR Investment Advisor & Analyst Low-Priced Stocks Not Always Cheap

Q "I purchased A. J. Industries at 7 1/2. The stock has done nothing. I have received no dividends from the company and not much information except a year-end statement. I don't know what is due me as a stockholder, so I am asking your advice."

A "If you will allow me to say so, you apparently made the uncommon mistake of buying a stock about which you knew very little at the time of purchase. People frequently do this because they consider that a low-priced stock is cheap simply because it is low priced. I assure you this is not necessarily so.

Your company was formerly engaged in gold mining under the name of Alaska Juneau. It is now mainly in the military equipment business and earnings appear largely dependent on the Vietnam war. No dividends have been paid for many years and none seem immediately in prospect. The shares have doubled in price in 1967 and now sell near their ten-year high, which is where you came in. Financial reports, published quarterly, should be available to you through your broker. The company is under no obligation to send you more than you are now receiving. Your shares are speculative but earnings are reported to be in a strong upturn and I would hold for the present.

Q "The airlines have not been acting well in a strong market. Don't you think they are the best group for long-term growth?"

A "I wouldn't put it quite as strongly as that, although the growth outlook certainly seems very promising. Some of the airlines have been showing signs of a squeeze on profit margins from rising expenses and a restricted rate structure. I think that several of the more performance-conscious funds have been selling airlines, which may have contributed to their lackluster action. I like them for long-term holding, particularly Pacific Southwest which operates entirely within the state of California.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market jogged to the upside early Thursday in fairly active trading.

About 150 more stocks rose than fell on the New York Stock Exchange. The Dow Jones industrial average was ahead more than three points.

Getty Oil climbed nearly 4 while gains of about 2 each were made by United Aircraft, Boeing and Xerox.

Up better than a point were Control Data, General Electric, IBM, Procter & Gamble and U.S. Smelting.

Merger-oriented Ling-Temco-Vought was up about 2.

Mediation Due For Hucktrol

Coordination for further meetings between Hucktrol Inc., lawyers and machinist union representatives will be handled through the State Mediation Office according to Thomas Salsbury, Hucktrol personnel director.

This morning Salsbury indicated that yesterday's attempts to iron out difficulties which have idled 140 local International Association of Machinists members since Saturday, proved unsuccessful.

Union representatives from Grand Lodge headquarters met with management lawyers beginning at 10:30 a. m. in Hucktrol's building at 85 Grand Street.

The five-day old dispute originally centered around differing interpretations of a contract between union and management.

Youth Accused Of 'Spray Job'
Tarquin Woods, 17, Legion Court, Port Ewen, accused of malicious mischief, appeared in City Court today and had his case adjourned until Friday.

Woods said he wanted time to consult with an attorney.

The Port Ewen youth has been accused by Donald Tompkins, 18, 26 Mountain View Avenue, Hurley, of spraying a "white foam" over his car, Aug. 7, in front of the Park Diner.

Like Throwing Darts? Try Stocks as Target

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) Those who seek to get under the skin of the mutual fund industry are now throwing darts at lists of corporate stocks and claiming a better investment record than the funds' highly paid managers.

The latest to make his point was Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., who claimed his dart picked a list of stocks that have risen in a 10-year period from $10,000 to $25,300. No fund can match this record.

Earlier this year some highly respected economists said about the same thing, and at least one university study came to the same conclusion after a long investigation that involved billions of electronic calculations.

The dart theory, therefore, is backed by the reputations of scholars and universities, but it is not their discovery. The dart theory has long been used by bettors at race tracks all over the country. The only variation is that a needle instead of a dart is plunged into the racing program.

If the method has developed a following at race tracks, where the running stock sometimes includes some real dogs, why shouldn't it develop a following on the stock market, where the entries generally are of high quality?

Whatever their faults, the stocks listed on major exchanges generally represent the soundest corporations in America. The fact is that stocks must be winners to begin with in order to be listed on reputable exchanges. Strict requirements concerning profitability must be met. If they are not, the stock may be delisted.

On the New York Stock Exchange, the nation's largest, listing requirements include a degree of national interest in the stock, wide distribution of shares, earning power of more than $2 million a year before taxes, one million shares minimum outstanding, and at least 2,000 shareholders.

There are other reasons also for the success of the dart theory, the primary one being the expansion of the American economy. An expanding economy means expansion also for the corporations doing the work.

Back in 1956 the nation's Gross National Product, the total of all its goods and services produced, was just a bit more than $400 billion. Sometime next year it will achieve a rate of about $800 billion a year.

This growth in output means that many of the companies that existed back in 1956, when McIntyre's theoretical list was compiled, have grown tremendously.

But beware of the dart theory; it belongs at the race track or in a game of chance. For a person seriously to use the random dart approach to picking stocks would be to deny his own intelligence.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING....

Low-Priced Stocks . . .
Not Always Cheap . . .

Q "I purchased A. J. Industries at 7 1/2. The stock has done nothing. I have received no dividends from the company and not much information except a year-end statement. I don't know what is due me as a stockholder, so I am asking your advice."

A) If you will allow me to say so, you apparently made the not uncommon mistake of buying a stock about which you knew very little at the time of purchase. People frequently do this because they consider that a low-priced stock is cheap simply because it is low priced. I assure you this is not necessarily so.

Your company was formerly engaged in gold mining under the name of Alaska Juneau. It is now mainly in the military equipment business and earnings appear largely dependent on the Vietnam war. No dividends have been paid for many years and none seem immediately in prospect. The shares have doubled in price in 1967 and now sell near their ten-year high, which is where you came in. Financial reports, published quarterly, should be available to you through your broker. The company is under no obligation to send you more than you are now receiving. Your shares are speculative but earnings are reported to be in a strong upturn and I would hold for the present.

Q "The airlines have not been acting well in a strong market. Don't you think they are the best group for long-term growth?"

L. C.
A) I wouldn't put it quite as strongly as that, although the growth outlook certainly seems very promising. Some of the airlines have been showing signs of a squeeze on profit margins from rising expenses and a restricted rate structure. I think that several of the more performance-conscious funds have been selling airlines, which may have contributed to their lackluster action. I like them for long-term holding, particularly Pacific Southwest which operates entirely within the state of California.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Greene Crash

Two men were injured at 1 a. m. today when their cars collided on Route 23 near Catskill, according to Leeds State Police. The vehicles were operated by James Baird, 32, of Route 2, Oneonta, and Edward Mullen, 57, of 301 Shore Road, Bellmore. Both cars were traveling east and Mullen was attempting a left turn into a side road when the crash occurred. Both men suffered bruises.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market jogged to the upside early Thursday in fairly active trading.

About 150 more stocks rose than fell on the New York Stock Exchange. The Dow Jones industrial average was ahead more than three points.

Getty Oil climbed nearly 4 while gains of about 2 each were made by United Aircraft, Boeing and Xerox.

Up better than a point were Control Data, General Electric, IBM, Procter & Gamble and U.S. Smelting.

Merger-oriented Ling-Temco-Vought was up about 2. Dampening the rise in Blue chip industrials, Du Pont slid more than a point.

Mediation Due For Hucktrol

Coordination for further meetings between Hucktrol Inc., lawyers and machinist union representatives will be handled through the State Mediation Office according to Thomas Salsbury, Hucktrol personnel director.

This morning Salsbury indicated that yesterday's attempts to iron out difficulties which have idled 140 local International Association of Machinists members since Saturday, proved unsuccessful.

Union representatives from Grand Lodge headquarters met with management lawyers beginning at 10:30 a. m. in Hucktrol's building at 85 Grand Street.

The five-day old dispute originally centered around differing interpretations of a contract between union and management.

Woods said he wanted time to consult with an attorney. The Port Ewen youth has been accused by Donald Tompkins, 18, 26 Mountain View Avenue, Hurley, of spraying a "white foam" over his car, Aug. 7, in front of the Park Diner.

Rev. John Murray
NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. John Courtney Murray, 63, a prominent Jesuit theologian, died Wednesday, apparently of a heart attack. He was born in New York City.

Accord Area Rescue Squad Hears Reports

The Kerhonkson-Accord Rescue Squad heard reports of July activities at its regular meeting Monday night in the squad building, Route 209.

Thirty calls were handled during the month with two mutual aid calls to assist the Ellenville Fire Aid Squad.

The fund drive got underway Aug. 7 with Mrs. Marilyn Robinson as chairman. A house-to-house canvass and special projects are part of the appeal. It was noted that Mr. and Mrs. W. Kopp and Mr. and Mrs. Carle's Market, Accord.

Stinging Ants

Most ants do not sting, but some kinds do. Fire ants sting as painfully as wasps; the harvesting ants of Mexico can also sting very severely.

Joseph Brody of Kerhonkson had aided in donating items. Cleaning supplies used at the squad building were donated by Carle's Market, Accord.

Workshops are being conducted every Monday 8 to 10 p. m. with Vincent Mikalonis, Farland, 37, a mechanic from Aloha, say they have developed an ignition switch that won't turn the motor off until the key is removed.

Foolproof Key

HILLSBORO, Ore. (AP) — Two Oregon men have patented a device which will make people take the keys out of their cars. Thomas Thompson, 59, an automobile service manager from Hillsboro, and William McFarland, 37, a mechanic from Aloha, say they have developed an ignition switch that won't turn the motor off until the key is removed.

BARBECUE, ANTIQUE SHOW—Final preparations have been completed for the Kingston Rotary barbecue and antique show to be held at the Armory on South Manor Avenue Saturday, Aug. 19 from 3 to 7 p. m. Committee members reporting on arrangements at the luncheon-meeting Wednesday were (L) the Rev. Edwin C. Oon, president; Harry Beatty, William Palmer, John Barton and Clarence Buddenhagen. Smog Warnings Issued by Rocky, John

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor John V. Lindsay have appealed to New York City motorists to avoid unnecessary use of their cars because of a U.S. Weather Bureau warning of the possibility of high air pollution in a four-state area.

A Weather Bureau aide said today that the adverse weather conditions in southeastern New York State, New Jersey, Connecticut and eastern Pennsylvania probably will continue until tonight.

He emphasized that the warning, issued shortly before noon Wednesday, was an advisory and not as serious as an air pollution alert. A yellow haze blanketed the metropolitan area about midday.

Brooke: Goals Within Reach Without Riots

BOSTON (AP)—Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., says neither civil disobedience nor riots are necessary for the success of the civil rights movement.

"Civil disobedience is the lesser of two evils," Brooke said Wednesday, "but we can accomplish our goals without either." Brooke, the first Negro elected to the U.S. Senate by popular vote, received the outstanding citizen award from Omega Psi Phi fraternity. The fraternity was founded in 1911 to promote better relationships between Negroes and other students.

Clean Feet Though

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — You can go to a Riverside shopping center with bare feet, but not with dirty ones.

The Riverside Plaza Merchants Association, reversing an earlier edict, said Wednesday, "It was never our intent to ask barefoot people to leave the center."

But a spokesman said shoppers with bare feet that are dirty "will be asked to leave."

Mishap on 375

Mrs. Shirley Prager, 43, of 282 Glasco Turnpike, escaped injury at 4:35 p. m. Wednesday when her car went out of control on Route 375 near the Woodstock Country Club golf course and knocked down two guard posts. Chief Constable Paul Senecal investigated. Police said a dog in the car distracted the attention of the driver and the vehicle left the pavement and hit the posts.

Accord Area Rescue Squad Hears Reports

The Kerkhons-Accord Rescue Squad heard reports of July activities at its regular meeting Monday night in the squad building, Route 209.

Thirty calls were handled during the month with two mutual aid calls to assist the Ellenville First Aid Squad.

The fund drive got underway Aug. 7 with Mrs. Marilyn Robinson as chairman. A house-to-house canvass and special projects are part of the appeal.

It was noted that Mr. and Mrs. W. Kopp and Mr. and Mrs.

Stinging Ants

Most ants do not sting, but some kinds do. Fire ants sting as painfully as wasps; the harvesting ants of Mexico can also sting very severely.

Joseph Brody of Kerkhons had aided in donating items. Cleaning supplies used at the squad building were donated by Carle's Market, Accord.

Workshops are being conducted every Monday 8 to 10 p. m. with Vincent Mikalonis, director of personnel in charge.

Next regular meeting of the squad will be held Sept. 11 at 8 p. m. in the squad building.

Foolproof Key

HILLSBORO, Ore. (AP) — Two Oregon men have patented a device which will make people take the keys out of their cars. Thomas Thompson, 59, an automobile service manager from Hillsboro, and William McFarland, 37, a mechanic from Aloha, say they have developed an ignition switch that won't turn the motor off until the key is removed.

BARBECUE, ANTIQUE SHOW—Final preparations have been completed for the Kingston Rotary barbecue and antique show to be held at the Armory on South Manor Avenue Saturday, Aug. 19 from 3 to 7 p. m. Committee members reporting on arrangements at the luncheon-meeting Wednesday were (L) the Rev. Edwin C. Coon, president; Harry Beatty, William Palmer, John Barton and Clarence Buddenhagen. Goals and Procedures Of RV School Outlined Objectives and procedures for the Rondout Valley Middle School were outlined under four major heads—Community, Staff, Students and Administration—by Superintendent of Schools Dr. Ted T. Granda and Middle School Principal Philip Buonfiglio at a policy meeting held this week.

Community-wise, the primary objectives will be to keep the community informed on all aspects of the school, from its construction to its curriculum and operation. This will be accomplished by articles in local newspapers, talks with any and all interested groups to answer questions and receive suggestions, an orientation program which will include tours of the building and explanations of its functions, facilities, equipment, curriculum and staff, and the organization of a Parent-Teacher group prior to the actual opening of the Middle School.

In regard to the staff, it is planned to calculate the number and qualifications of the needed professional and non-professional personnel, to determine which positions will be filled by people already employed in the system, to hire needed personnel, to involve prospective staff members in curricular and operational planning, and to familiarize the staff with the plant prior to its opening.

Staff meetings will be held, both general and small group, and in-service programs involving curriculum and policies are planned. An extensive orientation program will be conducted and every effort made to place the most highly-qualified people in all positions. To this end, use will be made of all possible sources and, wherever possible, candidates will be observed in actual "working" situations.

Among the items which the staff will discuss are the program of studies; pupil and teacher scheduling; the structure of teaching function such as traditional, non-graded, team teaching and grouping; activities program, and the selection of materials and teaching aids. Also to be taken up are such matters as discipline, policy, in-service programs and the role of guidance and other specialties.

Seeks Student Help

Buonfiglio intends that he and the students become well-acquainted to help facilitate their adjustment period. Along with this, it is hoped that the students will develop a strong interest in their new school and feel that they are a vital part of its development and growth.

Buonfiglio plans to visit students on a home-room basis to meet them, talk about the Middle School and find out what the students themselves would like to see in the school—curriculum, policy, activities. They will be encouraged to visit the site with their parents and bring back questions and suggestions. This will be in addition to the planned inclusive orientation program for all students. Buonfiglio will also work with pupil personnel services on individual programs which will be formulated according to the academic, social and physical data available on each child.

Dr. Olivet, Connelly Hurt

Dr. John A. Olivet, 185 Clinton Avenue and Attorney Vincent G. Connelly of 142 Pearl Street, were injured in a two-car collision near the Plymouth, Mass., airport on Saturday, it was learned today.

Dr. Olivet, medical director at Benedictine Hospital, suffered a fractured hip and is a patient at the hospital. Attorney Connelly sustained injuries of the left ribs and right leg.

Robert Moore, Tarrytown attorney and formerly of Kingston, was driving the car in which Dr. Olivet and Connelly were riding when it was in collision with a vehicle driven by Dorothy Abramo of Watertown, Mass., at about 4:30 p. m. Saturday.

Connelly today said Dr. Olivet was treated at a Plymouth hospital, but examination disclosed no fracture. Sunday night Connelly drove Dr. Olivet home and on Monday he went to Benedictine Hospital where X-ray examination showed the fractured hip. He was admitted.

Connelly was examined at the hospital on Tuesday, but X-ray examination disclosed no fractures, the attorney said.

Connelly said he and Dr. Olivet were visiting at Moore's summer home at South Carver, Mass., where they went on Thursday, Aug. 11. Moore and Connelly have been friends since they attended Columbia College and Columbia Law School.

Moore sustained chest injuries and a fractured wrist and is at a Plymouth hospital.

122nd Dutchess County Fair Opens Tuesday Morning

RHINEBECK — The 122nd Dutchess County Fair, sparkling with features for the entire family, opens Tuesday morning, Aug. 22, with the 90-acre fairgrounds already bustling with activity.

"It looks like the biggest ever," according to S. Richard "Sam" Lloyd, manager-secretary. Last year's fair set an attendance record of 115,000.

Jo Ann Castle on Bill — The pre-sale tickets have "exceeded our expectations," Lloyd said. Already a record 141 exhibitors and concessionaires have taken space with only limited outdoor areas remaining. The program, opening at 10 a. m., through Sunday night, Aug. 27, offers headliner Jo Ann Castle, vibrant accordionist, honky-tonk pianist with Lawrence Welk's orchestra, afternoon and evening grandstand shows, two auto thrill shows, helicopter rides, dancing, fireworks displays, wildlife exhibit, pony racing and a horse pulling contest. Judges will be kept busy with three special events. They will pick a grand prize winner to climax an extended Talent Hunt, and select the 1967 Dutchess County Queen. Miss New York State will be on hand for the latter event.

Circle Arrest — C. J. Bebensee said the arrest was made at the traffic circle on Route 9W, Recktenwald, 26, of Poughkeepsie, was arrested by Troopers John Cro-delle and Robert Whalen of the Highland subdivision. Trooper Fire companies and bands and drum corps from throughout the Mid-Hudson Valley will vie for 14 trophies as a highlight of Firemen's Day.

Hall of Health — New this year is a Hall of Health. Free screening tests, sponsored by the New York State and the Dutchess County Health Departments, will be given to fair-goers over 21 years old. Another first is the 1967 Horticultural Show, formerly known as the Flower Show. "Bigger than ever" is the word for the fair's time-honored attractions—the dairy and beef competitions and the vying for championships in the fruits and vegetable, field crops, poultry, sheep, arts and crafts and Grange departments. Record numbers of boys and girls are seeking "Excellent" ratings in their various fields of interest. Horses will occupy their traditional eminence. Opening day will feature a program of horse races and the annual Horse Show, attracting entries and spectators from afar, will be a four-day spectacular, starting Wednesday. There are two new divisions this year, an Arabian horse and junior jumpers.

Two Family Days — Tuesday and Thursday will be Family Days, with children under 12 admitted free until 1 p. m. A special feature has been arranged for them. The mid-way again will present the Reithoffer Show.

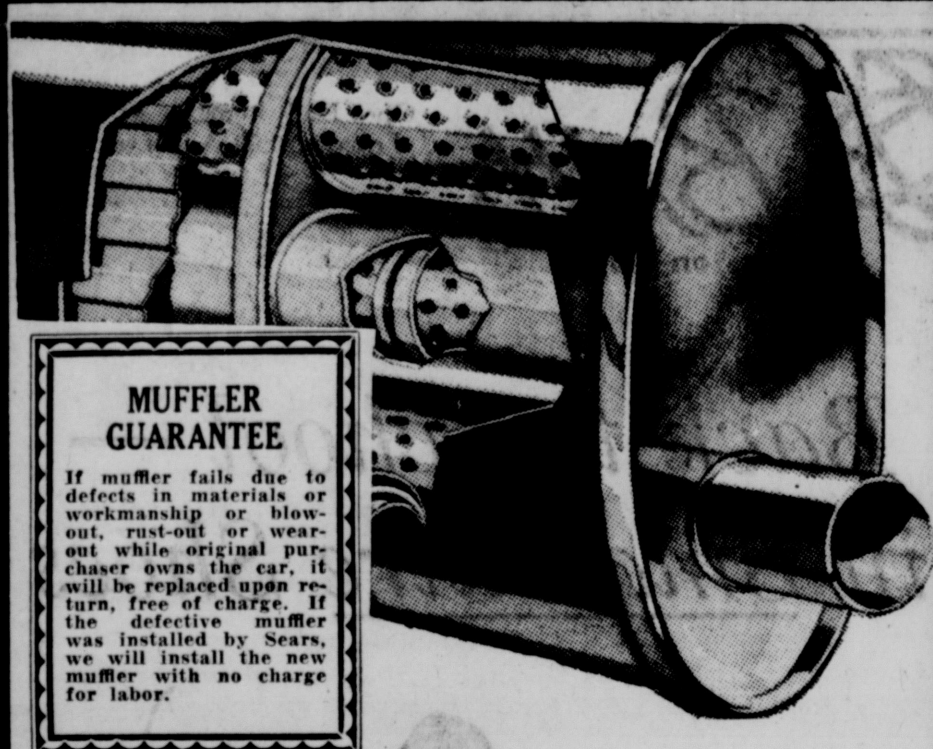

There will be the second edition of a Farm and Home Antique Show, a 1966 innovation and, again, a large picnic area awaits fairground visitors.

Ulster County Volunteer Firemen List 20 Trophies for September 9 Parade

There will be real competition for the 20 trophies already received by the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association to be awarded to winning organizations at the annual firemen's parade in Ellenville Saturday, Sept. 9. The parade will get underway at 4 p.m. but apparatus to participate in the judging must be at their station in line by 3 p.m. in order to be judged. In addition to the 20 trophies, now on display in Ellenville, it is expected there will be at least two more awards.

County Awards
Trophies to be awarded include 10 awards to county units, including auxiliaries, two awards for visiting units and additional trophies to be presented to musical units.

Trophies will be awarded to county units as follows:
Best appearing unit in regulation uniform.
Second best appearing unit in regulation uniform.

Other Categories

Parade route in the village at the Channel Master and Ellenville will be announced shortly. The parade will start the northerly edge of the village.

Probe Theft Of Batteries

The theft of 20 auto batteries, cut from their cables at DeMico Motors used car lot, 450 East Chestnut Street, is currently being investigated by Kingston police.

the theft occurred sometime within the last week. DeMico Motors spokesman said the batteries were housed in used cars. Police said wire-cutters were used to sever connecting wires.

The loss is estimated at $350.

Apparent Yacht Victim Former Area Resident

Dr. James Dodge, 56, a former Ulster Park resident was among four persons drowned when Dodge's yacht went down off Cape Hatteras, N. C., Friday.

The craft reportedly sunk within minutes during the storm throwing Dr. Dodge into the water. A survivor said the doctor was in the water for perhaps 15 minutes calling for help. There was no sight of him in the morning. Dr. Dodge used the facilities of the Rondout Boat Basin, near the Rondout Creek Bridge, for many years. He left Kingston for Trenton, N. J. last summer. A spokesman for the boat basin said Dr. Dodge had owned the ill-fated shrimp boat (the Lanran) a few years previous to leaving Kingston. The doctor was described as an "accomplished boatman" who had owned many "beautiful boats" through the years. A man, woman and baby perished with Dr. Dodge. There was one survivor.

Dr. James Dodge, 56, a former Ulster Park resident was among four persons drowned when Dodge's yacht went down off Cape Hattaras, N. C., Friday.

The Dodge craft, a 65-foot converted shrimp boat, reportedly broke up in a sudden, severe storm 50 miles off the

The craft reportedly sunk within minutes during the storm throwing Dr. Dodge into the water. A survivor said the doctor was in the water for perhaps 15 minutes calling for help. There was no sight of him in the morning.

Dr. Dodge used the facilities of the Rondout Boat Basin, near the Rondout Creek Bridge, for many years. He left Kingston for Trenton, N. J., last summer. A spokesman for the boat basin said Dr. Dodge had owned the ill-fated shrimp boat (the Lanran) a few years previous to leaving Kingston. The doctor was described as an "accomplished boatman" who had owned many "beautiful boats" through the years. A man, woman and baby perished with Dr. Dodge. There was one survivor.

Lettuce Produces N.Y. Cash

BY EVERETT DONA
Oswego Palladium-Times
OSWEGO, N. Y. (AP)—Lettuce is yielding crispy green dollars for farmers and field hands in the muckland area of Oswego County, southeast of Lake Ontario.

The harvest of iceberg lettuce is expected to be 144 million heads on 3,000 acres, 500 acres more than in 1966.

Some farmers have abandoned onions, carrots and potatoes this year in favor of lettuce. At the height of the harvest, from now until mid-September, the weekly payroll will exceed $100,000, according to a survey of 75 area farmers.

The Oswego black soil is not one solid area, but a series of deep deposits varying from a few acres to more than 100 acres. Each year, about 60 more acres of muckland are cleared for farming.

Refrigerated
After the lettuce is picked, it is packed, 24 heads to a carton and stored in vacuum cooler buildings. There, insects die and the temperature of the vegetable drops, in preparation for transport to market in refrigerator trucks that carry nearly 15,000 heads each.

After a wet, cool May, the crop responded to excellent growing weather. The heads of the Minetto variety of iceberg lettuce, developed by Dr. George Raleigh at Cornell University before his retirement last October, are of excellent size, flavor and texture.

The Minetto also is desirable for its long life on market shelves, its crispness and solidity.

Only 25 acres of the gourmet-type Bibb variety of iceberg lettuce—10 more than in 1966—are planted in Oswego County.

In the fall, the harvesters will turn to Variety 659, which is more frost-resistant.

On one day, a crew of 36 Filipino lettuce-harvesting experts from Arizona trimmed and packed 5,000 crates on four farms in 10 hours. This crew cut more than 120,000 heads that day. The day's total pack in the county was 100,000 crates.

Several growers are using space planting machines that drop seed at regular intervals. This reduces thinning later.

Irrigation Helps
Irrigation prevents burnoff and, with increased vacuum cooling facilities, growers are making long strides in production.

The Oswego market has been abetted by less favorable growing conditions in California. The U.S. Agriculture Department reported that the national lettuce crop was down 11 per cent in June.

About 1,000 men are employed in the Oswego County lettuce picking. Three harvesting machines are in operation, each requiring the efforts of 20 skilled hands. The $157,000 machines pick the lettuce and move it on conveyor belts to trimmers and packers.

Due soon are machines for machines for wrapping and packing lettuce, especially for shipment to Armed Forces overseas.

Closest to Oswego County in lettuce acreage in New York State is Orange County, with 1,400 acres and considerable muckland. The Elba District near Rochester has 500 acres of lettuce.

Stone Ridge

STONE RIDGE — Rondout Valley Methodist Church Women's Society is sponsoring a rummage sale to be held in the church hall on Saturday, Aug. 26 starting at 9:30 a. m. Anyone having articles for the sale may begin leaving them at the church or call Mrs. Jerry Krom. A children's bazaar will be held on Sept. 23. Summer church school will be at Krippelbush, Monday, Aug. 21 through Friday, Aug. 25 from 9 to 11:30 a. m. daily.

Work is progressing on the foundation for a huge steeple to be added to the Reformed Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Jansen and family have been on a week's vacation at Chippewa Bay.

Mrs. Ida Mae Ransom spent Sunday afternoon with her mother, Mrs. Florence Bishop.

Marlboro School Sets Registration

All new Marlboro School district residents of school age, who will be entering grades 6 through 12 will register with the guidance office at the old high school on Route 9W and Birdsall Avenue.

It is important that pupils be registered before Sept. 1 in order that they may be programmed for the year.

The guidance office will be open every day, Monday through Friday, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 3:30 p. m.

Bill May Be Smothered

House Passes Rights Bill Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — House members, including many who have denounced Negro rioting and Black Power advocates, overwhelmingly passed a bill to punish persons who interfere with federally protected civil rights.

But the bill, largely the same as a portion of the 1966 civil rights bill which died in the Senate, may face a similar fate, made to bypass the committee, and put the House-passed version on the floor for debate, but forecast a Southern filibuster if that tactic was used.

In the House, a majority of both parties supported the bill, which sailed through Wednesday 326 to 93 after a series of relatively minor amendments.

Senate sources rated the bill's chances of clearing the full Judiciary Committee as zero. They said an attempt might be made to bypass the committee, and put the House-passed version on the floor for debate, but forecast a Southern filibuster if that tactic was used.

Senate sources rated the bill's chances of clearing the full Judiciary Committee as zero. They said an attempt might be made to bypass the committee, and put the House-passed version on the floor for debate, but forecast a Southern filibuster if that tactic was used.

The bill would make it a federal crime for a person to interfere with, injure or intimidate, or threaten to injure or intimidate anyone because of his race, color, religion, national origin or political affiliation and because he is or has been engaging in certain protected activities.

These include voting, attending public schools, using public accommodations and public facilities, serving on state and local juries and participating in federally assisted programs.

Penalties would be up to one year and a $1,000 fine, except that serious bodily injury could bring up to 10 years and $10,000 and death could result in life imprisonment.

The most serious limitation adopted to the civil rights bill appeared to be one proposed by the Justice Department and offered by Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee.

It requires that the punishable acts must be committed both because of race, color, religion, political affiliation or national origin and because the victim is or has been engaging in the protected activities.

Rep. William T. Cahill, R-N.J., said the amendment, accepted by voice vote, would make it harder for U.S. attorneys to gain convictions.

But Celler read a letter from Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark saying the change would not appreciably hamper the government.

One Delegate's Viewpoint

A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION-REBERT

by James Matthews

The Constitutional Convention is entering the home stretch. Monday was the last day for committees to complete their deliberations and with the exception of a few unusual situations, all complied with the deadline.

The conclave is well within the time limitation it set for itself. Although some have previously expressed views that our work product would not be complete by Sept. 26, in time to be submitted to the people in November, there now appears to be little doubt that such a commitment will not be kept.

Last week saw the passage of a new legislative article. While not earth shaking in its innovations, it nevertheless is something that the delegates and the people of our state can justifiably be proud of.

Another First

The most newsworthy of the sections of the article dealt with the apportionment of congressional and legislative seats. For the first time in the history of the Empire State the formula for drawing the lines of Congressional lines is in the state's charter and not left to the whim and caprice of the party in power in Albany at the time of the decennial census.

Another first for the Convention was in placing the authority to draw congressional, senate and assembly lines in an agency other than the legislature where the power has resided since the first constitution in 1777. Ever since the one man-one vote ruling of the U. S. Supreme Court three years ago, there has been a steady increase in criticism against allowing the legislature to draw its own district lines.

Some advocated a commission to do the redistricting. The difficulty delegates had with this proposal was in finding a non-partisan group to undertake the task, yet the Convention finally settled for a commission.

The apportioning of legislative and congressional seats in New York State will be accomplished by a five member group. One each to be appointed by the majority and minority leaders of the Senate and the Speaker and minority leader of the Assembly. The fifth will be selected by the Court of Appeals and their designee will be the Chairman.

Equal Vote Assured

Under this new arrangement, the two major political parties will be assured of an equal vote. The prestige of the Court of Appeals and its insulation from the practical political arena makes their appointee a very logical impartial arbitrator.

Other changes in the legislative article are relatively minor and yet are improvements over what we now have. In some places from my viewpoint, the Convention has fallen short of the mark, but not seriously so.

The size of the Assembly is not changed from its present number of 150. Membership in the Senate is increased from the current 57 to 60. The size of new Senate districts will now be an even 2½ times that of the Assembly.

For years the legislators have been receiving sums of money "in lieu of expenses." Currently this amount is $3,000 and is designed to cover living expenses of the senators and assemblymen when away from home.

The late Al Smith termed these "in lieu of" expenses as "lulus." "Lulu is dead" said one of the delegates on the convention floor last week. Indeed he was correct. In place of the phrase of disrepute, the language of the new article allows reimbursement to a legislator for "actual and necessary expense."

In the area of disappointments should be listed the failure to increase the term of senators to four years. The fact that President Travia is the leader of the Assembly and might have trouble with his party's assemblymen if they were not accorded similar treatment as senators, undoubtedly influenced the outcome of the vote.

For the first time in American constitutional history, the word "gerrymandering" is used in the new article. While the expression once was considered slang, its meaning has now become quite clear and the word has appeared in several recent court decisions.

The new proposed constitution to be submitted this fall will have language that will prohibit gerrymandering in any form when the commission draws legislative and congressional lines.

As a member of the committee responsible for drafting of the new article, I am pleased with what we accomplished.

While our product is not all that I would have done if the choice were solely mine, nevertheless, I believe that it is the very best which could have come from a deliberative body of 27 members who comprised the committee. Further, it is my conviction it is the finest that 186 individuals making up the Convention could have prepared.

The jury of the voters will bring in its verdict in November.

HOME FOR GENTLEMEN — Up to 40 independent gentlemen with modest retirement income on Sept. 7 will be registered at Spillway Lodge, a beautiful country estate offering every convenience and comfort. Spillway Lodge is located near Ashokan Reservoir, 12 miles from Kingston on Route 28A, West Hurley. For eight years, Emil and Elsa Egesdorfer have operated this beautiful lodge for discriminating summer guests. From now on everything that attracted this exclusive clientele will be enjoyed the year round. Comfortable quarters, fine meals, large living rooms with fireplaces, TV, Hi-fi, library, card tables, shuffleboard, swimming, horseshoe pitching, hunting and fishing are only some of the conveniences available. The estate comprises 121 acres of beautiful woodlands. A spacious dining room, large swimming pool, attractive furnished comfortable rooms are available to those who register. Hunting in nearby nimrod deer country is a decided feature. The lodge caters solely to independent gentlemen with retirement incomes. In its new role, the lodge will provide a unique and important service in the area. Openings still are available. They must be limited. Personally conducted tours of the estate are offered to potential residents. Information will be provided upon request. The lodge offers all recreational facilities and comforts of a fine hotel, plus the personalized attention that could only be equalled at home. The lodge has been a showplace more than 30 years. Pole Vaulter?

TWIN FALLS, Idaho (AP) — In an auto crash a five-foot fence pole went through the chest of Troy Spencer, 31, of Las Vegas, Nev., and one end of it came out his armpit.

A passing motorist took him to a hospital in a car whose windows were rolled down so both Spencer and the pole could fit inside, and he had to walk sideways through the hospital door.

The pole was removed by surgeons who said Spencer probably could be released in about two weeks.

New Guard Advisor

First Sergeant Vet Of 17-Year Service

First Sergeant John A. Thomas was recently assigned to the 1st Battalion 156th Artillery as the U. S. Army Advisor to the local National Guard unit. He will provide guidance in matters of administration, supply and artillery procedure.

His background in these areas dates back to 1960 when he entered the Army. After completing basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., he was assigned to combat duty with the 15th Infantry Regiment in Korea where he was awarded the Combat Infantryman's Badge, the Korean Service Medal with four Bronze Stars, the Presidential Unit Citation and the Good Conduct Medal with four clasps.

In Germany, Korea

Subsequently Sgt. Thomas served as personnel sergeant, artillery section chief, administrative sergeant major and first sergeant in such duty stations as Fort Campbell, Ky., Fort Carson, Colo., overseas service in Germany and additional tours of duty in Korea.

His career also includes a tour as Army Advisor to a U.S. Army Reserve unit in South Bend, Ind. His last tour of duty before coming to Kingston was in Korea.

Sgt. Thomas and his wife, Mary, reside with their three children in Sleightsburg.

Area Children Plan Carnival As MD Benefit

A neighborhood Carnival for the benefit of muscular dystrophy victims will be held on Saturday, Aug. 26, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Newman, City Hall Road, Rochester Center, RFD Accord.

Miss Catherine Quick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester B. Quick, will serve as ringmaster, assisted by Shirley Quick, Sue Markle and Betty Markle.

The carnival, which begins at 2 p.m., will feature such games as penny pitch, tin target, pot ball, Canadian Woodsmen and pie toss, and all proceeds will go to aid the fight against dystrophy and related diseases afflicting millions.

Last year, in cooperation with Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, more than 16,970 Carnivals were held by children across the country, and over $275,822 was raised for MDA's research and patient service program.

Area Residents Complete Exams

Several Ulster County residents have successfully completed New York State Education Department examinations.

John H. Nelson of Main Street, Gardiner, completed the exam in veterinary medicine.

Completing exams as dental hygienists are Julie Marie Holzman of 47 West Hurley Road and Charlotte Ann McKee of Box 181, both of Woodstock.

For Prison Visits

NEW YORK (AP) — The Mississippi State Penitentiary program of conjugal visits for married prisoners appears to keep morale up, homosexuality down, and marriages intact, the Criminal Law Bulletin reports.

The program, said to be the only officially sanctioned one of its kind in the nation, also seems to cut down on repeated offenses, the article said.

The visits on the first and third Sundays of each month at the prison in Parchman, Miss., were described in the bulletin by Columbus B. Hopper, an associated professor of sociology at the University of Mississippi.

A trustee gives keys and checkout times for each of institution's 8 by 10 rooms set up for the purpose. They are furnished with beds, tables and mirrors.

Women inmates are not allowed conjugal visits from husbands, for fear of pregnancies.

Bahaism is a religious movement that was started in Persia about the middle of the 19th century.

Questions, Answers on Federal Tax

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I disagree with what your agent proposes as a result of my audit. Is there any way I can have someone else review the case without making a court case out of it? The amount involved is only several hundred dollars.

A—You should inform the examining agent that you do not agree with his proposed adjustments and desire a district conference. A conferee will consider your side of the story as well as the examining agent's and attempt to reach an agreement on the basis of the facts and law involved.

No formal or written protest need be made to obtain such a conference where the amount of the tax liability in question is up to $2,500. The previous limit was $1,000.

Q—I plan to sell some property I inherited from my grandmother. How do I tell whether I have any profit to report?

A—The basis to use is the fair market value at the time you inherited it. If you obtain more than this value when you sell, then you will have to report the difference as income.

Don't forget, however, that you may deduct expenses you have in connection with the sale to determine whether you treatment of gains and losses from the sale or exchange of both business and nonbusiness property is covered in IRS Document No. 5048. For a free copy send a post card to your district director.

Your son will have to file a tax return if his income does reach $600 or if taxes have been withheld from his wages and he wants to obtain a refund.

Q—Is there any difference between a pension from the government and one from a private company when it comes to taxes?

A—If the government pension is from Social Security it will not be taxable. Civil Service pensions and those from private companies will be taxable depending on how long it takes to recover the amount of your contributions to them.

This subject is covered in IRS Document No. 5018, Retirement Income and Credit. Send a post card to your district director to obtain a free copy.

Q—I got a letter asking for my Social Security Number. Where should I send it?

A—Send the information to the office requesting it. Most of these inquiries originate from the service center and the information should be sent there.

Check to see if a pre-addressed envelope came with the request. One is normally enclosed.

Q—I was reimbursed for travel and hotel expenses by a company which wanted to hire me. I didn't take the job, however. Will I have to declare this expense money as income?

A—The reimbursement will not have to be declared as income unless it exceeds your actual expenses. In that case, the excess should be reported as income when you file your 1967 return. If your expenses exceed the reimbursement they are not deductible.

Area Children Plan Carnival As MD Benefit

A neighborhood Carnival for the benefit of muscular dystrophy victims will be held on Saturday, Aug. 26, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Newman, City Hall Road, Rochester Center, RFD Accord.

Miss Catherine Quick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester B. Quick, will serve as ringmaster, assisted by Shirley Quick, Sue Markle and Betty Markle.

The carnival, which begins at 2 p.m., will feature such games as penny pitch, tin target, pot ball, Canadian Woodman and pie toss, and all proceeds will go to aid the fight against dystrophy and related diseases afflicting millions.

Last year, in cooperation with Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, more than 16,970 Carnivals were held by children across the country and over $275,822 was raised for MDA's research and patient service program.

Area Residents Complete Exams

Several Ulster County residents have successfully completed New York State Education Department examinations.

John H. Nelson of Main Street, Gardiner, completed the exam in veterinary medicine. Irving Larry Eckstein of 9 Park Street, Ellenville, is newly licensed as a dentist.

Completing exams as dental hygienists are Julie Marie Holmzer of 47 West Hurley Road and Charlotte Ann McKee of Box 181, both of Woodstock.

For Prison Visits

NEW YORK (AP) — The Mississippi State Penitentiary program of conjugal visits for married prisoners appears to keep morale up, homosexuality down, and marriages intact, the Criminal Law Bulletin reports.

The program, said to be the only officially sanctioned one of its kind in the nation, also seems to cut down on repeated offenses, the article said.

The visits on the first and third Sundays of each month at the prison in Parchman, Miss., were described in the bulletin by Columbus B. Hopper an associated professor of sociology at the University of Mississippi.

A trustee gives keys and check-out times for each of institution's 8 by 10 rooms set up for the purpose. They are furnished with beds, tables and mirrors.

Women inmates are not allowed conjugal visits from husbands, for fear of pregnancies.

Baháism is a religious movement that was started in Persia about the middle of the 19th century.

Questions, Answers on Federal Tax

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I disagree with what your agent proposes as a result of my audit. Is there any way I can have someone else review the case without making a court case out of it? The amount involved is only several hundred dollars.

A—You should inform the examining agent that you do not agree with his proposed adjustments and desire a district conference. A conferee will consider your side of the story as well as the examining agent's and attempt to reach an agreement on the basis of the facts and law involved.

No formal or written protest need be made to obtain such a conference where the amount of the tax liability in question is up to $2,500. The previous limit was $1,000.

Q—I plan to sell some property I inherited from my grandmother. How do I tell whether I have any profit to report?

A—The basis to use is the fair market value at the time you inherited it. If you obtain more than this value when you sell, then you will have to report the difference as income.

Don't forget, however, that you may deduct expenses you have in connection with the sale to determine whether you treatment of gains and losses from the sale or exchange of both business and nonbusiness property is covered in IRS Document No. 5048. For a free copy send a post card to your district director.

Your son will have to file a tax return if his income does reach $600 or if taxes have been withheld from his wages and he wants to obtain a refund.

Q—Is there any difference between a pension from the government and one from a private company when it comes to taxes?

A—If the government pension is from Social Security it will not be taxable. Civil Service pensions and those from private companies will be taxable depending on how long it takes to recover the amount of your contributions to them.

This subject is covered in IRS Document No. 5018, Retirement Income and Credit. Send a post card to your district director to obtain a free copy.

Q—I got a letter asking for my Social Security Number. Where should I send it?

A—Send the information to the office requesting it. Most of these inquiries originate from the service center and the information should be sent there.

Check to see if a pre-addressed envelope came with the request. One is normally enclosed.

Q—I was reimbursed for travel and hotel expenses by a company which wanted to hire me. I didn't take the job, however. Will I have to declare this expense money as income?

A—The reimbursement will not have to be declared as income unless it exceeds your actual expenses. In that case, the excess should be reported as income when you file your 1967 return. If your expenses exceed the reimbursement they are not deductible.

session are children of the first grade section. (Freeman photos by Kruh)

In Program

More than 200 children are participating in the summer vacation school of religion sponsored by St. Joseph's Parish through its Confraternity of Christian Doctrine.

Instructors are seven Christian Brothers from St. Joseph's Institute, Barrytown and two sisters of St. Ursula, assisted by certified lay teachers of the parish. The Rev. John T. Mulligan, assistant pastor at St. Joseph's Church, is director of the three-week program.

Children are aided in spiritual, cultural and social growth through biblical and liturgical study. Activities include art, music and recreation.

Older classes visit the Christian Brothers Institute at Barrytown once a week for a full day to study and recreation.

The summer program is designed to supplement the religious training provided during the regular school year. Sessions are held each day 10 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. at St. Joseph's School.

TIME OUT FOR ART—Kathleen Ruth and Harry Beck try their creative skills during arts and crafts session at St. Joseph's Parish summer school. Brother Ralph A. Montedoro gives advice.

Ulster Flag Flying Over Joy's Unit

An American flag will be flown over headquarters of Second Battalion, 26th Marines at Phu Bai, Vietnam, the week of August 12 through 18, in memory of Corp. Chester J. Joy, 19, of Kingston who was killed in action in Vietnam.

The flag has a sentimental value here. It was sent to Vietnam by Ulster Hose Company 5. Edward H. Engedhardt, chairman of the Ulster County Vietnam Servicemen's Committee, yesterday received a letter from Major James H. Landers, U. S. Marine Corps executive officer, 3rd Division, Vietnam.

Major Landers said the flag arrived in Vietnam on Aug. 11 and it will be flown over the headquarters of the Second Battalion at Phu Bai through this week. At the end of that period, Major Landers will return the flag to Engedhardt with a letter from the battalion commander. The flag will later be presented to Cpl. Joy's last May. He had served in Vietnam since last fall and was due to return stateside this month.

Reporting on packages for county men in Vietnam, Engedhardt said volunteers prepared more gift packages at the Ulster Hose Co. firehouse Wednesday night. To date the committee has sent 1,169 packages and a shipment of 130 packages was scheduled for today, making a total number of packages 1,299. The committee estimated 500 additional packages are ready for shipment.

Serving with F Company, Second Battalion, 26th Marines in the vicinity of the demilitarized zone in Quang Tri Province, Corp. John suffered gun shot wounds to the head while attacking hostile forces last May. He had served in Vietnam since last fall and was due to return stateside this month.

Ulysses to Make Rounds in October

By DONALD E. L. JOHNSON
Chicago Sun-Times Special

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Ulysses, the controversial, censor board-provoking movie shown in limited engagements at $5 a head earlier this year will not make a profit until 1968.

Chicago security analysts, however, got the word last week that the film's distributor and partial owner plans to put Ulysses into general distribution in October.

Walter Reade Jr., chairman and president of the Walter Reade Organization Inc., also told the analysts, at an "off the record" briefing, recent test marketing of the film have proved highly successful.

Promoter that he is, Reade could not resist expressing his enthusiasm for the potential of both Ulysses and War and Peace, a $100,000,000 (M) 10-hour Russian-made film that Reade plans to start distributing in December or early next year.

Although the meeting was supposed to be off the record, the analysts are almost certainly spreading the word along La Salle Street.

Reade, who owns about 1,150,000 (M) of the 1,588,071 shares of his company's outstanding common stock, told the group he would like to see earnings increase to about 10 per cent of revenues in 1968, or about $2,000,000. "But this is just a target," he added.

But as one friendly, but inquisitive, securities analyst pointed out to Reade: "You haven't shown any demonstrated growth in earnings recently, while the rest of the companies in your field have."

Reade, who later admitted the analyst was well informed about his company, noted that the third quarter and the second half of the year are the best for the film distributor.

He predicted that 1967 earnings will be well above the 22 cents a share earned in 1966. Last year, profits fell to $342,000 or 22 cents a share, from $505,000, or 32 cents a share in 1965. Revenues fell to $16,148,000 from $16,232,000 (M).

In a couple of weeks, Reade will report first-half earnings of about 10 cents a share, exclusive of a 4 cents a share special credit, compared with total first-half earnings of $61,000, or 4 cents a share in 1966.

Commenting on his company's recent growth, Reade noted that the Walter Reade organization has added 12 theaters to its chain since the end of last year, bringing its total to 55. Two more will open soon in Los Angeles and Las Vegas.

Theaters account for 50 per cent of the Walter Reade organization's total revenues; the company plans to expand into 18 additional cities in the next few years.

The executive said The Esquire Theater in Chicago has been profitable since his company started operating it some 14 months ago.

The reason The Esquire has been a success, he said, is the Walter Reade organization's concentration of specialized audience which we feel is becoming an increasingly important segment of the American movie-going public.

Reade proudly notes that, "seven of the 10 films voted best of the year by the New York City film critics last year premiered in seven of our first-run New York theaters."

By specializing in long-run, "hard ticket road shows," such as "A Man For All Seasons," which has been at The Esquire for months, the Walter Reade organization can cut cost and increase profits.

"We do not compete with the majors in terms of price, promotional expenditures or size of circuit," Reade said.

In the early 1950s, the Walter Reade organization organized the Continental Distributing Co., a film distribution operation. In 1962, the company acquired Sterling Television Inc.

Thus, the Walter Reade organization has the capacity to produce, distribute and exhibit movies. "This broad creative and distribution capability is unique in the industry and provides us with some real competitive advantages," Reade said.

The company's film library includes more than 500 full-length feature films. Reade says he has never had the library appraised and doesn't intend to, but the friendly analyst told Reade he figures the library is worth $10,000,000 to $11,000,000 or more.

Reade said the films are sold to television stations in every major market in the United States and abroad. "We generally release one major film package per year to groups such as RKO General, Westinghouse, Kaiser and owned and operated groups," he said. "We also directly sell to the three major networks. The rights to future exhibitions generally revert back to us on termination of a particular contract for a specific market," he said.

In 1963, the company started its Sterling Educational Films

Division, which produces and distributes 16mm films to schools, colleges and libraries. Last year the division doubled its gross and more than doubled its profits; this performance was duplicated in the first half of 1967.

Another division "that almost runs itself," has been organized to "exploit the music rights from sound tracks of our films," Reade said.

Hails Spain's Cooperation in Film Making

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

MADRID (AP) — Why would a Hollywood producer come to Spain to film a movie about Pancho Villa, Mexico's bandit revolutionary?

The reasons are mostly economic, partly political, according to Ted Richmond, veteran of filming in Hollywood ("Mississippi Belle") and Spain ("Return of the Seven"). He will soon begin shooting "Villa Rides," starring Yul Brynner and Robert Mitchum. The new film bears no relationship to the memorable 1934 movie "Viva Villa!" starring Wallace Beery. "This is an entirely new story," says Richmond, "and we are doing everything to bring it up to date. For instance, Villa commands his army from a 1910 Dodge, which is based on fact. And Mitchum plays a pilot who flies reconnoitering missions for Villa (Brynner)."

The Paramount film could have been made in Mexico or California, either of which offers landscape approximating that marauded by Villa just before American entrance into the first World War. Yet Richmond chose to make "Villa Rides" in Spain.

He hinted that the problems with Mexico were largely political, the government there has been increasingly concerned with the Mexican image in films, as evidence by the recently lifted ban of Frank Sinatra because of alleged slurs against Mexican divorce laws in his film "Divorce on the Rocks." A movie about the highly controversial Villa might produce a hornet's nest of censorial problems.

But such problems appear to be minor compared to those of an economic nature. The fact remains that filming in Spain is much less expensive than in Hollywood, or Mexico.

By DONALD E. L. JOHNSON
Chicago Sun-Times Special

CHICAGO, Aug. 14—Ulysses, the controversial, censor board-provoking movie shown in limited engagements at $5 a head earlier this year will not make a profit until 1968.

Chicago security analysts, however, got the word last week that the film's distributor and partial owner plans to put Ulysses into general distribution in October.

Walter Reade Jr., chairman and president of the Walter Reade Organization Inc., also told the analysts, at an "off the record" briefing, recent test marketing of the film have proved highly successful.

Promoter that he is, Reade could not resist expressing his enthusiasm for the potential of both Ulysses and War and Peace, a $100,000,000 (M) 10-hour Russian-made film that Reade plans to start distributing in December or early next year.

Although the meeting was supposed to be off the record the analysts are almost certainly spreading the word along La Salle Street.

Reade, who owns about 1,150,000 (M) of the 1,588,071 shares of his company's outstanding common stock, told the group he would like to see earnings increase to about 10 per cent of revenues in 1968, or about $2,000,000. "But this is just a target," he added.

But as one friendly, but inquisitive, securities analyst pointed out to Reade: "You haven't shown any demonstrated growth in earnings recently, while the rest of the companies in your field have."

Reade, who later admitted the analyst was well informed about his company, noted that the third quarter and the second half of the year are the best for the film distributor.

He predicted that 1967 earnings will be well above the 22 cents a share earned in 1966. Last year, profits fell to $342,000 or 22 cents a share, from $505,000, or 32 cents a share in 1965. Revenues fell to $16,148,000 from $16,232,000 (M).

In a couple of weeks, Reade will report first-half earnings of about 10 cents a share, exclusive of a 4 cents a share special credit, compared with 10 cents a share in 1966.

Reade said the picture in Spain for $3.5 million," said the producer. "The same production values in an American-made film would be double the cost."

Richmond is by no means a "runaway" producer. This is only his third Spanish-made film. But his first one was enough to sway him to filming here.

"I experienced the worst disaster ever suffered in a film," he recalled. "Ty Power died after we had shot nine reels of 'Solomon and Sheba'—nine reels of completed film. We were faced with a terrible loss. But the Spanish government insisted that everyone go off salary until the picture was able to resume."

The film was shot again with Yul Brynner as star and eventually proved a profitable investment.

Says Richmond: "That convinced me of the spirit of cooperation of the Spanish government."

total first-half earnings of $61,000, or 4 cents a share in 1966.

Commenting on his company's recent growth, Reade noted that the Walter Reade organization has added 12 theaters to its chain since the end of last year, bringing its total to 55. Two more will open soon in Los Angeles and Las Vegas.

Theaters account for 50 per cent of the Walter Reade organization's total revenues; the company plans to expand into 18 additional cities in the next few years.

The executive said The Esquire Theater in Chicago has been profitable since his company started operating it some 14 months ago.

The reason The Esquire has been a success, he said, is the Walter Reade organization's concentration of specialized films aimed at "a special adult audience which we feel is becoming an increasingly important segment of the American movie-going public."

Reade proudly notes that, "seven of the 10 films voted 'best of the year' by the New York City film critics last year premiered in seven of our first-run New York theaters."

By specializing in long-run, "hard ticket road shows," such as "A Man For All Seasons," which has been at The Esquire for months, the Walter Reade organization can cut cost and increase profits.

"We do not compete with the majors in terms of price, promotional expenditures or size of circuit," Reade said.

In the early 1950s, the Walter Reade organization organized the Continental Distributing Co., a film distribution operation. In 1962, the company acquired Sterling Television Inc.

Thus, the Walter Reade organization has the capacity to produce, distribute and exhibit movies. "This broad creative and distribution capability is unique in the industry and providing us with some real competitive advantages," Reade said.

The company's film library includes more than 500 full-length feature films. Reade says he has never had the library appraised and doesn't intend to, but the friendly analyst told Reade he figures the library is worth $10,000,000 to $11,000,000 or more.

Reade said the films are sold to television stations in every major market in the United States and abroad. "We generally release one major film package per year to groups such as RKO General, Westinghouse, Kaiser and owned and operated houses," he said. "We also directly sell to the three major networks. The rights to future exhibitions generally revert back to us on termination of a particular contract for a specific market," he said.

In 1963, the company started its Sterling Educational Films

Division, which produces and distributes 16mm films to schools, colleges and libraries. Last year the division doubled its gross and more than doubled its profits; this performance was duplicated in the first half of 1967.

Another division "that almost runs itself," has been organized to "exploit the music rights from sound tracks of our films," Reade said.

unique in the industry and providing us with some real competitive advantages," Reade said.

The company's film library includes more than 500 full-length feature films. Reade says he has never had the library appraised and doesn't intend to, but the friendly analyst told Reade he figures the library is worth $10,000,000 to $11,000,000 or more.

Reade said the films are sold to television stations in every major market in the United States and abroad. "We generally release one major film package per year to groups such as RKO General, Westinghouse, Kaiser and owned and operated houses," he said. "We also directly sell to the three major networks. The rights to future exhibitions generally revert back to us on termination of a particular contract for a specific market," he said.

ANTHONY DI BONAVENTURA, internationally acclaimed pianist, will be guest soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra at Saratoga Performing Arts Center, on August 20, performing works by Bizet, Beethoven and Elgar.

Variety for Saratoga Concert

This Saturday (August 19) two of the leading figures behind the success of the New York City Opera, Julius Rudel and Beverly Sills, join forces at the Saratoga Performing Arts Center with the Philadelphia Orchestra in the presentation of a special Viennese program.

Mr. Rudel, musical director of the New York City Opera, will be guest conductor that evening with Miss Sills, the lyric soprano who is the ranking prima donna of the New York City Opera, as soloist. Season after season, in both the standard repertoire and in premiere works, their thorough artistry has helped catapult the New York City Opera to the forefront of American and world companies.

An aura of romanticism and lyric charm will fill the Performing Arts Center that evening, as Mr. Rudel leads The Philadelphia Orchestra in a program that includes: The Overture to "Rosamunde" (Schubert), Symphony No. 41 in C major (Mozart), Three Songs from "Des Knaben Wunderhorn" (Mahler), Suite from "Der Rosenkavalier" (R. Strauss) and three works by Johann Strauss, Saffi's Song from "The Gypsy Baron," Tales from the Vienna Woods and The Beautiful Blue Danube.

The following evening, August 20, two popular favorites from last year will be united when Seiji Ozawa leads The Philadelphia Orchestra with Anthony di Bonaventura as soloist on piano.

Mr. Ozawa, the brilliant young Japanese conductor, is music director of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra and the Ravinia Festival in Chicago. Called by The New York Times "a conductor destined for greatness," he has won the admiration and respect of both orchestras and audiences wherever he conducts.

Pianist Anthony di Bonaventura is a prime example of the "infant prodigy" who fulfills the promise of his youth. He began playing the piano at three, won a scholarship to New York's Music School Settlement at six and appeared as soloist with the New York Philharmonic at thirteen.

The program for the August 20 concert features Bizet's Symphony No. 1 in C major, Beethoven's Concerto No. 4 in G major for Piano and Orchestra and Elgar's Enigma Variations.

The Philadelphia Orchestra is performing Thursday through Sunday evening at 8:30 until August 27 at the Saratoga Performing Arts Center. Tickets are on sale at the Performing Arts Center Box Office in Saratoga Springs.

JULIUS RUDEL, impresario conductor, will lead the Philadelphia Orchestra in an all Viennese program on August 19 featuring Beverly Sills, soprano. The program will include works by Schubert, Mozart, Mahler, Richard and Johann Strauss.

Paper Wigs Are Introduced

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — In the old Mother Goose rhyme, Jack went to bed to heal his head with vinegar and brown paper.

Somehow vinegar has been lost in the translation, but brown paper is "healing" feminine heads in the form of wigs, and wiglets.

Travis Johnson, head hair stylist for Neiman-Marcus, decided that hair styles should participate in the paper dress fashion trend. He created from brown paper a wig of long, giddy curls, with a few feathers tucked in for effect.

He recommends the wig for wear after swimming, or with any casual dress—paper or not. For more formal occasions, Travis recommends a longer wig of colored paper and feathers. The curls should match the print of the dress—or else provide contrast with the color of the hair.

He visualizes a fountain of blue, green, pink and orange paper curls for a vivid brunette, for instance. A blonde or a red head would get a cooler color combination for her paper curls. To be effective, the paper wig must contrast with the natural color of the hair, Travis believes.

So far, the wigs and wiglets are not available except by special order. They have been worn, however—to one of the better charity balls in Houston. They created a sensation. What woman wouldn't be intrigued with the possibility of a second, disposable head, made of brown—or colored—paper?

Synagogue News

Ahavath Israel

Religious services are held at Congregation Ahavath Israel, 100 Lucas Avenue, a Conservative Congregation affiliated with the United Synagogue of America, every Friday 8 p. m., Saturday 9:30 a. m. and at sundown, and Sunday 10 a. m. and at sundown. Weekly services are held every morning at 7 and every evening at sundown.

This Friday the services will be devoted to the theme of Shabos Nachamu, the Sabbath with the prophetic reading after the reading of the Pentateuch, begins with the words, Nachamu, Nachamu Ami, Comfort ye, comfort ye my people. It is the Sabbath of consolation.

after the destruction of the Holy Temple in Jerusalem. Rabbi Harry Z. Schechter will speak on How Can A People Be Comforted. The liturgy will be chanted by Cantor L. Larry Jacobs.

This Saturday the Bar Mitzvah of William Samuels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Samuels, will be celebrated. The Sabbath morning services will begin at 9:30, and the Bar Mitzvah celebration will be called to the Torah reading, and will chant the Prophetic Reading. He will be given his Bar Mitzvah charge by Rabbi Schechter who will also bless the boy and his parents. Friends may attend the Saturday morning celebration and the collation after the services.

Test Divorces May Save Marriages

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Here in this so-called "Land of the Midnight Sun," there is the "test divorce," something like a trial marriage in reverse.

This has given the country a reputation for providing an easy out to an uneasy conjugal union. But the test divorce is actually one of several ways that Sweden, despite some liberal attitudes here towards pre-marital sex and adultery, fights to preserve the family unit.

Still, the authorities in this Protestant country are not out to save marriages at all cost to the individuals. On the contrary, it is generally admitted that a divorce may be the only solution for people who would break down physically and psychologically under the emotional strain of making a go of it.

In specific cases a Swedish marriage can be dissolved almost instantly, without any "test divorce." Deemed totally beyond reconciliation are cases involving admitted adultery, bigamy, alcoholism, drug addiction, criminal assault and battery, venereal infections, or persons sentenced to more than two years in prison.

However, the majority of Swedish husbands and wives wishing to end their union are forced to test the wisdom of their actions by living apart for a while.

This test divorce—or separation, which must last for at least a year—is easy to get. The man and wife simply hand the court a joint application, stating they are unable to live together on grounds of "long and unreconcilable incompatibility." (That is a pat expression which no one is asked to prove or explain.)

The couple meets with a court appointed mediator, usually a minister or other suitably trained person, and then the court makes a decree for judicial separation.

If during the test divorce, the couple find their decision was a hasty one, all they have to do to revalidate their marriage is to move in under the same roof.

After at least a year of testing, if man and wife still want to be rid of each other—which they usually do—they file a new petition for a legal divorce.

Often all matters concerning alimony and property are agreed upon when the application reaches the court, which merely confirms the agreement. In case of controversy, however, detailed rules stipulate the right to joint property and assets.

Divorces have increased from the 1500 among the 6 million population of 1927 to 8,563 divorces in an 8 million population today.

Named Guest Speaker by Demo. Women

Members and friends of the Ulster County Democratic Women's Club will have a get-together Sunday, Aug. 20 at 1 p. m. in upper Hasbrouck Park, Delaware Avenue, Kingston. The occasion will be the club's annual picnic and highlight of the afternoon will be an address by Mary Anne Krupak, member of the advisory committee to State Democratic Committee Chairman William McKeon.

A member of the New York Bar Association, Dr. Krupak received her Doctor of Law degree from the University of Chicago. She is special assistant counsel to the President at the Constitutional Convention; serves as counsel, Advisory Committee to the Speaker, New York State Assembly; counsel, Office of the President Protem, New York State Senate; and executive assistant to Howard J. Samuels in his capacity as president of Kordite Company.

Other political activities include being a member of Theodore F. Sorenson Task Force; campaign coordinator for legislative candidates and Democratic State Committee; special research projects director for the Morgenthau campaign for governor; served as liaison between the governor's office and research director for the Democratic State Committee; member of the Montgomery County Democratic Committee; organizer and co-chairman of the Montgomery Young Democrats; and was organizer of the Eleanor Roosevelt's Women's Democratic Club, Montgomery County.

Plans for the picnic include a luncheon at 2 p. m. and an antique sale.

The Doctor Says

DEATH MAY BE BRASS RING ON LSD MERRY-GO ROUND

(Last of two related articles)
Although there is every indication that LSD is a dangerous drug and although it cannot be bought legally, it is taken by many young persons to escape from a life that, with sober effort, they could set about to improve.

In many users this has proved to be an escape into an unreality that is a nightmare more horrible than reality at its most depressing. LSD may make you think it is Christmas in July but the gaily colored package under the tree may be death.

Fortunately for those who have been hooked on this drug, which is not truly habit-forming but which may have left them in a state of panic or mental confusion, a cure is available. The victim must usually be treated in a hospital to make sure he does not harm himself or others. Chlorpromazine or a similar drug has been found to be very helpful.

While we are on the subject, I would like to refer to two other reputedly hallucinogenic drugs (drugs that cause you to enter a dream world without actually going to sleep).

The first, not yet given a chemical name, is contained in dried scrapings from banana peels. The Food and Drug Administration spent two months investigating this substance, using every formula known to the hippies, and was unable to find any hallucinogenic properties in it. This, therefore, appears to be a giant hoax and those who claim to be transported by smoking banana peels are either undergoing self-hypnosis or have reinforced their banana peel with a dollop of marijuana or LSD.

A new and more serious problem is the emergence of methyl dimethoxy methyl phenethylamine, a compound that for some unknown reason is called STP. Capsules or tablets of this substance can be obtained only from illicit sources and about the same price as LSD. Its effects are similar to those of LSD and just as unpredictable.

Granted that this is not a perfect world, those persons who seek to escape from it through the use of drugs are sadly lacking in a sense of responsibility. They are the ones who, instead of trying to make this a better world, have given up without a struggle.

KEEP YOUR BABY FREE OF IRRITATING RASHES

Good care of your baby's tender skin helps to prevent rashes. Mothers often contribute to their baby's skin trouble by putting too many clothes on him, especially in warm weather. In your desire to protect your baby from drafts, don't forget that he needs some circulation of air around his skin. Also a room that is a little cool is better for both his skin and his general metabolism than a room that is too warm.

Don't dress your baby in nonporous clothing with tight elastic bands. During his nap put a knitted soaker over his diaper rather than rubber pants. This will take up excess moisture and still allow air to reach his skin. If you use a nonporous sheet or mattress cover, always place an absorbent quilted pad beneath this and the baby to soak up excessive moisture.

The chief means of preventing skin problems is to keep your baby's skin clean. If you enjoy giving him his bath he will sense your enjoyment and look forward to it, especially if he has certain toys he can play with only at that time.

Whether you sponge or tub your baby, get everything you will need within easy reach before you start the bath. If, after you have started, you find that you have forgotten something, take the baby with you. It is unsafe to leave him alone in the bath for even a few seconds.

Use a cornstarch base bath powder in the folds of your baby's skin after you dry him. This will help to keep the skin dry. It is more absorbent than talcum powder and doesn't form beads in the skin folds. Don't shake the powder on him directly but pour or sprinkle it on your hand then apply it gently so he won't inhale the dust.

Proper laundering of your baby's clothes is important in the prevention of skin irritations. Diapers should be treated with an antiseptic rinse. Never use boracic acid for this purpose. The rinse will prevent the formation of ammonia in diapers up to 15 hours after they become soiled. If you use a diaper service, choose one that offers this kind of added protection.

On warm bright days expose your baby to the sun but protect his face and limit the exposure of two minutes on the first day. After that you can increase the exposure but there is nothing to be gained by extending the sun bath to more than 10 or 12 minutes a day.

Apple Pies Are Doing Cartwheels Now

Variety is a valuable menu-planning device which intelligent cooks rank right along with quality ingredients and accurate measurements to produce meals which not only nourish but please. When variety is lacking even a well-loved dessert stands in danger of becoming "the same old thing," or "oh, that gain." Almost everybody's favorite pie is apple, and today's recipe brings an interesting new dimension to apple pie by borrowing the upside-down technique from cake-baking. The filling combines traditional spices and those convenient canned pie-sliced apples.

The "top"—and delightful difference—of this upside-down treat is a layer of shredded coconut and pecan halves which is placed on the bottom of the pie-dish before the pie-crust is fitted in. The completed pie is good to look at, better to eat, and brings a variety to apple pie that your family is sure to enjoy.

UPSIDE DOWN APPLE PIE

2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
1/4 cup pecan halves
1/2 cup shredded coconut
2 tablespoons honey pastry for double crust 9-inch pie
2/3 cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 lb. 4 oz. can pie-sliced apples, well drained
Spread butter in bottom of a 9-inch pie plate. Place pecan halves, rounded side down, on butter. Sprinkle coconut on top. Drizzle over honey. Roll out half of pastry and fit into pie pan; trim edges. Combine sugar, flour, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add to well-drained can pie-sliced apples and blend well. Spoon into pie shell. Top with remaining pastry; crimp edges. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 30-35 minutes or until golden brown. Remove from oven. Let stand 3 minutes. Invert onto serving plate.

Pickled Watermelon

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

One of the most satisfactory projects ever to go on in our kitchen is the making of watermelon pickle. Each summer we glow when we turn out a batch, count up the cost and find it's piggy-bank money compared to what these pickles cost when bought.

But one word of caution. The recipe recommends thoroughly rinsing the watermelon rind after soaking in the lime water. Do so! Use a colander and a big water-filled bowl and rinse many times. Make sure that all free lime settles and is discarded with the rinsing water.

TWO-DAY WATERMELON PICKLE

2 pounds prepared watermelon rind (about 1 1/2 quarts)
4 teaspoons slaked lime (labeled calcium hydroxide in small bottles at drugstores)
1 1/2 tablespoons salt
2 teaspoons ground ginger
5 1/2 cups distilled white vinegar
5 cups sugar
5 sticks cinnamon (each about 3 inches long), broken into shorter pieces
1 1/2 tablespoons whole allspice
1/4 teaspoon whole cloves
1/4 whole nutmeg (if too hard to cut, pound to crack)

1 lemon (unpeeled, ends removed and sliced 1/4 to 1/2 inch thick)
Green food coloring

To prepare watermelon rind, trim off and discard green part of rind. Cut rind into 1-inch square pieces; measure and set aside.

Into a non-metallic bowl holding 1 quart cool water, stir 2 teaspoons of the slaked lime; add rind; stir in another quart of cool water. Let stand 1 hour; stir in remaining 2 teaspoons lime and let stand from 1 to 1 1/2 hours. Thoroughly rinse and drain rind to remove all free lime.

Into a large pot turn the rind, salt, ground ginger, 1 cup of the vinegar and enough water to cover. Boil gently until rind is tender—anywhere from 20 minutes to 1 hour, depending on thickness, texture and variety of watermelon. Without draining, turn into a non-metallic bowl; cool; refrigerate overnight.

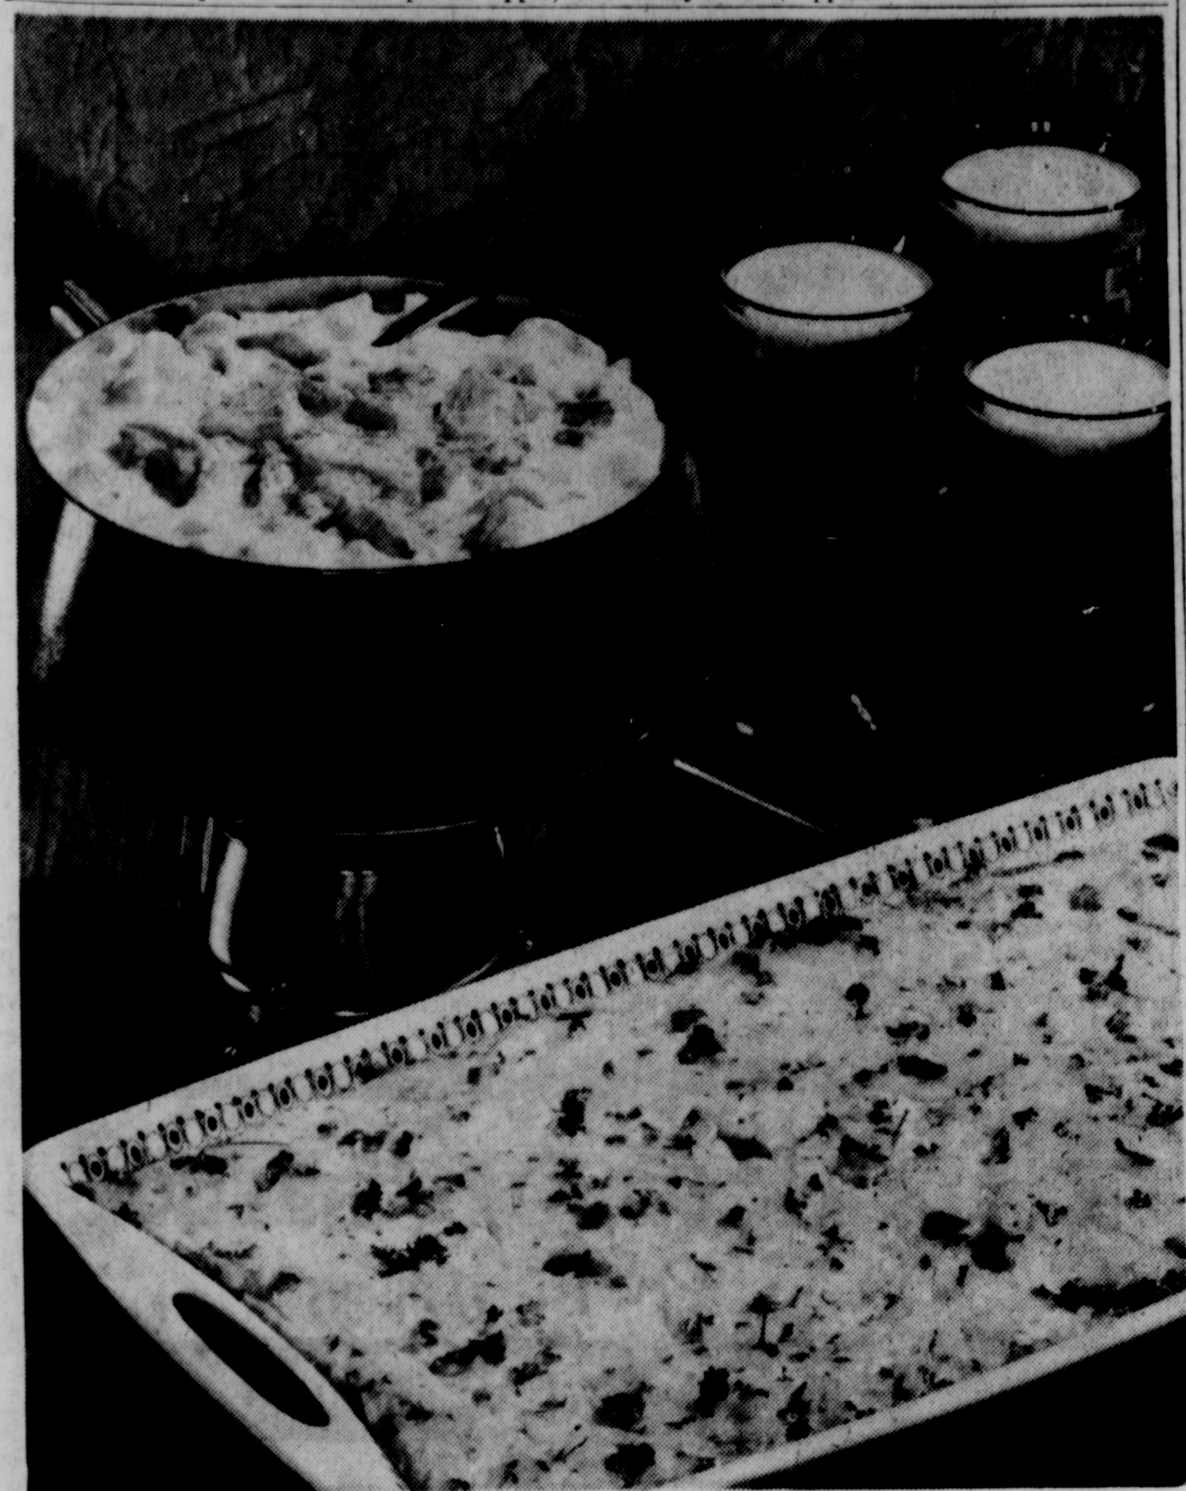

While rind is cooking, prepare spice solution. Into a small saucepan put the cinnamon, allspice, cloves and cracked nutmeg, add 1/2 cup of the vinegar and 1/2 cup water. Cover and heat to boiling; let barely simmer for 10 to 15 minutes. Remove from heat and allow to stand, covered, for 1 hour; strain through cheesecloth-lined strainer; cover and refrigerate. Into a large pot turn the remaining 4 cups vinegar and the sugar; heat, stirring until sugar dissolves. Drain the refrigerated rind and add with enough water to cover. Boil gently until rind begins to look clear; add the spice solution and lemon; continue boiling gently until rind looks translucent. Remove from heat. Stir in enough green food coloring to make rind and syrup a pretty green.

Should syrup become too thick before pickle is ready for putting into jars, thin with equal parts of vinegar and water.

Prepare pint or half-pint fruit jars according to manufacturer's directions. Using a slotted spoon, pack jars with the boiling hot watermelon rind, but not to the very top. At once pour in boiling hot pickle syrup to within 1/4-inch from top, making sure syrup covers rind. Wipe off any spills on top or threads of jars. Put dome lids on jars; secure bands tight.

Makes about 3 pints. Allow to mellow for 3 or 4 weeks, stored in a dark place, before using.

CONFETTI RICE SQUARES

Colorful Luncheon Dish: Chicken and Rice

If you're looking for something exciting to do with chicken a la king, here's just the thing... Creamed Chicken Over Confetti Rice Squares.

Not only is it a delicious treat but it looks so good and is so easy to serve. It's a good menu for a crowd of any age.

A pretty baking dish filled with fluffy rice dotted with parsley, chopped onion and pimiento and flavored with shredded Swiss cheese is a colorful addition to the buffet table. Cut the rice into squares and cover each piece with a generous helping of creamed chicken. It's a lot more exciting than most creamed chicken recipes.

You can use leftover or canned chicken or specially stew a chicken. If you stew a chicken, you have delicious broth to cook the rice in and to use as part of the liquid in the creamed chicken.

CHICKEN OVER RICE SQUARES

Rice Squares:
3 cups cooked rice
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
1 cup chopped parsley
1/3 cup chopped onion
1/3 cup chopped pimiento
1 teaspoon salt
3 eggs, beaten
1 1/2 cups milk

Creamed Chicken:
2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground marjoram
2 cups milk
3 cups cut-up cooked chicken
Paprika

To prepare Rice Squares: Cook rice according to package directions, substituting chicken broth for water if desired. Combine cooked rice with cheese, parsley, onion, pimiento, salt and eggs; add milk. Turn into 1 1/2-quart buttered baking dish. Bake in a preheated 325 degree oven 40 minutes or until a knife inserted near center comes out clean. To prepare Chicken: In a 2-quart saucepan melt butter; stir in flour, salt and marjoram. Remove from heat; gradually stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook 2 additional minutes. Add chicken and heat to serving temperature. Serve over Rice Squares and sprinkle with paprika. Makes 9 servings.

Apple Pies Are Doing Cartwheels Now

Variety is a valuable menu-planning device which intelligent cooks rank right along with quality ingredients and accurate measurements to produce meals which not only nourish but please. When variety is lacking even a well-loved dessert stands in danger of becoming "the same old thing," or "oh, that gain." Almost everybody's favorite pie is apple, and today's recipe brings an interesting new dimension to apple pie by borrowing the upside-down technique from cake-baking. The filling combines traditional spices and those convenient canned pie-sliced apples.

The "top"—and delightful difference—of this upside-down treat is a layer of shredded coconut and pecan halves which is placed on the bottom of the pie-dish before the pie-crust is fitted in. The completed pie is good to look at, better to eat, and brings a variety to apple pie that your family is sure to enjoy.

UPSIDE DOWN APPLE PIE

2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
1/4 cup pecan halves
1/2 cup shredded coconut
2 tablespoons honey
pastry for double crust
9-inch pie
2 2/3 cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 lb. 4 oz. can pie-sliced apples, well drained
Spread butter in bottom of a 9-inch pie plate. Place pecan halves, rounded side down, on butter. Sprinkle coconut on top. Drizzle over honey. Roll out half of pastry and fit into pie pan; trim edges. Combine sugar, flour, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add to well-drained can pie-sliced apples and blend well. Spoon into pie shell. Top with remaining pastry; crimp edges. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 30-35 minutes or until golden brown. Remove from oven. Let stand 3 minutes. Invert onto serving plate.

Pickled Watermelon

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

One of the most satisfactory projects ever to go on in our kitchen is the making of watermelon pickle. Each summer we glow when we turn out a batch, count up the cost and find it's piggy-bank money compared to what these pickles cost when bought.

But one word of caution. The recipe recommends thoroughly rinsing the watermelon rind after soaking in the lime water. Do so! Use a colander and a big water-filled bowl and rinse many times. Make sure that all free lime settles and is discarded with the rinsing water.

TWO-DAY WATERMELON PICKLE

2 pounds prepared watermelon rind (about 1 1/2 quarts)
4 teaspoons slaked lime (labeled calcium hydroxide in small bottles at drugstores)
1 1/2 tablespoons salt
2 teaspoons ground ginger
5 1/2 cups distilled white vinegar
5 cups sugar
5 sticks cinnamon (each about 3 inches long), broken into shorter pieces
1 1/2 tablespoons whole allspice
1/2 tablespoon whole cloves
1/4 whole nutmeg (if too hard to cut, pound to crack)

1 lemon (unpeeled, ends removed and sliced 1/4 to 1/2 inch thick)
Green food coloring

To prepare watermelon rind, trim off and discard green part of rind. Cut rind into 1-inch square pieces; measure and set aside.

Into a non-metallic bowl holding 1 quart cool water, stir 2 teaspoons of the slaked lime; add rind; stir in another quart of cool water. Let stand 1 hour; stir in remaining 2 teaspoons lime and let stand from 1 to 1 1/2 hours. Thoroughly rinse and drain rind to remove all free lime.

Into a large pot turn the rind, salt, ground ginger, 1 cup of the vinegar and enough water to cover. Boil gently until rind is tender—anywhere from 20 minutes to 1 hour, depending on thickness, texture and variety of watermelon. Without draining, turn into a non-metallic bowl; cool; refrigerate overnight.

While rind is cooking, prepare spice solution. Into a small saucepan put the cinnamon, allspice, cloves and cracked nutmeg, add 1/2 cup of the vinegar and 1/2 cup water. Cover and heat to boiling; let barely simmer for 10 to 15 minutes. Remove from heat and allow to stand, covered, for 1 hour; strain through cheesecloth-lined strainer; cover and refrigerate. Into a large pot turn the remaining 4 cups vinegar and the sugar; heat, stirring until sugar dissolves. Drain the refrigerated rind and add with enough water to cover. Boil gently until rind begins to look clear; add the spice solution and lemon; continue boiling gently until rind looks translucent. Remove from heat. Stir in enough green food coloring to make rind and syrup a pretty green.

Should syrup become too thick before pickle is ready for putting into jars, thin with equal parts of vinegar and water.

Prepare pint or half-pint fruit jars according to manufacturer's directions. Using a slotted spoon, pack jars with the boiling hot watermelon rind, but not to the very top. At once pour in boiling hot pickle syrup to within 1/4-inch from top, making sure syrup covers rind. Wipe off any spills on top or threads of jars. Put dome lids on jars; secure bands tight.

Makes about 3 pints. Allow to mellow for 3 or 4 weeks, stored in a dark place, before using.

CONFETTI RICE SQUARES

Colorful Luncheon Dish: Chicken and Rice

If you're looking for something exciting to do with chicken a la king, here's just the thing...Creamed Chicken Over Confetti Rice Squares.

Not only is it a delicious treat but it looks so good and is so easy to serve. It's a good menu for a crowd of any age.

A pretty baking dish filled with fluffy rice dotted with parsley, chopped onion and pimiento and flavored with shredded Swiss cheese is a colorful addition to the buffet table. Cut the rice into squares and cover each piece with a generous helping of creamed chicken. It's a lot more exciting than most creamed chicken recipes.

You can use leftover or canned chicken or specially stew a chicken. If you stew a chicken, you have delicious broth to cook the rice in and to use as part of the liquid in the creamed chicken.

Chicken flavor can be added to the liquid for cooking the rice by chicken bouillon cube, too. It gives so much more flavor. Or, substitute chunks of turkey or tuna for the chicken. But any way you make it, be sure you make enough because everyone is sure to want seconds.

CHICKEN OVER RICE SQUARES

Rice Squares:
3 cups cooked rice
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
1 cup chopped parsley
1/3 cup chopped onion
1/3 cup chopped pimiento
1 teaspoon salt
3 eggs, beaten
1 1/2 cups milk

Creamed Chicken:
2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground marjoram
2 cups milk
3 cups cut-up cooked chicken
Paprika

To prepare Rice Squares: Cook rice according to package directions, substituting chicken broth for water if desired. Combine cooked rice with cheese, parsley, onion, pimiento, salt and eggs; add milk. Turn into 1 1/2-quart buttered baking dish. Bake in a preheated 325 degree oven 40 minutes or until a knife inserted near center comes out clean. To prepare Chicken: In a 2-quart saucepan melt butter; stir in flour, salt and marjoram. Remove from heat; gradually stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook 2 additional minutes. Add chicken and heat to serving temperature. Serve over Rice Squares and sprinkle with paprika. Makes 9 servings.

Temple Emanuel

Sabbath evening services will be conducted Friday 7:30 p. m. at Temple Emanuel by Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn. During memorial services the memories of Seligman Oppenheimer, Marcus Appel and Meriam Polley will be invoked. After services an Oneg Shabbat will be held.

Parents wishing to enroll their children in the religious school for the first time may contact the rabbi. Religious school will begin Sept. 16. The temple religious school will have its first kindergarten class this fall. The class will begin Oct. 7, under the direction of Mrs. Jonathan Eichhorn. The religious school will have new school equipment this fall as part of the temple capital improvement fund drive.

Individuals desiring to become members of the temple may contact the rabbi or Dr. Morton Cohen, chairman of the membership committee.

Carlos Ortiz Keeps Title

Hands Laguna Bad Beating in Third Meeting

NEW YORK (AP)—Carlos Ortiz, his fifth straight successful lightweight championship defense behind him, had a slightly puffy eye cocked toward bigger and better things.

"Give me two months," the Puerto Rican-born New Yorker said in his dressing room after solidly trouncing Ismael Laguna in 15 rounds Wednesday night, "and I'll be ready to fight again."

"Two months. Then bring on Cokes."

The reference was to Curtis Cokes, the world welterweight champion.

"I don't need the money," the happy Ortiz said. "I'm loaded. But I would like to be the first Puerto Rican to hold three titles. I'd like Cokes."

Wins With Ease

This time there was little doubt about it.

The broad-shouldered, powerful Ortiz started and finished strongly, rocking the 24-year-old Laguna repeatedly with a solid right hand.

In the middle rounds, he let up a bit—"I told him to take it easy, to let Laguna have a couple," manager Bill Daly explained later—and the swift, flashy Panamanian swarmed to the attack to the delight of a group of about 2,500 Panamanians in the shouting, chanting, flag-waving crowd of 19,480 at Shea Stadium.

"I had him from the first round on," Ortiz said. "I knew I had him when I first hit him with that right hand. He was fighting my fight."

"I was never concerned. I just wanted to be sure I didn't make any mistakes and had enough to go the distance if I had to. He was in good condition and fought a good fight. But I'm the champion."

Then he grinned even more broadly.

"In fact," he said, "I'm the greatest."

Referee Art Mercante and

judge Al Berl each had Ortiz ahead in rounds 10-4-1. Judge Jack Gordon had Ortiz the winner 11-3-1. The Associated Press scored for Ortiz 10-4-1.

"I'm very proud of my people," Ortiz said of the Puerto Ricans in the audience. "We don't want to do anything against our citizenship. I won. But I don't think there would be any trouble if I hadn't. But I fought extra hard to be sure."

Hundreds of extra police were on duty to prevent a recurrence of the riots that developed in Madison Square Garden the last three times Puerto Rican fighters were involved. There wasn't a hint of trouble.

Laguna, taller and faster, had only praise for Ortiz as "a great champion. He won it clearly and cleanly. I have no excuses."

In the end, it was Ortiz' power and cunning against Laguna's speed.

Rocked Five Times
Time and again Laguna swarmed in with a flashy, two-handed attack. Time and again the stolid Ortiz punished him, rocking him in the second, fourth, eighth, 10th and 11th rounds with right hands.

"He tries to suck you in," Ortiz said. "He feints in, then steps back. I've fought him before. I know him. I just wait

Carlos Ortiz Keeps Title

Hands Laguna Bad Beating in Third Meeting

NEW YORK (AP)—Carlos Ortiz, his fifth straight successful lightweight championship defense behind him, had a slightly puffy eye cocked toward bigger and better things.

"Give me two months," the Puerto Rican-born New Yorker said in his dressing room after solidly trouncing Ismael Laguna in 15 rounds Wednesday night, "and I'll be ready to fight again."

"Two months. Then bring on Cokes."

The reference was to Curtis Cokes, the world welterweight champion.

"I don't need the money," the happy Ortiz said. "I'm loaded. But I would like to be the first Puerto Rican to hold three titles. I'd like Cokes."

Ortiz, 30, held the world junior welterweight title before taking the lightweight championship from Joe Brown in 1962. In lightweight title fights he is 11-1, losing the title to Laguna in his native Panama in 1965 on a 15-round decision, then winning it back seven months later in Puerto Rico.

Wins With Ease
This time there was little doubt about it.

The broad-shouldered, powerful Ortiz started and finished strongly, rocking the 24-year-old Laguna repeatedly with a solid right hand.

In the middle rounds, he let up a bit—"I told him to take it easy, to let Laguna have a couple," manager Bill Daly explained later—and the swift, flashy Panamanian swarmed to the attack to the delight of a group of about 2,500 Panamanians in the shouting, chanting, flag-waving crowd of 19,480 at Shea Stadium.

"I had him from the first round on," Ortiz said. "I knew I had him when I first hit him with that right hand. He was fighting my fight."

"I was never concerned. I just wanted to be sure I didn't make any mistakes and had enough to go the distance if I had to. He was in good condition and fought a good fight. But I'm the champion."

Then he grinned even more broadly.

"In fact," he said, "I'm the greatest."

with the right. He's a sucker for boy like that isn't supposed to beat me."

"I wanted to get him coming. There were no knockdowns. Ortiz suffered nicks at the corner of both eyes, but they didn't bother him. Each fighter weighed 135 pounds.

Hundreds of extra police were on duty to prevent a recurrence of the riots that developed in Madison Square Garden the last three times Puerto Rican fighters were involved. There wasn't a hint of trouble.

Laguna, taller and faster, had only praise for Ortiz as "a great champion. He won it clearly and cleanly. I have no excuses."

In the end, it was Ortiz' power and cunning against Laguna's speed.

Rocked Five Times
Time and again Laguna swarmed in with a flashy, two-handed attack. Time and again the stolid Ortiz punished him, rocking him in the second, fourth, eighth, 10th and 11th rounds with right hands.

"He tries to suck you in," Ortiz said. "He feints in, then steps back. I've fought him before. I know him. I just wait

Braves Eye Pennant Tie in Contest With Torrington

Led Team to Pennant

Milano, 10-0 Pitcher Slugged at .556 Clip

Down at Highland the folks will tell you Carlos Rodriguez is the best Little League ball player this area has ever seen.

The Highlanders may have a point but Kingston American League followers are rightfully proud of their own 12-year-old Jim Milano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Milano of Prince Street, Kingston.

In his last LL season, young Jim compiled a record worthy of a true champion. The Roundout National Bank team leaned on his multiple talents to capture the 1967 championship and run their record to 22 wins and only two losses.

His Last Season

This is what Milano did in his final season:

1) Compiled a 10-0 pitching record, striking out 117 batters in 58 innings for an average of just over two per inning.

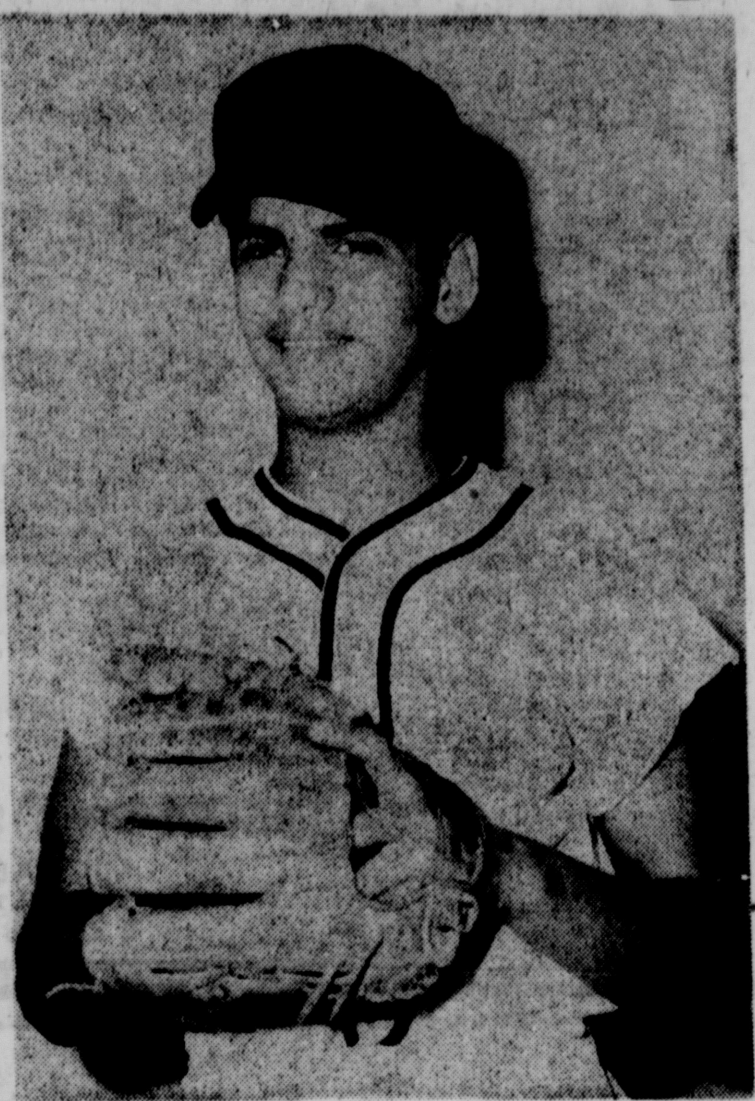

2) He allowed only 36 hits, 22 runs and walked 56.

3) At the plate, Jim slugged a rousing .556, with 40 hits and 40 runs in 72 times at bat. His harvest of hits included nine home runs, 12 doubles. He walked 15 times and struck out only four times. Somehow a triple eluded him.

Two 400 Hitters

Mark Josefski was runnerup to Milano with a .431 average on 22 hits in 51 times at bat. John Joy clubbed at .409 (27 for 66). Neither boy hit a homer but each had a pair of triples.

Other top batsmen included: Chris Schick (77-30) for .388; Ed Halpren (63-23) for .365; Chris Hogan (59-19) for .322.

JIM MILANO

Pitchers with perfect records Gallo, 1-0; Mike Kiernan, 1-0; were: Paul Mitchell, 3-0; Chris Schick had a 4-1 record; Hogan, 1-0; John Joy, 1-0; Paul Ford; Ed Halpren, 0-1.

Dietz Stadium Game Saturday Is Crucial One

Kingston Braves have an outside shot at the Interstate Baseball League pennant and they should keep their hopes alive against the cellar dwelling Torrington Red Sox Saturday night.

With a 5-3 record, the locals are a game behind league leading Winsted (7-2) and can tie for the lead by winning their next two games should Winsted lose its last regular start.

The Braves got a bad game out of their system against Schenectady Kraals Monday night and should rebound with a good performance.

Manager Dick Bartsch has not announced his pitching choice but it will be either Ken Heppner or Ted Bream, unless Ron Thomas has recovered from a sore elbow. Heppner was impressive in his last outing.

Two Big Sluggers

The best hitting team in the circuit, the Braves have their two big guns primed for the Connecticut club, Jerry Hawkins leads the league with a .470 average and Chick Boice has climbed into second place with a .467 mark.

Manager Hawkins had made frequent lineup changes in recent games, breaking away from the steady format of early games. Joe Schabot has moved into an outfield spot and is a likely starter Saturday night.

A setback for the Braves would, of course, wreck any hope for a tie. It also would impair any chance for a second place finish in the regular schedule. So the pressure is on, with Torrington going no place and Kingston needing this one badly.

The Dietz stadium arclight gets under way at 8 p. m.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Take a one game and in another he lot of natural skill, plenty of struck out 15 for a National heart, and a lot of confidence, put them together and you have League high.

Gary Nolan, the 19-year-old it was noted that he is a pretty good fielding pitcher, he shook his head and said:

"I think I'm a bit sluggish in fielding, but I'm working on it." Gary says his baseball career really began when his parents gave him a ball and glove on his 7th birthday.

"I liked baseball from then on and stayed with it," he says. "Every year I like it more. I want to grow a bit more, too."

Nolan believes the Reds have a fine chance to win the pennant and "wants to help do it."

Manager Dave Bristol says he "has as much heart as he has stuff. He's amazing at times."

Nolan's record (8-3 on July 30) had been achieved without much batting help from his teammates. In his first 137 innings he got 140 strikeouts.

He had four shutouts in mid-July, and three of them were 1-0.

Nolan names Jim Hart, Willie McCovey, Billy Williams and Matty Alou as among the hitters who have caused the most trouble.

San Francisco gave Nolan his first two defeats.

Chisox's New Format Wallops Kaycees, 14-1

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox, who sometimes seem to win with mirrors, did it Wednesday night with a hitter who can't run, a runner who suddenly can hit and—would you believe—three home runs.

The notoriously light hitting White Sox sprayed 17 safeties around Comiskey Park including two home runs by Pete Ward and one by Gerry McNetney and walloped Kansas City 14-1.

Ken Boyer, sidelined by a pulled muscle in his left leg, came off the bench in the fourth inning and delivered a bases-loaded single that drove in three runs. The ball soared over left fielder Danny Cater's head and the three runners scored easily. But Boyer, limping badly, barely made it to first base.

Sandy Alomar, acquired just hours before game time from the New York Mets as part of the Boyer deal, started at shortstop for Chicago, lashed two singles and scored two runs. Throughout his career, Alomar has been noted as a fast runner and good fielder but weak hitter.

Stay 1½ Ahead

The victory kept the Sox 1½ games back of the streaking first place Minnesota Twins who won their seventh straight, 5-1 from California.

Boston moved into third place by beating Detroit 6-3. Cleveland nipped Washington 1-0 and Baltimore edged New York 5-4.

Ward's two homers drove in three runs for the White Sox but the blow that broke the game wide open was Boyer's pinch hit in the fourth. It climaxed a five-run rally that opened a 9-0 Chicago lead.

Boyer, who pulled up lame in Minnesota last week while fielding a ground ball, struggled to get down the line as the three runners tore around the bases and Cater chased after his drive.

Alomar started the big inning with his second hit and scored the Sox' first run on Walt Williams' double. Williams stole third and scored on a passed ball third strike before Chicago loaded the bases for Boyer.

Gary Peters, who hadn't won since July 23, was the beneficiary of the unusually heavy attack and picked up his 13th victory on a four-hitter.

Led Team to Pennant

Milano, 10-0 Pitcher Slugged at .556 Clip

Down at Highland the folks will tell you Carlos Rodriguez is the best Little League ball player this area has ever seen.

The Highlanders may have a point but Kingston American League followers are rightfully proud of their own 12-year-old Jim Milano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Milano of Prince Street, Kingston.

In his last season, young Jim compiled a record worthy of a true champion. The Roundout National Bank team leaned on his multiple talents to capture the 1967 championship and run their record to 22 wins and only two losses.

His Last Season

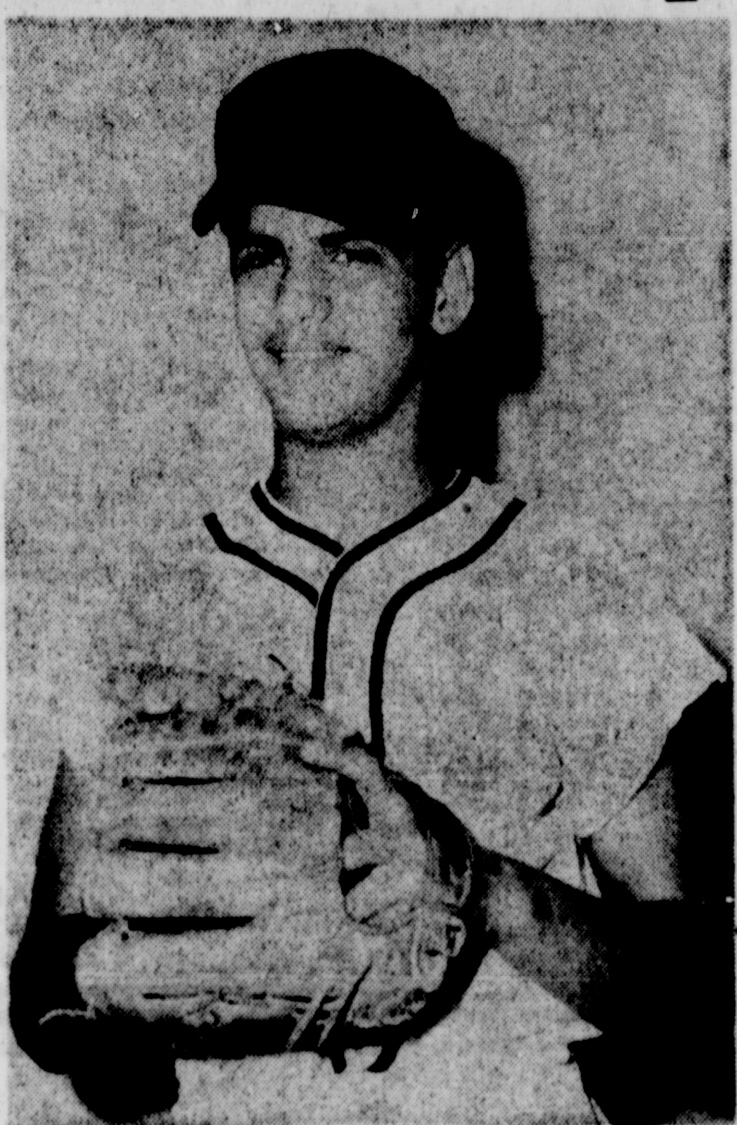

This is what Milano did in his final season:

- 1) Compiled a 10-0 pitching record, striking out 117 batters in 58 innings for an average of just over two per inning.
- 2) He allowed only 36 hits, 22 runs and walked 38.
- 3) At the plate, Jim slugged a rousing .556, with 40 hits and 40 runs in 72 times at bat. His harvest of hits included nine home runs, 12 doubles. He walked 15 times and struck out only four times. Somehow a triple eluded him.

Two 400 Hitters

Mark Josefski was runnerup to Milano with a .431 average on 22 hits in 51 times at bat. John Joy clubbed at .409 (27 for 66). Neither boy hit a homer but each had a pair of triples.

Other top batsmen included: Chris Shick (77-30) for .388; Ed Halpren (63-23) for .365; Chris Hogan (59-19) for .322.

JIM MILANO

Dietz Stadium Game Saturday Is Crucial One

Kingston Braves have an outside shot at the Interstate Baseball League pennant and they should keep their hopes alive against the cello dwelling Torrington Red Sox Saturday night.

With a 5-3 record, the locals are a game behind league leading Winsted (7-2) and can tie for the lead by winning their next two games should Winsted lose its last regular start.

The Braves got a bad game out of their system against Schenectady Kraals Monday night and should rebound with a good performance.

Manager Dick Bartsch has not announced his pitching choice but it will be either Ken Heppner or Ted Bream, unless Ron Thomas has recovered from a sore elbow. Heppner was impressive in his last outing.

Two Big Sluggers

The best hitting team in the circuit, the Braves have their two big guns primed for the Connecticut club. Jerry Hawkins leads the league with a .470 average and Chick Boice has climbed into second place with a .467 mark.

Manager Hawkins had made frequent lineup changes in recent games, breaking away from the steady format of early games. Joe Schabot has moved into an outfield spot and is a likely starter Saturday night.

A setback for the Braves would, of course, wreck any hope for a tie. It also would impair any chance for a second place finish in the regular schedule. So the pressure is on with Torrington going no place and Kingston needing this one badly.

The Dietz stadium arclighters gets under way at 8 p. m.

Nolan, 19-Year-Old Star, Is Pitching Like a Veteran

CINCINNATI (AP) — Take a one game and in another he lot of natural skill, plenty of heart, and a lot of confidence, put them together and you have Gary Nolan, the 19-year-old pitching sensation of the Cincinnati Reds.

Add to that the shyness of a boy-man—he already is the father of two children—who last year was hurling for the Oroville, Calif. high school, and the wonder of Nolan increases.

He has a fine fast ball, an increasingly effective curve, and determination which does not give way under fire.

Manager Dave Bristol says he "has as much heart as he has stuff. He's amazing at times."

Nolan's record (8-3 on July 30) had been achieved without much batting help from his teammates. In his first 137 innings he got 140 strikeouts.

He had four shutouts in mid-July, and three of them were 1-0.

Nolan names Jim Hart, Willie McCovey, Billy Williams and Matty Alou as among the hitters who have caused the most trouble.

Got His Revenge

Gary, however, got some satisfaction. He struck out Willie Mays three consecutive times in

"I think I'm a bit sluggish in fielding, but I'm working on it." Gary says his baseball career really began when his parents gave him a ball and glove on his 15th birthday.

"I liked baseball from then on and stayed with it," he says. "Every year I like it more. I want to grow a bit more, too."

Nolan believes the Reds have a fine chance to win the pennant and "wants to help do it."

Big Deron Johnson, first baseman, is Nolan's roommate when the club is on the road.

"He talks a lot when we are in our room," says Johnson, "and most of it is about baseball. He asks a lot of questions."

When the Reds are in Cincinnati, Nolan and his wife Carol spend their time watching movies and TV.

"With two boys—one 2 and the other just a few weeks old—we stay in our apartment a lot," he says.

Nolan's only professional experience before joining the Reds was with Sioux Falls in the Northern League in 1966, where he won 7 games and lost 3.

Chisox's New Format Wallops Kaycees, 14-1

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox, who sometimes seem to win with mirrors, did it Wednesday night with a hitter who can't run, a runner who suddenly can hit and—would you believe—three home runs.

The notoriously light hitting White Sox sprayed 17 safeties around Comiskey Park including two home runs by Pete Ward and one by Gerry McNertney and walloped Kansas City 14-1.

Ken Boyer, sidelined by a pulled muscle in his left leg, came off the bench in the fourth inning and delivered a bases-loaded single that drove in three runs. The ball soared over left fielder Danny Cater's head and the three runners scored easily. But Boyer, limping badly, barely made it to first base.

Sandy Alomar, acquired just hours before game time from the New York Mets as part of the Boyer deal, started at shortstop for Chicago, lashed two singles and scored two runs. Throughout his career, Alomar has been noted as a fast runner and good fielder but weak hitter.

Stay 1½ Ahead

The victory kept the Sox 1½ games back of the streaking first place Minnesota Twins who won their seventh straight, 5-1 from California.

Boston moved into third place by beating Detroit 6-3. Cleveland nipped Washington 1-0 and Baltimore edged New York 5-4. Ward's two homers drove in three runs for the White Sox but the blow that broke the game wide open was Boyer's pinch hit in the fourth. It climaxed a five-run rally that opened a 9-0 Chicago lead.

Boyer, who pulled up lame in Minnesota last week while fielding a ground ball, struggled to get down the line as the three runners tore around the bases and Cater chased after his drive.

Alomar started the big inning with his second hit and scored the Sox' first run on Walt Williams' double. Williams stole third and scored on a passed ball third strike before Chicago loaded the bases for Boyer.

Gary Peters, who hadn't won since July 23, was the beneficiary of the unusually heavy attack and picked up his 13th victory on a four-hitter.

Play First Matches In County Tennis

Three matches were played in the opening round of the Ulster County Tennis Tournament's men's singles division Wednesday at Forsyth Park.

The results: Chip Grover over Chet Fox, 6-1, 7-5; Paul Johnson over Arun Bhagwat, 6-1, 6-2; Pete Boyd over Ray Lauterbach, 6-1, 6-1.

A fourth match was interrupted by darkness and will be resumed today. Play in singles continues today and Friday. Men's doubles start Saturday at 1 p. m.

Wiltwyck Juniors Score at Columbia

Those crack Wiltwyck Country Club junior golf swingers continued unbeaten in the Mid-Hudson Junior Golf Classic competition Wednesday at Columbia Country Club.

Led by Ed Byman's 37-39-76, the Wiltwyck team posted an aggregate score of 317 to finish 23 strokes ahead of runnerup Winding Brook and record its 11th straight win without a loss in two years of competition.

Catskill placed third with 342, followed by Columbia and Woodstock, 349; Red Hook, 396 and Twaalfskill, 381.

Werner Kohn of Wiltwyck (40-40) and Frank Daley, Catskill (39-41) tied with gross scores of 80.

Bobby Byman, Wiltwyck's 12-year-old player, shared a three-way tie for the net lead at 72. He had 83-9-72. Al Austin, Winding Brook, posted 84-12-72 and Tom Backus, Columbia, 85-13-72. Jim Leachman of Columbia shot 84-11-73.

With the 1967 finale scheduled Thursday, Aug. 31, at Woodstock Country Club, the Wiltwyck squad has an 1856 aggregate to lead the field by a wide margin. Other scores: Winding Brook, 2045; Woodstock, 2112; Columbia, 2145; Catskill, 2158; Red Hook, 2268; Twaalfskill, 2340.

The team scores: Wiltwyck (317)—Ed Byman, 37-39-76; Joe Bostic, 38-40-78; Werner Kohn, 40-40-80; Bobby Byman, 39-44-83.

Sauquitta, getting a break when favored Duchess Rose broke stride at the first turn and was disqualified, took the lead at the half and held on Wednesday night to win the $9,984 New York Sire Stakes trotting feature at Saratoga Raceway.

Sauquitta trotted the mile in 2:07 1-5 to defeat Peepsight by 1½ lengths. D.C.'s Fury placed third.

The winner returned $42.40. Mr. Tombolingo stepped to a length and a quarter victory over Scotchaven Bomber in the $4,000 feature pace at Roosevelt Raceway. El Picador was third.

The winner, who returned $11-40, was clocked at 2:02 2-5 for the mile.

Rodette's Boy led a three-horse photo finish to capture the $1,100 feature pace at Vernon Downs. Rodette's Boy beat out A.C.'s Victory and Cogan in posting a time for the mile of 2:05.

IRRITATING BASS

IF A LAKE OR POND HAS NO DEEP HOLES WHERE BASS CAN RETREAT DURING A HOT DAY, SIBB, SUNKEN LOGS, ETC., WHERE THE LARGEST BASS SULK, YOU MAY HAVE TO RETRIEVE A LURE VERY SLOWLY, WITHIN INCHES OR ACTUALLY TOUCHING THE SULKING FISH. IF YOU FEEL CERTAIN THAT A BASS LIES THERE, DON'T QUIT AFTER A FEW CASTS—CAST AND RETRIEVE UNTIL YOU IRRITATE THE FISH SO MUCH IT STRIKES VICIOUSLY. TRY THE SAME SPOTS NEXT TIME OUT, OTHER FISH KEEP MOVING IN.

Lions and Vets Win In Babe Ruth Games

Veterans of Foreign Wars scored a run in the bottom of the seventh to nip Chidsey-DeForest Insurance, 4 to 3, in the Babe Ruth League.

Rick Sorenson pitched a 6-hitter and struck out nine for VFW. The winners scored with two outs in the seventh when Hoffstatter walked, stole second and came home when Gary

Gary Short hit a homer for VFW and Ralph Perry stroked three singles for Chidsey-DeForest.

Rally Falls Short

American Legion rallied for nine runs in the last two innings but was nipped, 11-10 by Lions Club.

Pickett had a single-double and four RBIs for the Lions. Kithcart knocked in three runs with two singles and a triple. Brown's single-triple combination accounted for three Legion RBIs.

Tom Gallo was the winning pitcher in a game that dimmed the Legion's pennant hopes.

Jim Maloney Almost Got That No-Hitter

By ED SCHUYLER JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

The tale of the tape—that's the story of a serious, but unsuccessful bid for the first no-hitter in the 59-year history of Pittsburgh's Forbes Field.

Tape around the right ankle of Cincinnati's Jim Maloney enabled the veteran right-hander to make the bid Wednesday night.

But it didn't prevent him from aggravating an injury, which forced him to leave in the seventh inning of the game won by Cincinnati 4-0.

Billy McCool took over and was touched for both Pittsburgh hits in the eighth inning.

St. Louis nipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3, Atlanta topped San Francisco 6-3, the New York Mets beat Philadelphia 5-3 and Los Angeles trounced Houston 7-1 in other National League games.

"I was scared," said McCool, who relieved Maloney after he stepped into a hole with his right foot in delivering a fourth ball to Matty Alou, making Alou ble and an error.

Tony Perez' 23rd homer gave the Reds a 2-0 lead in the fourth, and they added another pair in right field in delivering a fourth ball to Matty Alou, making Alou ble and an error.

Lions and Vets Win In Babe Ruth Games

Veterans of Foreign Wars scored a run in the bottom of the seventh to nip Chidsey-DeForest Insurance, 4 to 3, in the Babe Ruth League.

Rick Sorenson pitched a 6-hitter and struck out nine for VFW. The winners scored with two outs in the seventh when Hoffstatter walked, stole second and came home when Gary

Perry's Repeat Protested Win

Perry's Grill turned to Mike Amato Wednesday night and he responded with a well pitched 7-hit, 5 to 1 victory over Subway Grill in a replay of the protested game of June 14.

The win kept the champions' record at 14 victories and four defeats.

Bill Costello, Perry's pitching ace, played second base, collected three singles in three trips and knocked in two runs.

Rich Kelderhouse had a triple and run batted in among the 11 Perry safeties off Vince Peck. Pete Tatarzewski also was "3 for 3" all singles, for Perry's.

Howard Pitches McConekey Win

Manager Dick Howard hurled the McConekey Funeral Home team into the semi-finals of the consolation, scattering 10 hits effectively to route Schovel Tree Service, 9-2, in the Saugerties Softball League's Met division.

Jack Whitaker led the Morticians' attack with three singles, a triple and three runs batted in. Paul Stolpinski homered.

Jim Maloney Almost Got That No-Hitter

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

The tale of the tape—that's the story of a serious, but unsuccessful bid for the first no-hitter in the 59-year history of Pittsburgh's Forbes Field.

Tape around the right ankle of Cincinnati's Jim Maloney enabled the veteran right-hander to make the bid Wednesday night.

But it didn't prevent him from aggravating an injury, which forced him to leave in the seventh inning of the game won by Cincinnati 4-0.

Billy McCool took over and was touched for both Pittsburgh hits in the eighth inning.

St. Louis nipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3, Atlanta topped San Francisco 6-3, the New York Mets beat Philadelphia 5-3 and Los Angeles trounced Houston 7-1 in other National League games.

"I was scared," said McCool, who relieved Maloney after he stepped into a hole with his right foot in delivering a fourth ball to Matty Alou, making Alou ble and an error.

the first Pirate base runner.

"I wanted it real badly," continued McCool, "but I wished he could have stayed in. I think he might have gotten it."

Maloney declined to talk about what might have been but he did comment about his ankle injury, which he said he suffered last Friday night against Los Angeles.

"I haven't been able to run on it at all, and the only way I could pitch tonight was because of the tape," he said.

He also said that if it had been his left ankle, he would have been able to continue, but since it was the right one he couldn't because he pushes off on it when he pitches.

Jose Pagan kept the Forbes Field jinx against no-hitter intact with a one-out single in the eighth. Jerry May followed with a double but McCool then settled down to preserve the shut-out.

Tony Perez' 23rd homer gave the Reds a 2-0 lead in the fourth, and they added another pair in the sixth on Lee May's RBI double to Matty Alou, making Alou ble and an error.

Mother Held, Infant Girl Dies of Bruises

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — An autopsy has revealed a 4-month-old baby girl died of head bruises, and the infant's 13-year-old mother was charged with second-degree manslaughter Wednesday night.

Police said the arrest of Colleen White of Buffalo followed an investigation after the baby's father Dale White, 20, called a fire department rescue squad to the home.

Chief of the homicide bureau Lt. Leo J. Donoval said White told him he found the baby Diana, limp in her crib earlier. After noticing the baby was badly bruised, Medical Examiner John P. Hyland ordered an autopsy, which showed the cause of death to be "injury by force," police said.

White said that before he had come home from work, his wife had been home alone with the baby.

The white address is 1183 Niagara St.

Blaine Rule Adherents Still Want Separate Item

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Republican forces in the Constitutional Convention mobilized today for an all-out effort to isolate repeal of the Blaine Amendment as a separate item in voter consideration of the proposed Constitution.

The GOP minority molded its strategy Wednesday, shortly before the convention delegates approved repeal of the constitutional prohibition against state financial aid to parochial schools by an emphatic 132-49 margin.

As the delegates approached a final vote on the issue, State Sen. Earl W. Brydges, the Republicans' top spokesman at the convention, took the floor to warn majority Democrats he was "disquieted by the single package dedication."

Brydges displeasure was directed at determination expressed by the convention's J. Travia, to submit the entire work of the convention in a single proposal for decision by the voters.

Brydges said he would fight for separate submission of the repeal measure "every inch of the way" to election day.

With what has been billed as the convention's most controversial issue out of the way, the delegates turned to other subjects today.

Among measures on the calendar was a proposal to establish a modified "forever wild" clause dealing with sections of the state outside the Adirondack and Catskill Forest Preserve sections.

The proposition would permit the Legislature to acquire property deemed valuable for historic or natural beauty reasons.

In other actions, the convention's Judiciary Committee recommended Wednesday that the state gradually take over the cost of running the courts and proposed a formula for creating additional Supreme Court seats to help cope with mounting court congestion.

The final vote on repeal of the 73-year-old Blaine Amendment, which has precluded direct or indirect aid to parochial schools, came after two days of vehement debate.

The issue has been regarded as the most emotional the convention is likely to face.

Proponents of repeal, spearheaded by Roman Catholic church interests, had sought its elimination avidly.

On the other side, some Protestant and Jewish groups argued that repeal would lead to a breach of the principal church-state separation and would create a financial drain on the state's treasury at the expense of public school systems.

Politics did not enter the floor debate, as opponents and proponents were about equally divided along party lines, with 24 Democrats and 22 Republicans opposed. All three Liberal party delegates voted against repeal.

Before voting on repeal, the delegates—in debates that lasted more than 13 hours over a two-day span—considered nearly a score of amendments, passing only two.

The amendments sought to alter the repeal measure introduced by Mrs. Blossom G. Saxe, a Democratic delegate from Manhattan.

In addition to rescinding the ban against aid, Mrs. Saxe's proposal would substitute language similar to that in the Federal Constitution's First Amendment, which prohibits enactment of any law "respecting establishment of religion."

A second section would permit any citizen to sue in court to block unconstitutional expenditures.

One of the successful amendments, sponsored by Delegate David Bromberg, D-Manhattan, would broaden the citizen suit to embrace any unconstitutional act, not just expenditures.

The other, introduced by Delegate George D. Covington, a Harlem Democrat, specifically would prohibit discrimination in admissions to schools supported in whole or part by public funds.

Among the amendments defeated were two aimed at striking a compromise between supporters of repeal and those who wished to see Blaine retained. They would have broadened the so-called shared-time program, allowing parochial school pupils to use public school facilities for some programs.

Under current law, transportation and textbooks are supplied for parochial and private school pupils as well as public school children.

Those who urged repeal of Blaine said it then would become possible to provide additional benefits, such as expanded health services and vocational training.

Brydges, who had prepared an amendment mandating a separate listing for the repeal measure on the election ballot, did not press for its adoption Wednesday.

Brydges explained that he understood Travia was ready to rule such an amendment out of order on the ground it was premature. And, the Republican leader said, he also understood ready to "vote solidly against

This $2,638 No Loan

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A branch office of the Domestic Finance Corp. was robbed of an estimated $2,638 in cash Wednesday by a man, witnesses described, as being in need of a shave.

Police said the robber, carrying a brown paper bag, pointed a pistol at Cashier Marie Pfluke of Rochester, ordering her to open the office safe.

Pfluke and the assistant manager, William Heinrich of Rochester were then ordered into a back room. The man, wearing sunglasses, a baseball cap and ski jacket fled with the money. Police began an investigation. The branch is at 461 Ridge Rd. West.

There are only a few members of the Narragansett Inn.

Mother Held, Infant Girl Dies of Bruises

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — An autopsy has revealed a 4-month-old baby girl died of head bruises, and the infant's 18-year-old mother was charged with second-degree manslaughter Wednesday night.

Police said the arrest of Colleen White of Buffalo followed an investigation after the baby's father Dale White, 20, called a fire department rescue squad to the home.

Chief of the homicide bureau, Lt. Leo J. Donovan said White told him he found the baby Diana, limp in her crib earlier. After noticing the baby was badly bruised, Medical Examiner John P. Hyland ordered an autopsy, which showed the cause of death to be "injury by force," police said.

White said that before he had come home from work, his wife had been home alone with the baby.

The white address is 1183 Niagara St.

Blaine Rule Adherents Still Want Separate Item

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Republican forces in the Constitutional Convention mobilized today for an all-out effort to isolate repeal of the Blaine Amendment as a separate item in voter consideration of the proposed Constitution.

The GOP minority molded its strategy Wednesday, shortly before the convention delegates approved repeal of the constitutional prohibition against state financial aid to parochial schools by an emphatic 124-49 margin.

As the delegates approached a final vote on the issue, State Sen. Earl W. Brydges, the Republicans' top spokesman at the convention, took the floor to warn majority Democrats he was "disquieted by the single package dedication."

Brydges displeasure was directed at determination expressed by the convention's J. Travia, to submit the entire work of the convention in a single proposal for decision by the voters.

Brydges said he would fight for separate submission of the repeal measure "every inch of the way" to election day.

With what has been billed as the convention's most controversial issue out of the way, the delegates turned to other subjects today.

Among measures on the calendar was a proposal to establish a modified "forever wild" clause dealing with sections of the state outside the Adirondack and Catskill Forest Preserve sections.

The proposition would permit the Legislature to acquire property deemed valuable for historic or natural beauty reasons.

In other actions, the convention's Judiciary Committee recommended Wednesday that the state gradually take over the cost of running the courts and proposed a formula for creating additional Supreme Court seats to help cope with mounting court congestion.

The final vote on repeal of the 73-year-old Blaine Amendment, which has precluded direct or indirect aid to parochial schools, came after two days of vehement debate.

The issue has been regarded as the most emotional the convention is likely to face.

Proponents of repeal, spearheaded by Roman Catholic church interests, had sought its elimination avidly.

On the other side, some Protestant and Jewish groups argued that repeal would lead to a breach of the principal of church-state separation and

Dr. King Warns On Negro Revolt

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Racial conflict in America is moving toward a critical crossroads of new gains for Negroes—or violent insurrection, in the view of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., advocate of nonviolent tactics.

King considers his plan for mass civil disobedience a last resort. "This is something like a last plea to the nation to respond to nonviolence," he said in an interview. He said he is quietly sitting in the pastor's study at his Ebenezer Baptist Church.

"We can't continue to live like this," King said. "The struggle has reached the point, he went on, that convinces him there must be some quick economic gains for Negroes."

"There is a great deal of bitterness," King said. "And if there is not provided a channel of constructive action, this bitterness will lead to desperation, riots and social disruption."

If his mass civil disobedience campaign—involving boycotts, sit-ins at factories and camping in Washington—results in repressive steps by the government and by whites, then the violence "will become planned insurrection," King predicted. King said he was motivated to announce the campaign this week by the growing violent temper of many Negroes. Asked if his new move was aimed at countering support by Black Power spokesmen, King replied that he was not singling out Black Power.

"I'm just dealing with the whole violent development," he said. If his strategy fails, King said, "I would say to the nation, 'I've done my best.' He said he knew of nothing else to try. King had finished a speech to delegates to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference of which he is president. He looked tired and sleepy. He answered questions in a somewhat subdued, resigned manner.

The convention reflected a similar mood. The old zeal and spirit of the movement which had logged many miles of marches and brought significant Negro advances now seemed muted.

The changed mood reflected the reality of 1967. Marches and songs and chanting "We want freedom" had been replaced by hard practicality—jobs, housing, power.

King said he saw no other course open now except civil disobedience because of what he called white recalcitrance and the total inability and failure of Congress to grapple constructively with the problems of deprivation and poverty. "Congress," he said, "would be very wise and just to respond constructively rather than to create a situation where our cities will continue to degenerate."

King said plans for his latest strategy will be made at a private session of the SCLC staff within the next three weeks. He said the situation requires that the campaign begin this year, before Congress adjourns. He decided on civil disobedience as the best tactic, he said, because it offers Negroes a militant way to seek improvements and will bring many whites back into the movement. Can he prevent participants from turning to violence? King said he thought so. Even Negroes who told him they took part in Cleveland's rioting last year were "willing to take up nonviolence," he said. The key is results, King added.

Peace Formula Stalled

See Tito Failure

CAIRO (AP) — Yugoslav President Tito wound up his swing through Arab lands today amid signs that his talks with Arab leaders failed to produce any peace formula for the Middle East.

The semi-official Egyptian newspaper Al-Ahram quoted Yugoslav sources as saying Tito will soon launch "far-reaching political activity" through personal contacts and through the United Nations. The activity reportedly will be aimed at breaking what Tito has termed the "period of diplomatic stagnation"—the time since the emergency U.N. General Assembly on the Middle East adjourned in July.

Al-Ahram said Tito insisted that he had proposed no specific peace plans to Arab leaders, saying, "I came here merely to exchange views." Informed sources said Tito had pleaded for a "realistic" approach to Middle East problems growing out of the June 5-10 war, and that this stand met especially stiff opposition in Syria.

Syrian Chief of State Nouredin Atassi rejected Tito's plea, the sources said, and refused to budge from Syria's hard anti-Israeli line.

On the religious front, the proposal of the chief rabbi of the Israeli army to hold prayers on Moslem territory ignited fears among politicians that it would touch off widespread Moslem protests, both in Israel-occupied territory and outside it.

The rabbi, Brig. Shlomo Goren, announced he would pray atop the hill where the second Jewish temple once stood in Old Jerusalem. The spot now holds the mosques of the Dome of the Rock and El Aksa, both sacred to Islam.

Cottkill

COTTEKILL—Worship service at the Cottekill Reformed Church will be held Sunday 9:30 a. m. The Rev. Harry Christians will deliver the message. Since there were so few members present for Sunday school it was decided not to hold classes until after the Labor Day weekend, Sept. 10 at 10:30 a. m.

The Ladies' Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. Arthur De Puy Tuesday evening and made the final plans for the food sale held Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Katherine Winchell of Lake Mohonk spent the weekend with Mrs. Arthur De Puy. Mr. and Mrs. John McGrane of Kingston spent Sunday with them.

Richard Maitland of Highland Park, N. J. visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. George Fastland, Monday.

Mrs. Adrienne Reeve of Hempstead, L. I. spent a few days last week with Miss Ruth Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Richter of Oldbridge, N. J. are visiting Mrs. Dora Benz at the SRS Resort.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hartert and daughters have returned home from a vacation trip to Cape Cod.

Mr. and Mrs. William Perelli of East Northport, L. I., spent the weekend with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Osterhoudt and took their daughters Lori Ann and Lisa Ann, who had been with their grandparents the past week home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Smith and daughter Jeanne recently spent a week with their son Airman and Class Dennis Smith and his wife Patricia in Goldsboro, N. C. While there they visited Seymour Johnson Air Force Base and were taken out on the flight line. They also visited Atlantic Beach and Moorehead, N. C. A party was held in honor of Jeanne and Patricia's birthdays. Patricia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hassett of this village.

Mr. and Mrs. Oskar Schriever and children returned home to Utica, Tuesday, from a vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Heinz Schriever.

Susan Boyer and her brother Michael returned home Saturday night from a vacation in New Jersey. Sunday they had a party in celebration of Michael's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Keator spent Tuesday with their daughter, Mrs. Irving Rudolph and family in Newburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Draves and son called on Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Osterhoudt Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Smith recently visited his brother A/2c Dennis Smith and his wife Patricia in Goldsboro, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. James Favaloro and four sons of Staten Island, spent Saturday with Mrs. Evelyn Dalton. They were returning from a vacation in the Catskills.

The second Jewish temple from Jordanian soil now under Israeli control should start returning to their homes Friday. In Geneva, the Red Cross said it expects the repatriation rate to begin at about 1,000 a day. More than 200,000 Arabs fled the west bank of the Jordan River during or after the June war.

The International Red Cross said that the first Arab refugees

Dr. King Warns On Negro Revolt

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Racial conflict in America is moving toward a critical crossroads of new gains for Negroes—or violent insurrection, in the view of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., advocate of nonviolent tactics.

King considers his plan for mass civil disobedience a last resort.

"This is something like a last plea to the nation to respond to nonviolence," he said in an interview. He said it quietly, sitting in the pastor's study at his Ebenezer Baptist Church.

"We can't continue to live like this," King said. The struggle has reached the point, he went on, that convinces him there must be some quick economic gains for Negroes.

"There is a great deal of bitterness," King said. "And if there is not provided a channel of constructive action, this bitterness will lead to desperation, riots and social disruption."

If his mass civil disobedience campaign—involving boycotts, sit-ins at factories and camping in Washington—results in repressive steps by the government and by whites, then the violence "will become planned insurrection," King predicted.

King said he was motivated to announce the campaign, this week by the growing violent temper of many Negroes. Asked if his new move was aimed at countering support by Black Power spokesmen, King replied that he was not singling out Black Power.

"I'm just dealing with the whole violent development," he said. If his strategy fails, King said, "I would say to the nation, I've done my best." He said he knew of nothing else to try.

King had finished a speech to delegates to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference of which he is president. He looked tired and sleepy. He answered questions in a somewhat subdued, resigned manner.

The convention reflected a similar mood. The old zeal and spirit of the movement which had logged many miles of marches and brought significant Negro advances now seemed muted.

The changed mood reflected the reality of 1967. Marches and songs and chanting "We want freedom" had been replaced by hard practicality—jobs, housing, power.

King said he saw no other course open now except civil disobedience because of what he called white recalcitrance and "the total inability and failure of Congress to grapple constructively with the problems of deprivation and poverty."

"Congress," he said, "would be very wise and just to respond constructively rather than to create a situation where our cities will continue to degenerate."

King said plans for his latest strategy will be made at a private session of the SCLC staff within the next three weeks. He said the situation requires that the campaign begin this year, before Congress adjourns. He decided on civil disobedience as the best tactic, he said, because it offers Negroes a militant way to seek improvements and will bring many whites back into the movement.

Can he prevent participants from turning to violence? King said he thought so. Even Negroes who told him they took part in Cleveland's rioting last year were "willing to take up nonviolence," he said. The key is results, King added.

Peace Formula Stalled

CAIRO (AP) — Yugoslav President Tito wound up his swing through Arab lands today amid signs that his talks with Arab leaders failed to produce any peace formula for the Middle East.

The semi-official Egyptian newspaper Al-Ahram quoted Yugoslav sources as saying Tito will soon launch "far-reaching political activity" through personal contacts and through the United Nations. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Draves and son called on Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Osterhoudt Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Smith recently visited his brother A/C Dennis Smith and his wife Patricia in Goldsboro, N. C.

The second Jewish temple from Jordanian soil now under Israeli control should start returning to their homes Friday. In Geneva, the Red Cross said it expects the repatriation rate to begin at about 1,000 a day. More than 200,000 Arabs fled the west bank of the Jordan River during or after the June war.

Dear Abby

71 and Retired; Wants Out

DEAR ABBY: I am 58. My husband is 71 and retired. We have been married for 26 years. He has always been a kind man and generous man, but Abby, I know that what I feel in my heart for him is pity, gratitude, and habit—not true love.

We have very little in common. I am a college graduate and former school teacher while he never went beyond fifth grade in grammar school. His only interests are home-cooked meals, sports, and shoot-up westerns on television. He is so childish and dull.

Living with him underfoot all day is getting to be more than I can tolerate. We have no children who survived beyond infancy. I am lonely, bored, and frustrated.

Would you advise divorce this late in life? He has money, and I know I could get a good settlement. No name or city.

please. I'm sure he doesn't know what's in my mind.

DEAR MRS. X: After 26 years of marriage to this "kind and generous man" I think he is deserving of more loyalty and consideration than you exhibit. And what makes you at 58, think all you have to do is divorce him and your life would be transformed into an exciting, gay, and fulfilling one? You supply the answers. But be honest with yourself, then act accordingly.

DEAR ABBY: I would like your views on girls and women (over 40) who come to work in an office in mini and micro-mini skirts. Isn't there some booklet that describes appropriate dress for the office? Sign me.

DEAR HORRIFIED: In the absence of house rules, common sense should prevail. Unfortunately common sense seems to be less and less common these days, in which case the office manager, boss or whoever is responsible for the morale, efficiency, and output of the establishment should post some clear-cut "thou shalt and thou shalt not" with regard to attire.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to the home of a friend for a small dinner party. When I received the invitation my hostess asked me expressly NOT to tell her sister-in-law that she was having a party because she hadn't invited her.

Well, the morning after the party, this uninvited sister-in-law phoned me and asked, "What did you do last night?" What could I say? TRAPPED! DEAR TRAPPED: You could have said, "It's a military secret—" and blown your friendship to smithereens. Or you could have told her where you had been.

When asked not to "tell" something, don't accept the burden of bearing the secret. Reply, instead, "I'll not volunteer the information. Neither will I lie if asked."

It's In The Stars—

("The wise man controls his destiny... astrology points the way.")

Forecast for Friday, August 18, 1967

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Accent on attaining what you desire. Aid from friends forthcoming. Today you gain through change, sense of adventure. Pleasure replaces gloom. Be grateful.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Push ahead on plans connected with greater home comfort. Highlight beauty, advancement, fulfillment of aspirations. Day to display confidence. Pursue career matters.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Stress today on how you utilize knowledge. Avoid self-deception. Face issues as they exist. Then you can turn adversity into triumph. Travel, special communications in limelight.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Other people's money comes to your attention. Your advice is sought. You are called upon to make delicate decisions. Realize anticipation is greatest enemy. Act.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Finish rather than delay. Obtain hint from CANCER message. Get finger on pulse of public. Deal with legal experts. Be sure of facts. Then act on information obtained. Do it now.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): High light independence of thought, action. Welcome challenge. Day to prove your own tasks out of way early, then concentrate on creative activity.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Highlight intuitive intellect. Act on what you know. Don't be persuaded by persons who lack knowledge. Faith in yourself is key to productive day. Loved one makes you happy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Ability to handle details emphasized. If you show determination success crowns efforts. Appear especially to property home. Don't give up what you own.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): The more you communicate thoughts, ideas, the better for all. Those close to you want to listen, learn. Realize this. Accent self-expression. Don't hide light under bushel.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Spotlight on money, possessions, valuables. You can collect what's coming to you. Today you should put on pressure where finances are concerned. Ask for that raise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Cycle moves up. Accent personality, appearance, original ideas. Definite gain indicated. Stick to principles. You get what you want. Push forward in area close to home.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): You are fascinated by what is under cover. This is fine. But don't let it blind you to the obvious. Today take over-all view. Be perceptive, discriminating.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are able to help those who are handicapped. You are attracted to medicine, law. Current cycle finds you waiting for opening, opportunity. It is due, sooner than you think.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for AQUARIUS, PISCES. Special word to LEO: patch up differences with one close to you.

Bridge

One No-Trump Awkward Bid

By Oswald & James Jacoby Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In a duplicate game a one no-trump doubled contract is apt to produce a lot of fireworks. If declarer can bring it home he usually gets a top or near top. If he gets set more than one trick he gets a very bad score while one down doubled but not vulnerable is likely to be just about average.

East's takeout double of one spade is not recommended for steady consumption. He had passed originally but the fact that he had passed had not changed one card in his hand. He still had 10 high card points and poor distribution.

South might well have passed one spade and let his opponents take over but South decided to try one no-trump with his 13 points and it was West to do something. West's jack of diamonds held the first trick and he continued with the four. East won with the queen and led the nine of clubs. It was allowed to hold and he continued with the eight.

South won this trick and led the queen of spades. West covered with the king and South let it hold.

The defense had four tricks in and proceeded to take the king of clubs, the ace of hearts and two more diamonds for that 300-point plus.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Stress today on how you utilize knowledge. Avoid self-deception. Face issues as they exist. Then you can turn adversity into triumph. Travel, special communications in limelight.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Other people's money comes to your attention. Your advice is sought. You are called upon to make delicate decisions. Realize anticipation is greatest enemy. Act.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Finish rather than delay. Obtain hint from CANCER message. Get finger on pulse of public. Deal with legal experts. Be sure of facts. Then act on information obtained. Do it now.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Highlight independence of thought, action. Welcome challenge. Day to prove your own basic taste out of way early, then concentrate on creative activity.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Highlight intuitive intellect. Act on what you know. Don't be persuaded by persons who lack knowledge. Faith in yourself is key to productive day. Loved one makes you happy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Ability to handle details emphasized. If you show determination success crowns efforts. Applies especially to property. Home. Don't give up what you own.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): The more you communicate thoughts, ideas, the better for all. Those close to you want to listen. Learn. Realize this. Accent self-expression. Don't hide light under bushel.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Spotlight on money, possessions, valuables. You can collect what's coming to you. Today you should put on pressure where finances are concerned. Ask for that raise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Cycle moves up. Accent personality, appearance, original ideas. Definite gain indicated. Stick to principles. You get what you want. Push forward in area close to home.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): You are fascinated by what is under cover. This is fine. But don't let it blind you to the obvious. Today take over all view. Be perceptive, discriminating.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are able to help those who are handicapped. You are attracted to medicine law. Current cycle finds you waiting for opening, opportunity. It is due, sooner than you think.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for AQUARIUS, PISCES. Special word to LEO: patch up differences with one close to you.

please. I'm sure he doesn't know what's in my mind.

DEAR MRS. X: After 26 years of marriage to this "kind and generous man" I think he is deserving of more loyalty and consideration than you exhibit. And what makes you, at 58, think all you have to do is divorce him and your life would be transformed into an exciting, gay, and fulfilling one? You supply the answers. But be honest with yourself, then act accordingly.

DEAR ABBY: I would like your views on girls and women (over 40) who come to work in an office in mini and micro-mini skirts. Isn't there some booklet that describes appropriate dress for the office? Sign me . . .

DEAR HORRIFIED: In the absence of house rules, common sense should prevail. Unfortunately common sense seems to be less and less common these days, in which case the office manager, boss or whoever is responsible for the morale, efficiency, and output of the establishment should post some clear-cut "thou shalt and thou shalt not" with regard to attire.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to the home of a friend for a small dinner party. When I received the invitation my hostess asked me expressly NOT to tell her sister-in-law that she was having a party because she hadn't invited her.

Well, the morning after the party, this uninvited sister-in-law phoned me and asked, "What did you do last night?" What could I say? "TRAPPED." DEAR TRAPPED: You could have said, "It's a military secret—" and blown your friendship to smithereens. Or you could have told her where you had been.

When asked not to "tell" something, don't accept the burden of bearing the secret. Reply, instead, "I'll not volunteer the information. Neither will I lie if asked."

CONFIDENTIAL TO ROZZIE: If you're looking for a man with money, marry a child. I understand they make money hand over foot.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, California. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

One No-Trump Awkward Bid

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In a duplicate game a one no-trump doubled contract is apt to produce a lot of fireworks. If declarer can bring it home he usually gets a top or near top. If he gets set more than one trick he gets a very bad score while one down doubled but not vulnerable is likely to be just about average.

East's takeout double of one spade is not recommended for steady consumption. He had passed originally but the fact that he had passed had not changed one card in his hand. He still had 10 high card points and poor distribution.

South might well have passed one spade and let his opponents take over but South decided to try one no-trump with his 13 points and it was to West to do something. West made an unpopular double.

It was 100 per cent unpopular. West didn't like it much. North hated it but didn't think he had any place to go. East didn't like it but was sure he had no place to go and South surely didn't like it but knew he had no place to go.

West opened his jack of diamonds and it was up to the defense to set declarer two tricks if they could work it out for down one if possible. The defense was too good and it wasn't possible. West's jack of diamonds held the first trick and he continued with the four. East won with the queen and led the nine of clubs. It was allowed to hold and he continued with the eight.

South won this trick and led the queen of spades. West covered with the king and South let it hold.

The defense had four tricks in and proceeded to take the king of clubs, the ace of hearts and two more diamonds for that 300-point plus.

Supermarket--Test of Fame

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Scattered through the Hollywood film studios and on hot location sites are a lot of attractive young people eagerly anticipating the day, hopefully not more than a few weeks off, when they can no longer go shopping in their neighborhood supermarkets.

TV Stars of Tomorrow

They are the television stars of tomorrow; the unknown, ambitious young performers who have been talented enough or handsome enough or just lucky enough to be cast in the two dozen or so new network television programs of the approaching season.

Over the seasons, the supermarket has emerged as actor's test of fame.

At this moment stars-to-be like Joby Baker, Wayne Maunder, Monte Markham, Jill Townsend, Sean Garrison, Beth Brickell or Linda Cristal may gather their groceries and push their carts with anonymity.

But after a couple of weeks of exposure in their upcoming shows, heads will start turning, recognition will begin to dawn.

Success has arrived when admiring shoppers forget the chopped meat and start blocking aisles to stare, and the management looks pained.

Each year television produces its quota of "fresh faces" in new series. Some—in fact, most—disappear quietly when their brief course. They encounter a difficult period of unemployment because television exposure has led their agents to increase unwisely their prices. But new comers remember Dick Van Dyke, Steve McQueen and James Garner, whose careers took off like rockets from television series.

Some Make Niche

Unknowns Joby Baker and Monte Markham have landed leads in two new comedies — "Good Morning World" on CBS and "The Second Hundred Years" on ABC. Golden-haired Wayne Maunder and Sean Garrison are tall, handsome heroes of a pair of new Westerns, ABC's "The Legend of Custer" and CBS' "Dundee and the Culhane."

There is the usual number of pretty young girls but it is harder for them to make an impact in the action series where the

and gun duels, and 1975 crinolines don't do much for a girl's figure.

But there are Linda Cristal, an Argentine beauty, getting her big chance in NBC's "High Chaparral," and Jill Townsend in a bustle on CBS' "Cimarron Strip." Beth Brickell has a featured role in CBS' "Gentle Ben" which stars a bear, almost impossible to upstage.

There are no rigid salary schedules for these stars-to-be, since the size of an actor's pay is largely a measure of the negotiating skill of his agent.

A newcomer in a lead is likely to be signed for $500 to $1,000 per episode. Then, if he and/or the show is a success, the agent will let it be known that his client is unhappy. Usually a better contract is negotiated. Top salaries range from $5,000 to $6,000 per episode, and bigger stars often receive a percentage of the show's profits.

Television's superstars in proven successes do better than that—the "Bonanza" boys command better than $10,000 per episode; Lucille Ball's pay as a performer runs around $16,000 a week.

David McCallum, whose wedding to New York model Katherine Carpenter is scheduled for Sept. 23, will take some time off from "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." but rather than permit Napoleon Solo to rot in a solo performance, Noel Harrison will return to U.N.C.L.E. for a one-shot ad-

McCallum was recently divorced from his first wife, actress Jill Ireland.

Supermarket--Test of Fame

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Scattered through the Hollywood film studios and on hot location sites are a lot of attractive young people eagerly anticipating the day, hopefully not more than a few weeks off, when they can no longer go shopping in their neighborhood supermarkets.

TV Stars of Tomorrow
They are the television stars of tomorrow; the unknown, ambitious young performers who have been talented enough or handsome enough or just lucky enough to be cast in the two dozen or so new network television programs of the approaching season.

Over the seasons, the supermarket has emerged as actor's test of fame.
At this moment stars-to-be like Joby Baker, Wayne Maunder, Monte Markham, Jill Townsend, Sean Garrison, Beth Brickell or Linda Cristal may gather their groceries and push their carts with anonymity.

But after a couple of weeks of exposure in their upcoming shows, heads will start turning, recognition will begin to dawn. Success has arrived when admiring shoppers forget the chopped meat and start blocking aisles to stare, and the management looks pained.

Each year television produces its quota of "fresh faces" in new series. Some—in fact, most—disappear quietly when their programs have run their brief course. They encounter a difficult period of unemployment because television exposure has led their agents to increase unwisely their prices. But new comers remember Dick Van Dyke, Steve McQueen and James Garner, whose careers took off like rockets from television series.

Some Make Niche
Unknowns Joby Baker and Monte Markham have landed leads in two new comedies — "Good Morning World" on CBS and "The Second Hundred Years" on ABC. Golden-haired Wayne Maunder and Sean Garrison are tall, handsome heroes of a pair of new Westerns, ABC's "The Legend of Western" and CBS's "Dundee and the Culhane."

focus is on chases and fights and gun duels, and 1975 crime-lines don't do much for a girl's figure.

But there are Linda Cristal, an Argentine beauty, getting her big chance in NBC's "High Chaparral," and Jill Townsend in a bustle on CBS' "Cimarron Strip." Beth Brickell has a featured role in CBS's "Gentle Ben" which stars a bear, almost impossible to upstage.

There are no rigid salary schedules for these stars-to-be, since the size of an actor's pay is largely a measure of the negotiating skill of his agent.

A newcomer in a lead is likely to be signed for $500 to $1,000 per episode. Then, if he and/or the show is a success, the agent will let it be known that his client is unhappy. Usually a better contract is negotiated. Top salaries range from $5,000 to $6,000 per episode, and bigger stars often receive a percentage of the show's profits.

Television's superstars in proven successes do better than that—the "Bonanza" boys command better than $10,000 per episode; Lucille Ball's pay as a performer runs around $16,000 a week.

David McCallum, whose wedding to New York model Katherine Carpenter is scheduled for Sept. 23, will take some time off from "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." but rather than permit Napoleon Solo to rot in a solo performance, Noel Harrison will return to U.N.C.L.E. for a one-shot adventure in his old role of Mark Slate, hero of the departed "Girl from U.N.C.L.E."

McCallum was recently divorced from his first wife, actress Jill Ireland.

Engineer Office Gleanings:

Three Types of Streets in City

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Things one finds out on a trip to the City Engineer's Office.

The longest street in Kingston is Broadway. It winds its way from Ferry Street to Albany Avenue, a total of 1.9 miles.

354 Streets

The city has a total of 354 streets. If laid end to end they would reach New York City. The length of all city streets combined equals 94.91 miles.

However, the street length works to a financial advantage for the city. Kingston gets $500 per mile in state aid a year. Thomas Wickman, the city engineer, makes more money per year than Mayor Raymond

W. Garraghan. Wickman is paid $12,000 per year while His Honor gets $10,000.

Wickman is a 1951 graduate of Manhattan College, earning an engineering degree there. The city does not have out-right title to all its streets.

Legally, there are three types of streets. Deeded streets are those the city owns outright.

Ordained streets are those inherited from the villages years ago or those acquired by the city by an ordinance of the Common Council.

Then there are prescriptive streets. These are the type that are in general public use for 15 years or more. After that they are city property.

The city must maintain all three types of streets.

However, there are more. There are paper streets. These are described as streets that were planned, surveyed but never built. They exist only on paper.

Last, but not least, are the privately owned streets. Two examples are Westbrook Lane and Plaza Road, both belonging to Kingston Shopper's Plaza. These are maintained by the Plaza and any complaints should be directed to them, not the mayor or Wickman.

An interesting point is that the use of a privately owned street is dictated by the owner, or owners. The prospect of a toll booth on every corner is frightening.

A Chamber of Commerce ad might read, "Visit the Colonial City; Bring Quarters."

But this fear is unfounded. According to Wickman, a privately owned street is usually a dead-end street that is used primarily by its residents. Usually the cost of maintaining it to the city.

The Weather

THURSDAY, AUGUST 17, 1967

Sun rises at 5:04 a.m.; sun sets at 6:55 p.m., EST.
Weather: Warm.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 60 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 87 degrees.

Weather Forecast

SUNNY AND HOT

Upper Hudson Valley:
Lower Hudson Valley:
Western Catskills.

Hazy skies and sunny and quite warm today, with the afternoon temperatures in the middle 80s to about 90. Fair and mild tonight with some fog in the valleys. Low in the upper 50s to upper 60s. Friday mostly sunny, very warm and hazy but a chance of a few afternoon and evening thundershowers. High Friday 85 to 90. Winds southerly, increasing to 12 to 20 this afternoon, and diminishing to less than 10 tonight. Winds Friday southerly, 15 to 22, by afternoon.

Outlook for agriculture:
Very good drying conditions today after early morning fog burns off. Mostly good drying on Friday, except for chance of a brief passing thundershower in the afternoon and evening. Poor drying likely Saturday due to increasing humidity and a better chance of scattered showers and thundershowers. Continued quite warm Saturday.

The hippopotamus is a member of the pig family, and when full grown stands about 4 feet tall, measures 14 feet long, and weighs about 3 tons.

For Period Ending 7 A. M. EST Friday

Tonight, showers and thundershowers will prevail over portions of the Southern Plateau eastward into the Southern Plains, through the Mississippi Valley and the Great Lakes. Fair to partly cloudy skies expected elsewhere. It will be cooler in the Northern Plateau and Lakes regions, while mild readings continue over most of the eastern third of the nation. Little change anticipated elsewhere. Minimum temperature forecasts include: Atlanta 68; Boston 70; Chicago 67; Cleveland 67; Denver 53; Duluth 53; Ft.
